A CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE.

BY MARK MEREDITH.

I gaze upon its mimic scenes
  Where swiftly come and go
The bright, the gay, and then I muse
  Of Life, its mirth, its woe,
The tinsel, glitter, and the glare
  That all around we see:
Ah! this is a continuous
  Performance, seems to me.

I mark the wrecks of human kind
  That drift adown Life's tide;
And hear the voice of pain and care
  Echoed on every side.
Alas! how few the hands to aid
  The needs of Poverty!
Ah! would that a continuous
  Performance that could be!

How oft the word of censure falls
  To wound the human heart;
The bitter tongue of scandals rife
  At home and on the mart.
To hear the manly voice speak out
  With Christian charity—
Ah! would that a continuous
  Performance this might be!

The ready hand to help a friend,
  The noble soul to feel
The pang that rends another's heart—
  Respond to its appeal;
The strong affection for our kind—
  Love, faithfulness, ah, me!
I would that these continuous
  Performances could be!

A STORY OF A WHEEL.

BY DUDLEY VAN ZANDT.

"So, my dear Fred, it's understood your wife must ride a bicycle, or—I answer for nothing! Her nerves are completely used up. We have tried quinine and every other remedy in vain—the bicycle is the only thing left that can help her."

The physician who gave this prescription was a spruce little man, still young, with a handsome face, whose complexion was as delicate as a woman's. He was on very friendly terms with Frederick Bradshaw, the lawyer, who had stopped him on the street for a short chat, which had finally changed to a more or less serious conversation on the nervous condition of Mrs. Bradshaw.

"You can't imagine how my wife detests bicycle riding. She has already threatened me with a separation, on account of my wheel," said Bradshaw, dejectedly.

"No matter! You must bring her to reason—assert your authority as her husband—make her do it! She must, I tell you! Do you understand?" and, as if to animate him, the little doctor shook his gigantic friend vigorously by the shoulder.

Bradshaw bid his friend goodby, and hastened toward his house, where his graceful little wife received him with a stream of tears.

"I can stand it no longer, Fred; you must send the boy to a boarding school. His school work—his examples—just see in what a condition! Dear me!" and Mrs. Helen Bradshaw wrung her hands in tearful despair, while the object of her woe sat at the table, indifferently chewing the end of his pencil.

As a conscientious mother, she watched the school work of her seven year old son, and was out of her wits because he did not perform ideal calligraphic and mathematical tasks.

The father viewed young Freddie's skill, and did not find it so terrible; indeed, in his own youth he had not done so well, he felt. But to please the nervous mother, he boxed the ears of the little good for nothing, and read him a sort of lecture on the necessity of application, if he would be a successful man, all of which, of course, went into one of Freddie's ears and came out of the other.

"You haven't the slightest idea of how I torment and worry myself about Freddie's future," said Helen, when her husband had concluded his admonition. "He is so careless, so thoughtless, so outrageously frivolous. I see nothing but a bad, disastrous end, which will drive me to my grave, and ——"

"Lie down on the sofa, my dear," broke in Bradshaw, appeasingly. "You need rest and a few drops of quinine," and while his wife willingly followed his advice, he went to a closet, where the panacea was always kept, took the bottle from the shelf and returned with it to the table, upon which stood a pitcher of water.

He poured several drops of the quinine into some water and handed the glass to her, saying, with a lovely look:

"Here, dear, this will quiet your nerves and refresh you."

She took the glass with a thankful smile, happy at this proof of his affection and solicitude for her welfare.

Then he covered her with a large shawl and seated himself beside the sofa.

"Wouldn't you like to begin an energetic cure, to strengthen your nerves, dearest?" he asked, sympathetically, patting one of her small, white hands, like one does when trying to appease a child.

"Gladly, Fred," she replied, in a faint voice. "But what is it? A trip to the seashore? A month or two in the mountains—an open air life with plenty of exercise, or perhaps ——"

"Maybe a more simple one will help you, dear—one that won't part us. I am concerned—er—indeed—when I was returning home—so early, dear, on account of my anxiety for your health—I happened to meet the doctor, and had a long talk with him about your condition. Well, as I said, I am convinced, and, indeed, he assured me that—that a—bicycle ——"

"Frederick Bradshaw!" cried Helen, half rising and leaning on her elbow, "do you want to kill me outright or make me the laughing stock of every man, woman and child in the town?" and she threw herself back on the sofa in a fit of weeping that relaxed the tension of her nerves.

Silent, without a further word of soothing persuasion, Bradshaw rose, and in his face a brazen resolution could be read.

The quinine produced its effect, and the next morning Helen was once more lively and of good cheer.

If today somebody had made the proposition to send Freddie, the apple of her eye, to boarding school, she would have looked upon that person as demented.

Mother and son took breakfast alone. Fred had gone off on his bicycle, like every morning, and had not returned by the usual breakfast hour.

Helen hated these morning bicycle rides, which deprived her of her husband's company so much, and sometimes, when her nerves permitted it, she could excite herself to tears over them.

Freddie had gone to school, and Helen impatiently awaited her husband.

It was already half-past eight, and still he did not come.

Had something happened to him?

Had the bicycle broken down, given him a bad fall, and was he now lying wounded, perhaps, somewhere on the road?

She had expected something of that sort.

Oh, this horrid bicycle riding!

Her pulses began to throb, and tears came into her eyes. She walked up and down the room in nervous uneasiness.

At last! On the stroke of nine the door bell rang, and a messenger appeared with a scrawled note from Fred.

It ran as follows:

"Was detained while wheeling. Took breakfast down town and rode wheel direct to office, as I had to get there at nine sharp, to keep appointment with important client. FRED."

Helen laughed furiously. He had never done such a thing before! He had never missed his breakfast at home, even if late! And never, never had he gone to his office in the morning without kissing her tenderly goodby!

Oh, the wretched bicycle! She wished it would fly in a thousand pieces, and every bicycle factory in the world burn to the ground before night!

Then she sank into a chair and gave herself up to the most beautiful fit of weeping imaginable.

When Fred returned home to his midday dinner he did not manifest his usual warmth of feeling toward his wife, and for the first time a coolness reigned between them, which continued also in the evening.

The quinine was not handed to her so lovingly; indeed, he almost thrust the glass at her with sullen roughness.

The next morning the same thing occurred, only that Fred sent no excuse this time.

Helen was beside herself. But her rancor against her husband turned to pity. He was evidently ill, nervous in a high degree, and this foolish wheeling was the cause.

She would cut the rubber tire the first chance she got. But as quickly as it had come she rejected the diabolical thought. This misdeed, she perceived, would not cure him, but only put him to the expense of procuring a new tire.

But how could she cure him?

While she still reflected thus, leaning on the garden gate and looking anxiously up and down the street, the postman came along on his round and delivered to her a letter addressed in an unknown hand.

Her curiosity roused, she opened it and read:

"MY DEAR MRS. B.: I can no longer witness the cruel deception which is being practiced against you almost under your very nose, so to speak. While your husband pretends to ride a bicycle for health's sake, he meets a lady on a wheel every day. I do not mention the name. You probably guess it. ONE OF YOUR FRIENDS."

For a moment Helen was benumbed with shock and anger; then she burst into tears, and could hardly drag herself back to the house and throw herself on the sofa in the sitting room.

Here she began to think over the terrible affair.

Her Fred—a deceiver! To what a wicked extreme he must be carrying it, how shameful his conduct must be, that an anonymous writer should feel obliged to call her attention to it!

And who might this pretty accomplice be, pray She should guess it? So it must be a lady of her acquaintance. Perhaps the wife of Judge Baxter. She was, to be sure, a flirt, and what they called an up to date woman. She wore short hair, and—rode a wheel. In truth, she was the first woman to appear in D—— on a bicycle. She had been seen riding through the streets in bloomers!

And that was the end of the song! These immoral modern innovations led to that!

Helen grated her teeth. What should she do? She sobbed as if her heart would break. Take her boy and jump into the water? Ah, but that would possibly be doing the faithless man a favor! Perhaps they had both—she and her boy—been long an eyesore, an obstacle to a free, licentious life!

Forgotten was the loving care of her husband; forgotten the patience with which he held out to her, till lately, the drops of quinine, when she was taken with fits of weeping, and all she saw now in a drastic imagination was the two last days, when he indiscreetly had not come home from his bicycle ride.

Evident enough was it that he no longer loved her! However, she would neglect none of her duties. She rose, and, going to the kitchen, helped the cook prepare a dinner that left nothing to be desired, making with her own delicate hands her husband's favorite dessert.

He should regret it if she foorsook him! She no longer wished to die, but she would go away from him with Freddie—that she certainly would do!

Noon came, and Fred relished the dinner as he had not done in some time. He was also more attentive again, and noticed her suffering air.

"Have you still some quinine?" he asked.

She smiled disdainfully. Quinine could help her no more, but she was silent.

After dinner, when Bradshaw prepared to return to his office, he said:

"In all probability I shan't be home till late in the evening. I have had so much to do that I couldn't find time to finish some legal papers that must be submitted to the court tomorrow. I shall finish them this evening before I return."

With this he made a movement to embrace her by way of leave taking, but she avoided him with a gesture of indignation.

He did not ask what was the matter with her, however, but only smiled, so hardened was he already!

When he was gone, and Helen casually glanced at the spot where he had stood, she noticed a little pink envelope lying on the carpet.

She pounced upon it like a tigress and picked it up.

It smelt strongly of violet.

Helen made a wry face.

"Incautious man!" she murmured. "Now he is betrayed!"

Sinking upon a chair, trembling all over, she quickly drew out the note and read it without any scruples of conscience at the indiscretion.

"I cannot be in Elmwood tomorrow before nine o'clock. Will look for you without fail.

"MARGUERITE."

Helen stamped the carpet angrily with her shapely little foot.

"Ah—an appointment!" she exclaimed. "But who is this Marguerite?"

She thought a second or two, then burst out:

"Judge Baxter's wife's Christian name is Marguerite!"

Then she recalled to mind certain polite attentions which she had seen her husband bestow upon the lady at an evening entertainment at the Judge's house, and which had never struck her till now.

No doubt she was the one—the vile creature!

Helen's beautiful dark eyes flashed and her bosom heaved violently.

For a long time she sat lost in reflection, and then the hard expression that had come into her face softened. She thought of her dear Freddie.

The boy had a very easy time that day, for Helen was exceedingly mild. She felt sorry for the poor child, who was robbed of its father in such a manner.

She went to bed early, not to sleep, but to brood over just what she should do. When Fred came home, however, and bent over her, she pretended to be fast asleep.

In the morning she had finally made up her mind. Before leaving forever she would unmask the guilty ones and crush them with her scorn!

A few minutes after eight she sent for a carriage. At half-past eight she stepped out of the house, as rosy as the bright Spring morning—she had purposely made herself as pretty as possible. And not a trace of tears was to be discovered in her little face. She did not wish to give the unmasked criminals the triumph of seeing that she had grieved. She even drove out into the fresh Spring world with a certain delight, such as only the natural tranquillity of a woman's heart can afford.

Elmwood, as the extensive private grounds of a retired banker were called, was situated in the outskirts of the quiet town, and on week days certain parts were opened to the public.

At this hour of the morning deep solitude reigned here, and the well kept paths and roads under the majestic elms, which threw out broad shadows, were as if created for loving bicyclists.

With her watch in her hand, Helen drove there. The nearer it drew to nine o'clock, the more anxiously her heart beat.

Five minutes before nine her carriage entered the main driveway, and—she came near crying out—she discovered two figures on bicycles, gliding over the smooth road ahead of her.

One was her husband—she recognized the broad shoulders, the blonde head, the movement peculiar to him when he rode a bicycle.

The other—she saw only the bloomers, the tailor made jacket, the little, round hat—tears prevented her from seeing more.

She must needs control herself in the presence of the driver, but, under the pretext of wishing to get home quicker by the gate at the other end of the winding road, she ordered him to drive fast.

But the bicyclists also increased their pace and remained at a distance, which rendered a more exact recognition impossible.

Then, feigning sudden illness, she begged the driver to let his horse go at its utmost speed; but all to no purpose. The bicyclists only bent toward their handle bars a little more, and flew away, and when the pursuer had reached the other gate the pursued appeared only like a point on the highway beyond.

Helen drove home, and every one who saw her thought by her deadly pale appearance that she was mortally ill. With Fred, who came home, looking quite natural and unconcerned, she did not exchange a word. She despised him, and wished to leave him as soon as possible, but not before she, in the presence of his accomplice, had cast the word "deceiver" in his face.

Helen now developed a feverish activity. She had to make for herself and Freddie every preparation for the impending departure, but she did something else also, keeping it, however, such a deep secret that even in the gossip loving little town not a soul discovered it.

A week went by thus, during which the relations of the couple grew more and more strained.

On a beautiful morning in June the people learned what Mrs. Bradshaw had been doing in the long shed on the premises of Peter Jeems, the locksmith, who had added the renting of bicycles to his regular business.

In a pretty bicycle costume, with a decently long skirt, she wheeled quickly and skillfully over the square to Elmwood, while those who knew her stared after her in amazement.

As she glided swiftly along on her wheel it seemed to her as if she was as light and free as the dust of the earth. She felt like crying out for joy, and wondered how she had been able to endure formerly the slow, creeping mode of traveling.

But not for a moment did she forget why she really rode a bicycle.

For two weeks, after her husband had gone off on his wheel, she rose and rode after him, but always in vain. Search as she would, she did not find the trace of the false pair.

Meanwhile her sport had become known, and some were glad, while others ridiculed her behind her back, as she had done to them.

Helen did not let that trouble her, and as fo

Fred, who wished to show her his pleasure, she cut his word short in his mouth. She had nothing more in common with him.

One day she again found a note in which the hour of the appointment was given this time at eight o'clock.

She was ready. Five minutes before eight she appeared suddenly in Elmwood.

Sure enough, they were there.

She bowed along noiselessly, and the two criminals, whose backs were turned to her, did not hear her approach.

Helen exerted all her strength, rode so that the little stones on the road sprang away terrified, while her cheeks grew dark red with excitement.

She did not see her husband at all—she saw only the bloomers and the saucy little hat before her, until all danced in a wild, blazing fury.

And at last she was near to them, very near, and overtook them; turned quickly, and stopped before Fred and—the doctor!

Helen had almost lost her equilibrium, and the two men sprang off their wheel to support her.

A few minutes of speechless surprise and suspense, then Helen burst out laughing, and said with difficulty:

"Why, doctor, how you look!" And she laughed and laughed, then added;

"So that's Marguerite?"

"Marguerite for the occasion—to bring you to your senses, and induce you to ride a wheel," laughed the doctor in his turn, and at the same time the two men begged her pardon for the trick.

Helen's nerves were so steeled by the two weeks' bicycle cure that she discovered only the humor in the matter.

"You look too ridiculous, doctor!" she said, "and you, Fred, are the worst fellow I ever met, but bicycle riding is ever so nice for all that, and the best part of the whole affair!"

Theatrical.

INDIANA.

Indianapolis.—At English's Opera House "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," Oct. 31 Nov. 1, gave satisfactory performances, to moderate business. The International Grand Opera Co. 2 3 and Thursday matinee, sang "Faust," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Carmen" to small, but appreciative audiences. Ante-Election Excitement Tends to Reduce Attendance at the Various Houses—San Franciscans See an Ibsen Play for the First Time.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper].

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Election excitement has not helped the theatres, and, as a rule, the attendance last evening was slim. At Morosco's Grand Opera House "The Stranglers of Paris" was produced.

ALCAZAR THEATRE.—"Dr. Bill" was presented here last night. Ida Kruger made her first appearance with the company.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Kellar, the magician, is the attraction at this house for present week.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Pauline Hall and Beatrice Moreland and company were the newcomers here last night.

TIVOLI OPERA HOUSE.—"Girofle-Girofla" will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Saturday matinee, and "The Circus Queen" will be presented at the other performances of the week.

NEW COMEDY THEATRE.—Lincoln J. Carter's spectacular realism, "The Heart of Chicago," received its first presentation here last night, and promises to be a great money winner. It is a marvel of scenic construction, and its vivid picture of the great Chicago fire and its other seemingly impossible feats in stage effects were loudly applauded. "Under the Dome" will follow.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"Finnigan's Ball" was the bill presented here last night.

BALDWIN THEATRE.—"Mistakes Will Happen," presented by a strong company, of which Charles Dickson and Henrietta Crossman are in the leads, was the attraction here last night.

NOTES.—Samuel H. Friedlander has sold to Joseph Gottlob all his interests in the firm of Friedlander, Gottlob & Co., lessees and managers of the Baldwin, Columbia and California Theatres..... The Four Florences, Cotton and Moll, F. F. Fredrichs, Irene Franklin and Madeline appeared last week at the Olympia.....The Le Roys made their first appearance in California at the Chutes, Oct. 30, at which place and same date also appeared Arturo Salvini, Lillian F. FROM OTHER POINTS.

Maurice Grau's Grand Opera Company Opens its American Season at the Auditorium, Chicago—Good Business Reported from the Big Cities.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—With pleasant weather and good attractions to bring them out, the people were liberal in their patronage of the theatres at the commencement of the week. Maurice Grau's Grand Opera Company opened its season at the Auditorium Monday night, with the big house comfortably filled. The opera was "Lohengrin." The most notable feature was the singing of Mme. Schumann-Heink. Edouard De Reszke was ill, and Lempriere Pringle filled his place as Heinrich satisfactorily. Herr A. Dippel was Lohengrin, and Emma Eames was Elsa.....Mrs. Fiske's first night of Von Talramund.....Mrs. Fiske's first night brought a crowd to the Grand which left little unoccupied space. "Love Finds a Way" and "A Bit of Old Chelsea" were presented. In the former Mrs. Fiske gave an excellent piece of work, and was ably supported by Frederick De Belleville, John Craig and others in the company.....At the Columbia the Rogers Brothers made their bow to Chicago as stars in John J. McNally's farce, "A Reign of Error," and there was a good crowd there to greet them. The two stars carried the burden of the piece, and kept the house in good humor, assisted by Maude Raymond, Ada Lewis, John Parr, George Marion, Georgia Caine, Petite Adelaide and the rest of the company.....McVicker's was well filled by "A Contented Woman." Belle Archer made a good appearance, and filled creditably the title role.....Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott began the second week of "Nathan Hale," with a paying house.....'Never Again," with specialties, entertained a first class house at the Dearborn..... Hopkins' turned them away from "Master and Man," supplemented by specialties, including Papinta.....Harkins' new melodrama, "Under Sealed Orders," with Maurice Freeman starred, did a good business at the Lincoln.....Bob Fitzsimmons and Edward Harrigan, in "Mulligan Guard Ball," packed the Alhambra....."After Seven Years," at the Bijou; "Down in Dixie," at the Adelphi, and John Griffiths and Marie Leddy, in "An Enemy to the King," at the Academy, all played to good houses.....Howard's, formerly the Lyceum, started in the new regime auspiciously with "Jim the Penman."....Henry E. Dixey, at the Chicago; Harry Atkinson, at the Haymarket, and Arthur Dunn and Mattie Nichols, at the Olympic, headed bills which were witnessed by all the people who could get into the houses.....The Tammany Tigers did a booming business at Sam T. Jack's.....The majority of the houses are preparing to read election bulletins from the stage tonight. A good business is anticipated, even without this added feature.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Last night was clear and cool, and in response to good announcements in the way of entertainment for the week the people turned out in numbers large enough to give every house an encouraging opening. The Boston Symphony Orchestra gave its first concert of the season at the Academy last night, and charmed a large house with their splendid playing..... An audience of large dimensions greeted the Bostonians at the Broad, where they appeared in "The Serenade".....'The Fortune Teller" met with an enthusiastic reception at the Chestnut Street Theatre, a good share of the credit for the favorable impression made upon the big audience being due to the company.....The last week of "A Virginia Courtship" opened at the Chestnut Street Opera House, with excellent attendance....."Way Down East" was continued at the Walnut, with unabated drawing power.....At the Park the Stock Co., in "Lady Clancarty," was applauded by a well filled house.....The Opera Company at the Grand pleased a good sized house by an excellent rendition of "Maritana."....."Cumberland '61" crowded the National.....The stock at Forepaugh's gave a capital performance of "The Maister of Woodbarrow," and drew a splendid house both afternoon and evening....."A Spring Chicken" was well attended at the People's..... An audience which crowded the Girard enjoyed the performance of "The Octoroon" by the stock company.....Keith's was kept crowded throughout the afternoon and evening.....At the Auditorium "The Con Cureis" made a particularly good success, keeping a big house in a continual state of merriment.....Dumont's Minstrels pleased a big house at the Eleventh.....The Australian Beauties at the Lyceum, "Zero" at the Trocadero, and the Merry Maidens at the Kensington, attracted crowded houses both afternoon and evenings..... At the Museum a continuous crowd of people displayed interest in the many features.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 8.—At the Alhambra Theatre two delighted audiences packed the house afternoon and evening, Sunday. The features are Nilson, flying ballet; Dallie Westayer and band of pickaninnies, and Mlle. Adeles, shadow pictures. .....At the Davidson Theatre the Salisbury Stock Company put on "East Lynne." Although old, this attraction packed the house twice Sunday. Mr. Howard, as Archibald Carlysle, and Mr. Paulding, as Sir Francis Levison, play their parts with the same fine appreciation of detail which is always characteristic of their performance. Mrs. Charles is excellent as Miss Carlysle. Miss Leigh and Miss Robson give very fine expression to their parts.....At the Bijou Theatre Paul Gilmore, in "The Dawn of Freedom," drew large houses on his initial appearance at the head of his own company in this, his home city. He was enthusiastically received, and was repeatedly recalled before the curtain. Mr. Gilmore makes a very good Antonio Lopez, and looks every inch a soldier. He will hold a reception after the matinee Wednesday, giving his many friends and associates a chance to meet him.....At the Pabst Theatre the German stock company repeated 'Im Weissen Roessel" before a large and enthusiastic audience, with Paula Wirth in the leading role. .....At the Trocadero Theatre good burlesque opened to large houses.....At the Exposition Clauder's Band and the roller rink drew large crowds.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—At the Olympic Roland Reed presents "The Voyagers," with Miss Rush as leading lady. The last half of the week "The Woman Hater" will be presented.....The Century opened with the International Opera Co. in a repertory of opera comprising a new one for each performance. .....At the Columbia Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew remain another week to present a new one act comedy, "Diana on the Chase." The other features include Sadi Alfarabi, Lew Hawkins, Hafford and Wild, the Pooles and the Casino Comedy Four.....This week's offering at the Imperial is "Carmen," with Miss Seligman in the title role. Lawrence Hanley has recovered from his illness, and is cast as Escamillo. The attendance is big and enthusiastic.....The Grand is drawing well, presenting Hyde's Comedians, headed by Helene Mora, and they are giving a clever vaudeville entertainment. The stock company is confining its attentions to presenting "Lend Me Five Shillings." The biograph is on with new views.....At Havlin's Lincoln J. Carter's "Chattanooga" is the offering, and seems to be giving good satisfaction. Winnie Simms, a St. Louis girl, is handling satisfactorily the part of Pansy Davis.....The Standard has an unusually strong offering, Jermon's Black Crook Extravaganza Co.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Charles Frohman's Comedians, at Rapley's National Theatre, presented, for the first time here, William Gillette's adaptation of Sisson & LeClerq's comedy, "Because She Loved Him So," to a very large and delighted audience. .....Frank Daniels presented "The Wizard of the Nile" at Luckett & Dwyer's Columbia Theatre to the capacity. This is the third time Mr. Daniels has been seen here within the year, and his reception was as cordial and his house as large as at his first appearance.....Denman Thompson, in "The Old Homestead," had a full auditorium at Nixon & Zimmerman's Lafayette Square Opera House. The old familiar play seems to please as well as ever.....The Smyth & Rice Comedians, at Rapley's Academy of Music, presented most admirably "My Friend from India" to a crowded auditorium. .....Miner & Van's Bohemian Burlesquers, at Kernan's Lyceum Theatre, won out twice yesterday to big business.....Kemmett, assisted by Anna Mortland and a score of others, had two crowded houses at Grieve's Bijou Theatre.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—Theatrically the week has had another standing room only start. Bad business of recent seasons has been forgotten in the present rushes. "Alabama," interpreted by Neil Stock Company, at Pike; Hanlons' "Superba," at the Walnut Street, and "Lost in Siberia," at Heuck's, all opened to jams....."Our Boys," revived by Brady's Stock Company, drew well at the Star. .....The Gay Masqueraders filled the People's, and vaudeville, as usual, packed the Fountain Square. .....Modjeska celebrated her return after three years' absence by presenting "Mary Stuart" to the Grand's constituents. The advance sale is above the average.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—"The Moth and the Flame" opened at the Coates last night, to good attendance. The show was well received. Mr. Kelcey and Miss Shannon did excellent work..... At the Grand, Sunday, a big matinee and an S. R. O. night house greeted "What Happened to Jones." Geo. C. Boniface easily carried off the honors.....At the Orpheum the two usual jammed Sunday houses saw Cawthorne and Forrester, Belle Davis and Les Freres Carpos and a good bill. .....The Gillis had a good matinee and a big night house to see the Gay Rhea Company in "An American Widow."....Julia Marlowe comes to the Coates Thursday.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Change of bills was in order for the week at four of our regular houses last week. Business opened well, the portend for a prosperous week being very encouraging. Appended is the roster of the attractions at the various houses: Grand Opera, "The Girl from Paris;" Castle Square, "Cyrano de Bergerac;" Columbia, "A High Born Lady;" Hollis Street, "The Little Minister;" Tremont, De Wolf Hopper, in "The Charlatan;" Park, "The French Maid;" Boston, "The White Heather;" Museum, "Jack and the Beanstalk;" Bowdoin Square, "In the Name of the Czar." Fine houses prevailed at Keith's, the Palace, Austin & Stone's Museum and the other low price houses.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 8.—"A Milk White Flag" opened to a fine audience last night at Macauley's. .....Kelly and Mason, in "Who is Who," opened Sunday at the Avenue to a big house. Last night's audience was the same.....The Meffert Stock Co., at the Temple, presented "Society Shadows" to two big houses yesterday.....The Buckingham was crowded at both performances Sunday to see the Metropolitan Burlesquers.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore.—The only novelty in town for the current week is "The Tree of Knowledge," presented at Ford's Opera House by James K. Hackett and a competent company. The house was well filled at the opening performance, Nov. 7, and a flattering reception accorded both star and play. Della Fox did an immense business last week with "The Little Host." "Way Down East" is announced for 14.

NIXON & ZIMMERMAN'S ACADEMY.—"The Sign of the Cross" entered upon its second week 7, with a fair sized audience in attendance. Business was very large throughout the first week. W. H. Crane brings "A Virginia Courtship" 14.

ALBAUGH'S LYCEUM THEATRE.—"7-20-8," which was put on 7, was done with a snap and dash which evoked enthusiastic applause at the hands of a large audience. "The Two Orphans" proved highly successful week ending 5. "Moths" is underlined for 14 and week.

HOLIDAY STREET THEATRE.—Calder's excellent company headed by P. Aug. Anderson, drew two full houses 7, with "John Martin's Secret," a highly sensational melodrama, as the attraction. "McFadden's Row of Flats" had a good week, closing 5. "A High Born Lady" is billed for 14.

AUDITORIUM MUSIC HALL.—A crowded matinee ushered in the week for the Russell Brothers 7, followed by a display of the S. R. O. sign at night. Fields & Lewis' Broadway Burlesquers did well week ending 5. Weber's Parisian Widows come 14.

KERNAN'S MONUMENTAL THEATRE.—The vacant space was limited 7, when the curtain rose upon Irwin Bros.' Venetian Burlesquers. Hurtig & Seamon's Bowery Burlesquers filled the house at each performance last week. The Bohemian Burlesquers is due 14.

CASTINE'S ODEON THEATRE.—New 7 and week: Winchester and May, Maggie Marshall, Frank Clayton and Foster and Williams.

ELECTRIC PARK WINTER GARDEN.—This venture seems to have met with popular approval, as evidenced by the continued good attendance 7, when the bill embraced the Troubadour Trio, Al. Stern, the Vilona Sisters, and the International Trio.

HALL CAINE will make his first appearance here 8, when he will deliver, at Ford's Opera House, what is described as an unpublished novel, "Home, Sweet Home." .....No special election day performances will be given at local theatres this year, though several of them will announce the returns at night.

FLORIDA.

Jacksonville.—At the Park Theatre the Baldwin-Melville Dramatic Co., in repertory, at popular prices, met with unprecedented success week Oct. 31. Chas. E. Blaney's "A Hired Girl" is due Nov. 9.

THE NEW CRYSTAL ROOF GARDEN, which opens 7, is unquestionably the most complete amusement hall in the South. The dimensions are 100x46, the interior finish being of the latest plaster relief designing with exquisite taste. The stage embodies every modern convenience, having five complete sets of scenery, with five drop curtains in addition thereto. Size of stage, 22x30. Every comfort has been devised for patronage. Overhead there will be 164 lights, each sixteen candle power, and arranged with taste inasmuch as the electric power can connect with two plants in the event of need, assuring perfect light. The auditorium will seat seven hundred and fifty, with seats next to each other. However, for comfort and pleasure, it has been arranged in groups, with tables and chairs surrounding, which arrangement will accommodate from five to six hundred Adjoining the stage there has been erected four private boxes, marvels of beauty, which are very inviting to those who are wont to be exclusive. The management has spared no pains or expense in providing comfort and elegance for the performers, having just had completed one dozen dressing rooms fitted up in elaborate style. The "Crystal" will open its doors Monday, 7, with the following bill: Hughlett and Howard, Sullivan and Pasquilena, the Brunnock Sisters, Rose Mendle, Eva Thatcher, Blanche Walworth, Pete Shaw and Geo. Harvey.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Charleston.—Owens' Academy of Music was dark last week. Due: Wm. H. West's Minstrels Nov. 10. The Kerwin Opera Co. comes 7-19.

GENTRY'S DOG AND PONY SHOW did a big business Oct. 31-Nov. 3. Their street parade was the neatest ever seen here.....Pawnee Bill comes 8, Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Circus 17.

On the Road.

All Routes Must Reach Us Not Later Than Monday.

COLORADO.

Denver.—At the Tabor Grand Opera House, week of Oct. 30, Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys" played to big houses.

BROADWAY.—Week of 31, the Smith & Rice Comedy Co., in "The Old Coat." Week of Nov. 7, "Secret Service."

ORPHEUM.—Week of Oct. 30, P. N. Harper, the new lessee of this house, opened the season with Hi Henry's Minstrels. They are doing a big business. Week of Nov. 6, vaudeville.

LYCEUM.—Week of Oct. 30, Frank Readick's Co., in "Monte Cristo." Business is good. Week of Nov. 6, "A Jay Circus."

Pueblo.—At the Grand Hi Henry's Minstrels had good houses Oct. 27, 28 and they deserved the patronage. The Conture Bros., acrobats, were among the leading features of the show. On 30 Dr Loyd Cook gave an entertainment under the title of "Spirit Power in the Light," and it pleased the audience. Louise Brehany Opera and Concert Co appears here Nov. 3; Davis & Bushy's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co is billed for 4; Smith & Rice Co., in "The Old Coat," 8.

DE REMER THEATRE will be dark this week. Last week, 24-29, Harry Martell's Merrymakers did well.

THE well known cornettist A. Liberati, is in Pueblo, resting and recuperating, as his health has been somewhat shaken by his work of the past Summer.

DELAWARE.

Wilmington.—At the Grand Opera House Milton Aborn's New England Opera Co closed, Nov. 5, a week of good business. Lewis Morrison, in "Faust," drew a large audience 7. Booked: Bros. Byrne, in "Going to the Races," 11; Charles Hanford, in "Damon and Pythias," 12; King Dramatic Co. 14-19, "My Friend From India" 21, Richards & Pringle's Minstrels 23, Bros. Royer, in "Next Door," 25; "Heart of Maryland" 24.

DOCKSTADER'S THEATRE.—Continuous good business has warranted Manager Dockstader offering the following strong bill for the week of 7-13: Kernell, Edwards and Williams, Hodgkins and Leith, Fields and Salina, Dudley Prescott, Tom Mack, Kennedy and Quartelli, Gorman and West, and the Three Theopians.

Clipper Post Office.

☞ A STAMPED ENVELOPE, plainly addressed, must be inclosed for each letter and the line of business followed by the person addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

NOTE.—Professionals and others should bear in mind that all letters, etc., in transit between the United States and Canada, must be prepaid, otherwise they are not forwarded.

World of Players.

— Notes from Jack Potts' Comedy Co.: We opened in Faribault, Minn., Aug. 29, and have had a fairly prosperous season so far. Last week, in Ottumwa, Ia., we did a big business, and left an excellent impression. We are booked solid up until the first of May through Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory and Arkansas. Our leading lady, Miss Bay Whipple, is making a host of friends by her clever work. We carry a fine illustrated song outfit, and have all the latest songs. Are negotiating with the International Play Bureau, of New York, for the Western rights of Katie Putnam's piece, "Tom Tinker's Kid." Roster: J. C. Potts and H. H. Fisher, proprietors and managers; Miss Bay Whipple, Virginia Vaughan, Jessie Brink, Mrs. Alice Jackson, Bessie Jackson, J. C. Potts, H. H. Fisher, F. J. Guderian, J. M. Winne, A. L. Shepard, C. M. Breckenridge, Roy Kingston, and Elson Hammel, agent, in advance.

— Edward N. Hoyt has been engaged to play Grigorivitch, in Edwin Gordon Lawrence's production of the Russian drama, entitled "For Her Sake." His wife, Fannie Hoyt, will play the Countess Deniskoff in the same production.

— Manager W. M. Wilkinson has engaged for his new comedy, "A Stranger in a Strange Land," George W. Leslie, Giles Shine, Maude White, Agnes Proctor, Eleanor Browning, Thomas Kiernes, William Ranous, Fred Lotto, H. G. Lonsdale and H. R. Armstrong.

— Madeline Bouton, who has long been ill in San Francisco, has arrived back in New York.

— J. H. Stoddart, in view of his advanced years, did not consider the time allowed for the preparation of the role of Father Savage, in "Red, White and Blue," to be sufficient, and has withdrawn from the cast. He will be succeeded by Charles Kent.

— Clara Lardinois, a French chanteuse, has been engaged by Lederer & McClellan to sing in the music hall scene in the forthcoming production of "A Dangerous Maid."

— Blumenthal and Kadelburg's play, which has been produced with marked success in Wiesbaden, Germany, entitled "Im Weissen Rosee," had been secured by Daniel Frohman, and will be produced some time during the present season, under the title of "The White Horse Tavern." The play is being transcribed for Mr. Frohman by Sydney Rosenfeld.

— Frost Stock Notes: This week the company plays its last date in the Maratime Provinces, next week reaching Quebec City, P. Q. Since last March we have taken in a large territory, extending as far east as Newfoundland. The present roster: Mabel M. Frost, Flora V. Frost, Baby Dawn, Mrs. Frank J. Dean, Mrs. E. S. Lawrence, E. S. Lawrence, Frank J. Dean, Walter Hill, James E. Wallice, Will F. Crockett, J. S. Barney and F. H. Frost.

— Notes from the Gibney-Hoeffler Co.: We opened our week's engagement at Pomeroy to a standing room business; turned people away at seven o'clock. This is the first company in this season, and the outlook for business is good. Next week we play Wheeling, West Va., and give two performances a day, a repertory of twelve different plays. Morgan Gibney is renewing his success through this part of the country. We will organize a No. 2 company to play the Hoeffler Minnesota theatre circuit, as a permanent stock. Manager Hoeffler leaves Nov. 24, for his theatre circuit, to conclude arrangements. After the stock company is in working order, will return to the No. 1 Co., to pilot that organization through the season.

— Frank Wallace and Hattie Chew joined the Irene Meyers Co. Oct. 24, the former to manage the stage and the last mentioned for soubrettes.

— Joseph Haworth will make his debut as John Storm, in "The Christian," at the Knickerbocker Theatre, on Nov. 17. E. J. Morgan leaves the cast then, as before announced, to rejoin the Lyceum Theatre Stock Company.

— Wm O. Johnson is playing a season's engagement as the Tramp, in "Lost in New York."

— Notes of Hoyt's Big Comedy Company: Business with us continues very large. We are playing to capacity of the theatres nightly. Fred G. Hubbard and Pete Raymond, principal comedians, are meeting with well deserved praise for their work in the comedy parts, and their specialties always bring three and four encores every night. Much credit for the success of the company is due to Mr. Raymond's thorough stage management. Claire Summers was presented with a solitaire diamond ring by members of the company and friends at Carlinville, Ill., last week.

— Will M. Barry will be the advertising manager for the Chicago (Ill.) Inter-Urban Railroad Co.'s Park next season.

— Pat Conroy and Tom McCoy are featured with "O'Hooligan's Wedding" Co., playing principal comedy parts.

— J. J. Rosenthal has retired from the management of the Broadhurst comedies, "What Happened to Jones" and "Why Smith Left Home," to look after a new farce, entitled "Brown's in Town," which he has just purchased, and which he will produce next month.

— The Sanford Dodge Co. is en route to the Pacific coast.

— Hattie Bernard closes with Blaney's "Female Drummer" Co. in Chicago, and will retire from the profession.

— Waller and Waller closed with "O'Hooligan's Wedding" Co. at Freeport, Ill., on Nov. 5.

— Chas. Ellis produced his new play, "A Modern Woodman," at Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 11, under the auspices of the combined camps of Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors, of that city. Harper's Theatre was packed to the doors, and the play not only received the endorsement of the head officers of the Modern Woodmen, who occupied the boxes, but the audience and press of the city as well. Lieut. Gov. Northcote, who is Head Consul of the order, congratulated Mr. Ellis on the success of the play. Mr. Ellis will go from Rock Island with the endorsement of the head officers of the M. W. A., and present "A Modern Woodman" throughout the jurisdiction of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.

— Dore Davidson closes on Nov. 12 his engagement as stage manager of the Third Avenue Theatre, this city.

— Ed. Hurst writes that he has retired from the management of the Park Theatre, Manchester, N. Y., to become business manager of the Dayne-Fanshawe Stock Co., headed by Blanche Dayne.

— Harry B. Roche and Annie Whiting have joined Halford & Allen's 'The Pay Train" Co., introducing their specialties as a special feature, making the second season with this company.

— "The Hon. John Grigsby" is the title of a new comedy which Charles Klein has written for Sol Smith Russell.

— E. S. Willard, who is Wintering in Italy, is regaining his health and intends to produce a new play in London, Eng., in the Spring, and if it proves successful he will produce it next Fall at the Garden Theatre, this city.

— "Brown's in Town" is the title of a new farce which will shortly be produced under the management of J. J. Rosenthal.

— The Irene Myers-Charles H. Leyburne Co. reports big business. It claims to have broken the record recently at the opera house at Youngstown, Ohio.

— Burk's "U. T. C." Notes: We carry thirty people and have a big parade and a show that all pronounce the best. W. J. Tyler joined last week, to lead band. Prof. C. E. Snyder has a fine orchestra of nine pieces.

— Harry Martell's "South Before the War" Notes: We played to S. R. O. at the Third Avenue Theatre, Seattle, Wash., week of Oct. 23, and five extra matinees were given during the week. We play a return engagement Nov. 6-11. We are giving entire satisfaction everywhere, and business is at the top notch.

— Sarah Bernhardt intends to go to India to perform there for the benefit of the Rajahs, and to do some tiger hunting. The actress is going in a yacht chartered by herself, to be commanded by Pierre Loti, late of the French navy, whose dramatic work "Judith Renaudin," was produced recently at the Renaissance Theatre in Paris.

— The English company engaged to support Olga Nethersole during her forthcoming American tour includes T. B. Thalberg, Luigi Lablache, Frederic Thorne, Leonard Outram, Hamilton Reville, O. S. Homewood, W. Grahame Browne, Charles Wellesley, W. S. Mills, Cechey Richards, Madge McIntosh, Lillian Hingston, Kate Emerson and Madge Field. She opens her new season in Cleveland, on Nov. 21, with Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," in which she has not yet appeared.

— John T. Tilney has been engaged to play the title role of Mr. Fresh in Davis & Keogh's new comedy, entitled "The Finish of Mr. Fresh."

— The Le Page Sisters are with "Casey's Wife," and not "A Hired Girl," as reported.

— Jas. B. Mackie has entirely recovered from the accident which befell him at Parkersburg, W. Va., last October, and is busy booking the new "Grimes' Cellar Door" Co. for the rest of the season. Joseph Humphreys and Ernest Lacy, who wrote Andrew Mack's new play, "The Ragged Earl," are busy on the scenario of his new play, "Grimes' Baby."

— Notes from the Graham Earle Co. (Western): We are now in the twelfth week of our season, and business has been excellent. Our repertory consists of pieces from the pen of James M. Martin, who is with the company, and personally directs the production of each piece. The roster is as follows: C. H. Rosskam, sole proprietor and manager; F. C. Huebner, stage manager; Gertrude Mack, musical directress; Ira Stevens, stage carpenter; Lillian Sackett, Edith Bowers, Marie Le Trace, Sadie Claire, Mabie Eston, James M. Martin, W. S. Montgomery, C. S. Steelsmith, John H. Nicholson, Master Clifton, and E. C. Cristo in advance. Our special scenery is a feature and wins many flattering comments, while the show on the whole is pronounced one of the best seen at popular prices for several years. On Oct. 28 Manager Rosskam's birthday anniversary occurred, in honor of which event he gave the company a supper after the show. A good time was enjoyed, and the presents and congratulations were numerous.

— Notes from the Spooners: Cecil Spooner produced a new descriptive dance in Trenton, N. J., that won her two curtain calls and universal praise. The costumes and electrical effects are new and striking. Edna May gave "Sheridan's Ride" with views, which was enthusiastically received. Oscar Deigman, one of the heroes of the Merrimac, occupied a box Saturday night, in Trenton, to see the performance of "Hobson's Choice," the principal feature of which is the third act—the sinking of the Merrimac. After the play the Spooners attended the banquet given the Naval Reserves of Trenton, and were royally received, and given badges, flowers, and three cheers by the sailor boys in blue.

— Iler, Burke and McDonald are preparing to take out a farce comedy, entitled "A Jolly Lot."

— The Oliver Byron Combination, headed by Oliver and Kate Byron, opens the season in Trenton, N. J., Nov. 12, and will make an elaborate production of "Across the Continent" a feature.

— Howard & Doyle have secured an eight years and ten months' lease of the Lyceum, Chicago, with privilege of purchase. The house will hereafter be known as Howard's Theatre, and conducted as a first class family resort, playing the best combinations. They will remove their offices from Dearborn Street, Chicago, to the theatre, Desplaines and Madison Streets, Dec. 1, occupying the entire four floors of the building, owing to the increase of business, which makes it necessary.

— J. Jay Shaw has closed with Gus. Hill's Tammany Tigers Co. and has joined "McFadden's Row of Flats" for the rest of the season.

— The Players this season include: T. M. Brown, G. C. Davis, Loyal Ford, W. W. Wells, W. W. Tatum, Fred Tomlinson, W. F. Wagner, John Osman, Julia Raymond, Alma Sylvester, Ethel Osman, Ursa Sylvester, Marguerite Osman, Francis McCool. Business has been first class since opening. The repertory is "Damon and Pythias," "Her Bitter Atonement," "Run to Earth," "Nick of the Woods," "The French Spy," "The New Englander," "East Lynne," "Camille," "Lucretia Borgia." The company was treated to a banquet at Frankton by the Knights of Pythias after the performance of "Damon and Pythias."

— The Scovilles did not close Nov. 5, as stated, but are retained by Erwood's Stock Co.

— Catherine Lulu, the twenty months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Thomas, died at her home in Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 27.

— Manager W. M. Fennessy, of the Blondells, in "A Cheerful Idiot," writes: "The results from our ad. in your paper is beyond our sanguine expectations; time enough offered to fill ten seasons."

— Alexander Rutledge Arbuckle, a younger brother of Maclyn Arbuckle, of "Why Smith Left Home," died in San Antonio, Texas., on Oct. 16. The young man, who had a host of friends among the theatrical profession, has been a sufferer for years, but bore his affliction patiently and manfully to the end. The remains were brought to St. Louis, Mo.

— Edwin P. Hilton writes that since Sept. 10 he has been sole owner and manager of "The Gay Matinee Girl" company, and that the change seems to be a lucky one, for his business has been about 40 per cent. better since then. A number of new and important features have been added, and each one is a hit. At Topeka, Oct. 29, five of the ladies lost nearly all of their wardrobe between matinee and night performance, and they have since been working night and day on new material. Mr. Crawford is vigorously hunting for the thief.

— Eldon's Comedians report the largest business this season ever done by the company. Mr. Eldon is enlarging his company and strengthening it by adding new features. A new play, "The Great Labor Strike," will be added to the repertory.

— Ella Herring, of the Three Herring Sisters, has left Blaney's "A Boy Wanted" Co., and is now playing dates.

— Roster of the Mantells, introducing Vida Keane, en route through Illinois, Missouri and Iowa: Westley Mantell, Rollo Mantell, Percy Carroll, Roy D. Way, Harry Knapp, Lew. Wainwright, Geo. Ampleman, Prof. Julius Ruess, Miss Vida Keane, Olga Wood, Marie Barborka and Fawn Bancroft.

— Harry F. Curtis, of the Curtis Stock Company, has found "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" such a drawing card he has decided to close his stock and star Joseph R. Ketler in one night stands. Mr. Curtis is now forming his company at Elmira, N. Y., and opens Nov. 21.

— The R. J. Erwood Stock Co. reports good business, the company now being in the tenth week of a Southern tour.

— John Herfurth's scenic studio in Cincinnati, O., was recently completely destroyed by fire. Manager Kibble and Leon W. Washburn lost considerable property.

— Ed. H. Barnstead Jr. and wife, Annie Lysle Barnstead, with Baby Loretta, are with Rentfrow's Pathfinders.

— W. H. Post, under whose stage direction "My Friend from India," "The Man from Mexico" and many other successful comedies were produced, will stage manage Manager Wilkinson's new comedy, "A Stranger in a Strange Land."

— Harry Bernard is engaged for advance representative with "The Wheel of Fortune" Company.

— The Agnes Herndon Company, under the management of Mittenthal Brothers, reports playing to big business. The company is said to be above the average repertory company, and the success attending their engagements is due not only to the company, but to the careful and painstaking manner in which their plays are staged.

— The new Anglo-American comedy, "A Stranger in a Strange Land," will be seen in the principal New England and Canadian cities before going into New York for a run. It will first be presented in New Haven next Monday, Nov. 14.

— Gracie Beebee joins "The Wheel of Fortune" Company as soubrette, opening at the People's Theatre, New York City.

— Mrs. James Arbuckle is spending a few weeks traveling with her son, Maclyn Arbuckle, of "Why Smith Left Home" Co.

— Gay Rhea plays "An American Widow" at the Gillis Opera House, Kansas City, week of Nov. 6. She informs us that H. H. Schmidling is no longer connected with her company in any way.

— The Selden Stetson Co., supporting Maude Selden, reports good business through Ohio. They begin their tour through Pennsylvania week of Nov. 7. Mrs. Chas. Wuersten, manageress of Opera House, Warren, Ind., has been visiting her daughter, Dai Earle, with the show for the past week.

— George W. Winnett reports big business for Bryon's Great Gotham Stock Company, with which he is connected in the capacity of advance representative.

— John Streckfuss, bass player in the band of the "Joshua Simpkins" Co., fell dead in West Chester, Pa., Nov. 2, while the company was making its street parade. The band had just ceased playing and was marching to the drum when Streckfuss, who was in the lead, suddenly placed both hands to his head and staggered out of line. Members of the band supported him to the sidewalk and leaned him against a fence, but he immediately collapsed and fell to the sidewalk. A short time afterwards he was carried to the house of the West Chester Fire Company, where he was placed upon a cot and a doctor summoned by telephone. He arrived in a few minutes and made on examination, but at once pronounced the man dead. The coroner was at once notified to take charge.

— Wilson Barrett, it is said, does not propose to allow Hall Caine or Charles Frohman, to whom Mr. Caine recently transferred the English rights of "The Christian," to produce the play in England. Mr. Barrett claims, according to a London story, that he secured the English rights to "The Christian" from Mr. Caine some time ago. He has made his own dramatization of the novel, and proposes not only to produce it but to prevent the transfer of Mr. Caine's own version to the English boards.

— The following people have been engaged with the Burrow & Bryant's Merry Makers: Katheryn M. Evans, Bessie Maher, Georgia Hoff, Nellie Borden, Harold Cahill, Fred House, Harry Love, Don Travis, Merton Rowley, M. G. Moss, Miles Travis, Geo P. Armiter, Al. Pinard, C. A. Osterman and J. S. Hoffman, advance. Repertory of standard dramas will be produced.

— John N. Phillips has resumed his position as resident manager of the Tampa (Fla.) Casino Auditorium for the Winter.

WALTER PERKINS

Was born in Biddeford, Me., and began his stage career at the Boston Museum, with Willie Edouin. The following season he took Frank Daniels' role in "The Electric Doll." He then joined a stock company at Winnipeg, and a season with Maggie Mitchell followed. He afterwards played in "Held by the Enemy," "Drifting Apart," "All the Comforts of Home," "The County Fair," and in Charles Frohman's companies presenting "The Lost Paradise" and "Men and Women." Season 1895-96 he was featured in "All the Comforts of Home." Having secured "My Friend from India," he began his appearance in its title role at the Bijou Theatre, this city, Sept. 26, 1896. During the past Summer he played four stock star engagements at the Castle Square Theatre, Boston, appearing in the leading role in "Charley's Aunt" and "The New Boy," and as Tom McDow, in "All the Comforts of Home." Mr. Perkins is now touring this country, as he did last season, in "My Friend from India," under his own management, and Mr. Du Souchet, author of that play, is writing a new play for him.

— A new theatre was opened at St. Thomas, Can., Nov. 2, by the "Miss Francis of Yale" Co. It is a handsome playhouse and has been erected on the site of the house burned last Winter. Every new invention in stage work is contained in the house, which has a seating capacity of one thousand two hundred and fifty. It is one of the best arranged theatres in Canada. B. H. Rothwell, of Detroit, is the owner; R. A. McVean is the lessee and manager.

— Notes from the Dayne & Fanshawe Stock Co.: We are now in our twelfth week, and business is up to the top notch. We opened in Quebec, P. Q., Oct. 31, to a packed house, and have played nine performances on the week to the largest business ever done in the city. Our opening bill is Garland Gaden's "The Young American," followed by A. L. Fanshawe's "The Red Flash." The show is running smoothly and giving the best of satisfaction. Our scenery is a special feature and creates no amount of talk and praise. The company consists of fifteen people, giving a continuous performance of specialties between each act. We will remain here for four weeks, playing two plays a week and three matinees. The roster: Will M. Cressy and A. L. Fanshawe, proprietors; C. D. Henry, business manager; Bart Ford, stage manager; I. B. Hodges, advertiser; Prof. Geo. Fenberg, musical director; Chas. H. Cline, Harry Garmand, Louis Montejoy, L. C. Maitland, Ned Curtiss, A. N. Moiser, Blanche Dayne, Janie Wood, Marie Lahrahy, Nellie Glaser and Hattie Palmer.

— Notes from Bryan's Comedians: In Muskegon, Mich., last Monday, Oct. 31, we opened a week's engagement at Reynold's Opera House to the largest receipts ever done in the house at popular prices. On Thursday evening we made two stage settings with the curtain up and in full view of the audience. Geo. Barrett, of Toledo, joined 3, at Muskegon, to play baritone in band and second violin in orchestra. Fred Pike, of Grand Ledge, Mich., late of the Cornell Concert Company, joined Oct. 31, to play slide trombone in band and clarionet in orchestra. Muskegon is the home of our trap drummer, Wm. Benjamin, and he was warmly welcomed. He is now doubling on stage, doing some parts and a double dancing specialty with F. F. Miller, which is the hit of the show. He also does a trick and wing dance with Master Freddie. Friday, 4, the entire company were entertained by the Muskegon Lodge, B. P. O. E., and everybody enjoyed themselves immensely. Numbers were given by the band and orchestra, as well as individuals, and a collation was served which everyone did justice. Orsen Saunders goes home on important business 6, for a short stay.

— Jack Bessey joined the Redmond Co. at St. Joe, Mo., during their return engagement there. J. M. Sandusky is back with the company, this being his fifth season.

— The Grand Jury of Chicago, on Nov. 4, found a true bill of indictment against Lee Beggs for pirating "Lynwood" without authority. Howard & Doyle, as agents for Mr. Tillotson, have taken special interest, and are making it a test case by carrying it to the Supreme Court of the United States. Mr. Beggs was arrested in Springfield, Ill., where a preliminary trial took place and was decided against him. He was remanded to the Grand Jury, Chicago. The case will come up before the United States Court the last of the month. The United States Attorney is taking special interest in the same, and the evidence is very strong, so much so that there is no question of judgment being given in favor of Howard & Doyle for Mr. Tillotson.

— Howard W. Durand, of the Durand Family, writes from Fort Worth, Tex.: "We have met with a severe loss in the death of our Harold, ten years' old. He died on our special car after an accident in which the car was derailed, he being sick at the time. I have sued the Texas & Pacific Railroad for heavy damages and am assured of a successful verdict. We open with the Chick, Jolly and Woodson Co. Nov. 7, closing at the People's Theatre, where we have been for three weeks. We were guests of the Ringling Circus 1, and met many old friends, and voted it the best circus and concert we have seen in many a day."

— Dore Lyon, who was at one time the husband of Kate Claxton, died at his residence, Lyonscourt, Westchester, N. Y., Nov. 5, aged fifty-seven years.

— W. J. Fleming was recently called upon to come to the Columbus Theatre, this city, and manage the stage, owing to the trouble there with the Mordaunt & Block Stock Co. Mr. Fleming was engaged by Manager Kahn, and put on "Fanchon" and "In Spite of All," with most satisfactory results.

— So great was the demand for "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Globe Theatre, Elmira, that it was necessary that two matinees be given Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 2. Before the first matinee, which started at two o'clock, was scarcely half over the lobby was choked with a mass of people in waiting for the second matinee. The first matinee was large, but the second broke the house record. In order that the evening's performance should not be delayed, a complimentary supper for the entire company and stage hands was served on the stage by Manager Johnson, of the theatre. The company in question was S. F. Darling's "U. T. C."

— The Tommy Shearer Company reports excellent business so far on the season. They played Mt. Carmel, Pa., last week, to fair business, and have eleven weeks to follow in Pennsylvania. The company is at the Grand Opera House, Reading, this week, and is doing the first two a day on the season. Managers over the circuit in which we played last season concede Mr. Shearer's company to be much stronger than last season, and an increase of business in towns visited is certainly an evidence of the same. The company now numbers fourteen people, with eleven royalty plays in in the repertory.

— The Two Macks, in "Money to Burn," opened to S. R. O. at Davenport, Ia., Oct. 30. The roster: Chas. T. Kindt and Joe Evirich, managers; the Two Macks, Lyman Twin Brothers, Herbert and Howard, Guy Caufman, Fee Kennett, J. L. Guillmett, Milton Pollock, H. B. Springer, Chas. Temple, H. C. Hall, S. E. Swensen, S. E. Lester, Robt. Spears, Fred Burchard, Bennie Coudiff, Blanche Gale, Pauline Dana, Violet Kennett, Nellie Kennett, Carsello Sisters, Susie and Josie; Mrs. F. L. Mahara, Della May, Madelon Caufman, F. L. Mahara, advance representative.

— The Spooners broke all records for attendance, at popular prices, at the Academy of Music, Cumberland, Md., on their engagement week of Oct. 31, including the previous record also made by that company during the week of Jan. 31 last.

— "A Texas Steer" has found green pastures and high grass, according to Manager A. R. Wilber, who writes THE CLIPPER thus: "We had good business in Chicago, and turned people away in Omaha, playing to over $1,000 a performance. At Denver we played a return engagement within three months, getting over $8,000 on the two weeks. Prospects through the country look very good, which makes the hopeful 'showmen' happy."

— Billy Sheridan joined Yank Newell's "Muldoon's Picnic" Nov. 5, at Kansas City, Mo.

— Joe G. Brown denies a recent statement that he is a member of the Williams Musical Organization with Waite's Comedy Co.

— Jas. T. McAlpin and wife, Dolly Foster, have joined Geo. Monroe's "Her Majesty the Cook" Co. for German comedy and soubrette.

— Notes from Curt's Comedians: Our company is now headed for the East. A number of the best tobacco manufacturing towns in Southeastern Wisconsin are booked, and after playing them the company will jump to Canton, O., and there begin a tour of the Eastern States. Business has been exceptionally good the last four weeks. Roster: M. H. Curts, manager; C. F. Marston, W. F. Wright, Chas. Barnes, L. R. Cooper, B. Ellinwood, Genevieve Gerrick, Laura Leighton, Alice Parker, Madge McMahon, pianist; E. H. Smith, advance representative.

GERTRUDE BENNETT

Was born in Boston, Mass., but has lived the greater part of her life in London and Paris, where latterly she studied with William Farren and Leon Jancey. During the season of 1896 she made her debut in London as a reader. Augustin Daly then gave her an engagement and brought her over to New York. After her return from his last English tour she left the company to resume her readings and appeared in New York. Last Winter, however, having finally decided to adopt the stage as her profession, she obtained an engagement with Charles Coghlan, and is now playing Lady Robert in "The Royal Box."

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—At the Providence Opera House, last week, Frank Daniels and his merry opera company played a week's engagement here. They presented "The Idol's Eye" and "The Wizard of the Nile." Both have been seen here several times, but never to better advantage. The star, of course, was good, and the chorus was as strong and well balanced as any chorus ever seen here. Business was very good, and all in all it was a successful week in every point of view. For the present week there are two attractions and both of the highest order. The first half of the week finds Ada Rehan here for the first time in several years. The rest of the week Sol. Smith Russel will present "Uncle Dick." Mr. Russell stands very close to the theatregoers of Providence, and there can be no doubt but what the business will be very large. On the week to follow comes "The White Heather."

KEITH'S NEW THEATRE.—Last week was all the management could ask for and there no longer seems to be any doubt as to whether the house will pay or not on the continuous plan. The following bill will be given for the present week: Felix Morris and his company, Alice Atherton, Dixon, Bowers and Dixon, Grapewin and Chance, The La Vans, Harry Edson and his dog, Reilly and Hughes, The Three Gardners, La Porte Sisters, Sisters Coulson, C. W. Littlefield, Zumier, clown juggler; Conroy and McFarland, and the American Biograph. It is not to be wondered at that with such bookings as the above that business is good.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Al. Reeves and his company were the offering last week, and had good business. This week Irwin Bros.' Big Star Specialty. The company includes the following people: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sidman, Billy McLain and Cordellia, Five Barrison Sisters, Williamson and Stone, Merril and Newhouse, Scott and Wilson, Lillian Waltone, Sidney and Von Tilzer, Tompson and Carter and May Kenny a Providence girl, well known, who makes her debut on the stage as a singer of popular melodies. On the following week Selden's new funny farce, "A Spring Chicken," will be seen here for the first time.

WESTMINSTER THEATRE.—Oct 31-Nov. 5 Harry Morris' Little Lambs Co. made their first appearance here and gave a good show. The costumes of the company were very fine, and the singing of the Morris Quartet was great. Harry Morris was, of course, good, and his afterpiece, "Gen Fink's Army," was a good one. The business done was very good indeed, and all in all was a successful engagement, as his always is. The present week finds May Howard and her Big Burlesque Co. here. Miss Howard holds a strong place here, and her show is said to contain a lot of pretty girls and much catchy music. Following Miss Howard's show comes the Gay Morning Glories. This is a new one here.

ALLEN'S STAR THEATRE.—Last week Geo. W. Wilson and his Boston Ideal Stock Co. played repertory to a good week's business. The various productions were all well staged, and the company all played the parts allotted to them in good style. This week A. Q Scammon's Co., in "The Real Widow Brown" and on the week to follow comes "The Maine Avenged."

ELECTION RETURNS will be read from the stages of all the local theatres on election night, and at the Olympic the Irwin Bros.' Co. will give a show from 8 to 12 o'clock. .....Al. Reeves says that the report that Mitchell and Ziss and Emerson and Omega are to leave his company is absolutely false.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville.—At Macauley's Theatre Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels came Oct. 31, Nov. 1, drawing two big houses. James-Kidder-Warde Co., 2, 3, presented "School for Scandal," "Othello" and "Julius Cæsar." The attendance was good. The International Grand Opera Co., 4, 5, gave "Lucia di Lammermoor" and "Il Pagliacci," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Romeo and Juliet," drawing excellent houses. Coming: Schlatter occupies the house 6, Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag" 7-9, Charles Coghlan 10-12.

TEMPLE THEATRE.—"The Lost Paradise" was the offering of the Meffert Stock Co. last week. It was well received, and the audiences were up to the uniform size which have greeted all the offerings at this house this season. For week of 7 "Society Shadows."

AVENUE THEATRE.—Haslons' "Superbs" enjoyed liberal patronage throughout the engagement last week. Everyone who attended was delighted. For week of 7, Kelly and Mason, in "Who Is Who?"

BUCKINGHAM THEATRE.—Rice & Barton's Rose Hill English Folly Co. did a good business last week. The principal features were: The Dawsons, Blanche Newcomb, Cain and Mack, Lillian Washburn, Charles E. Udell, Jeanette Elliott, and Cunningham and Grant. For week of 6, Sheridan & Faust's Metropolitan Burlesquers.

BIEROD'S CONCERT HALL.—Ella Norman, Rexford and Carlton, Nina Mason, Master Harry, Mable Parker and Sam Wilkes. Business good.

ROBINSON'S OLYMPIA.—The Clifforda, Chas. Renard, Alma Clifton, Frank F. Lundie and Walter Ralston. Business good.

NOTES.—Col. Meffert, of the Temple Theatre, has received the parts of "Cyrano de Bergerac," and will at once put the play into rehearsal in order to give the production in about two weeks. Mr. Eagle will have the title role, and the careful work of the company in the past makes it a foregone conclusion that the presentation of the play will be a notable success..... Oscar Wiegel, of this city, made his debut 1, at Robison's Olympia, as a vaudeville performer.....Sadie Conners was compelled to cancel her engagement at Robison's Olympia, 3, on account of illness.....Emile Bourlier, formerly manager of the Temple Theatre, died at his home in this city Nov. 4 from rheumatism of the heart.

CALIFORNIA.

Los Angeles.—The Los Angeles Theatre management presents Anna Virginia Metcalf in an evening of song, Nov. 2, followed by Mathews and Bulger, in "By the Sad Sea Waves," 3-6.....Big business ruled at the Burbank Theatre Oct. 24-29 when Nance O'Neil and the McKee Rankin Co. produced a round of plays. For 31 and week the Jossley-Marvin Co., in "The Signal of Liberty."..... Full houses greet Orpheum performers at every appearance. Features 31: Mary Norman, Lydia Barry and Geo. M. Felix, Beatrice Moreland and company, Flood Bros., Louis M. Granat, Johnson and Dean, Howard's Comedy Ponies.....George C. Boniface and Nonna Ferner give a first class production of "A Game of Lobby" at the Orpheum 30, matinee and evening performance..... Ill health to some extent marred Pearl Andrews enjoyment of Los Angeles during her engagement at the Orpheum, though she bravely went on at every performance. She was so indisposed one evening as to faint in the wings after doing her turn on the stage..... The benefit for Los Angeles Lodge, No. 99, B. P. O. Elks, Nov. 6, promises to be the greatest event of the kind that ever occurred here. The advance sale guarantees a packed house, and a continuous performance, from 1.30 to 7 P. M., is assured by the talent offered for the occasion. The proceeds will be devoted to securing home quarters for the lodge.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Manchester.—At the Opera House audiences that more than tested the capacity of the house were in evidence at both performances last week. De Wolf Hopper, in "The Charlatan," Nov. 2, and May Irwin, in "Kate Kip, Buyer," 4. Miss Irwin received two curtain calls. The company is a strong one, including John Sparks and Mr. Martinetti. Coming: Yale's "Devil's Auction" 8 Star Course 16, Joe Ott in "Looking for Trouble," 17, 18; "The Girl from Paris" 19, Corse Payton Repertory Co. 21-26.

PARK THEATRE.—This house opened auspiciously 31, under the regime of W. H. Boody & Co., of Lowell, Mass., who will book all attractions three nights in Lowell and rest of week in this city. Fair houses greeted "The Country Merchant" Monday, continuing for two performances, when it gave way to "A Turkish Bath" for rest of week. "My Sweetheart" is due 7-9.

NICKELODEON.—Decker & Willis' Gaiety Girls opened this house for the season Oct. 31, playing to the capacity of the house.

Vaudeville and Minstrel

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT in Brooklyn, before Judge Thomas, last week, the case of Klaw & Erlanger against Louis Robie came up on demurrer. Judge Thomas overruled the defendant's demurrer, sustaining the contention of M. L. Erlanger, the attorney for Klaw & Erlanger. Mr. Robie will now have to stand trial before a jury for violating the copyright law. The penalty for this offence is imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year. Mr. Robie, it will be remembered, was indicted last year in the United States Court in Brooklyn for violating the statutory copyright provisions in using songs and scenes from "In Gay New York" and "The Lady Slavey," the rights of both of which were owned by Klaw & Erlanger.

LOUISE SANFORD has won favor in her singing and talking specialty in vaudeville lately, and was engaged for Proctor's New York theatres, opening at Proctor's Pleasure Palace Nov. 7, after which she will play her old part in "Grimes' Cellar Door."

THE BOHOMES were at the Gaiety Theatre, Hartford, Ct. last week, making their tenth consecutive week in the New England States.

THE CRAIG TRIO are at the Wonderland, Toledo, this week, with Avenue, Pittsburg, and Dearborn, Chicago, to follow.

WM. B. WEBB, with the H. W. Williams' Own Co., was called from Milwaukee, Wis., to New York on Nov. 1, owing to the sudden death of his wife, Millie Webb, from heart trouble. He will join the show at Cleveland, O., Nov. 7.

JOHNSON AND MCKAY will open on the Moore circuit at Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7.

A LODGE OF THE BENEVOLENT ORDER OF COLORED Professionals (or Buffaloes) was instituted in this city Oct. 31, by Supreme Deputy Billy McClain. The following efficient officers will conduct the affairs of the lodge for the ensuing year: Charles H. Moore, prelate; Emile H. Nelson, vice prelate; Frank H. Bounty, L. S.; Charles Lincoln Moore, O. S.; Dr. Richard Conwell, treasurer; Tom Logan, secretary. This new lodge will be hailed and known as "Moore Lodge, No. 3, B. O. of C. P."

CORBIN AND WALDORPH have closed their engagement with the American Vaudeville Co., and will play in the Boston, Mass., banjo tournament Nov. 10.

EDWARD MARVELLE is doing well in his comedy contortion act.

THE MCCARVER BROS. and Master Harry Reed, of Cicero and Reed, have joined hands.

THE CREIGHTON THEATRE, Omaha, Neb., has been leased by the Orpheum Company, and will be opened Dec. 4, under the name of the Creighton Orpheum. It will run in conjunction with the Orpheum circuit.

HINES AND REMINGTON will open on the Hopkins-Castle circuit Jan. 16, after filling dates at Pastor's, New York, and Hyde & Behman's Brooklyn houses, in December.

EUGENIE POLLARD AND BLANCHE LATELL are doing a specialty with the European Sensation Co.

THE HARRISONS have started on a seven weeks' Western trip. They open at Wonderland, Buffalo, Nov. 14, with Erie, Columbus and Cincinnati to follow.

NASTONELL AND LANDRY have dissolved partnership. W. H. Nastonell joined his old partner, W. F. Mantello.

FORRESTER AND FLOYD played week of Oct. 31 Keith's New Theatre, Providence, and are at the Casto Theatre, Fall River, Mass., week of Nov. 7.

EDWARDS, KERNELL AND WILLIAMS gave their new act at the Harlem Music Hall last week.

GUILBERT is now playing the Hopkins-Castle circuit.

THE WAMBOLDS have just closed a three weeks' engagement at the Palace Palm Garden, Philadelphia, and have the Bijou Theatre, Washington, D. C., to follow.

HARRY AND SADIE were last week at the Bijou Theatre, Washington, D. C., and this week are at Tony Pastor's.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY BUDWORTH have scored a success in their new one act comedy, entitled "A Royal Visitor," written for them by Chas. Horwitz.

ARTHUR DEMING'S MINSTRELS closed at Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 23. Frank Mason and C. A. Bolter report that Manager Clapham left the show the week before.

W. F. MASON joined Barlow Minstrels at Knoxville, Tenn.

FRED WYCKOFF is this week at Wonderland, Buffalo, N. Y., and reports that his new act, "The Rural New Yorker," is meeting with marked success everywhere.

THE ROZELLS (Billy and Nora), are with Judson's Comedians, of which company their illustrated songs and war views are a feature.

RAYMOND AND WEST write that they are meeting with success in the cake walk with the Knickerbockers.

JOE HUNT, who retired from the stage six years ago and re-entered the profession last season, is now a member of the character sketch team of Hunt and Wentworth.

TOM WATERS, who is claimed to be a pianist of more than ordinary ability, will shortly make his vaudeville debut in this city.

BRYANT AND NORMAN closed their engagement at the Harris Musee Theatre, Pittsburg, Pa., and open at Lyceum Theatre, Erie, Nov. 7. The team will play dates the rest of the season, and are booked solid until February, 1899.

KITTY GRAY is playing two weeks at Austin & Stone's Museum, Boston, Mass., doing her great Japanese cabinet act.

GEO. W. LESLIE, of Higgins and Leslie, while playing the Court Street Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y., last week, was the guest of Ed. Mullen.

WESTON AND BEASLEY closed with "The Black Crook" Co. and join "Finnigan's Ball" Co. Nov. 7, at Troy, N. Y.

SLOAN EDW

GUY BROTHERS' MINSTRELS NOTES.—We are doing, as usual, big business. The show is giving great satisfaction. We are now using another new first part setting. We make three compete changes of costume in the first part. Albert Guy, Harry Merrick, Dave Carter, Wm. Probyn and Charles Guy are winning encores by their fine singing. The olio is strong, including Collins and Madell, musical team; Will Bensley, barrel kicking and wire act; Arthur Guy, in his new singing and dancing act; Fred Smith, marble statues of Rough Riders; C. A. Leedy, whistling; Shelvey and Ladon, comedy juggiers; Smith and Amour, triple bars, and the big song and dance, introducing the nigger band. We are in our car and everything is pleasant. We make a great parade with our fine band, thirty-five people, horses, etc., pink silk hats, knife juggiers, baton and gun throwers.

JOHN WILSON, of Wilson and Waring, writes us from London, England: "We have just closed our fifth engagement at the Palace Theatre, London, making in all forty-four weeks. We have been in England one year and four months, and out of that time we have played the above weeks at the Palace, which is a record breaker. We open in Brighton Oct. 31, then the Moss & Thornton tour until May, 1899, and will then return to the Palace for three months."

IKE ROSE, manager of Saharet, the Australian dancer, writes THE CLIPPER from Paris, under date of Oct. 28, as follows: "Saharet closed one of the most successful engagements of her life at the Folies Bergere Theatre, Sunday, 30, and proceeded to the Wintergarten, Berlin, to open Nov. 1, where she makes her appearance on the same bill with Amelia Stone, formerly of Hoyt & McKee's Co., who is a big favorite in England. She is doing exactly the same performance as she did in America with Rice & Evans' "French Maid" Co. and at the Palace Theatre in London. Her entire success is the neat way she does her dance, without being vulgar. The following American performers open at the Folies Bergere when we leave: Charmion, Fred H. Leslie and his dog show, Ritchie, the tramp bicyclist, and the Baggesens. On Saturday, 22, Saharet danced before the United States Fair Commissioner Peck and associates at The Journal office, and the following night before the Duchess Duzey at her magnificent mansion."

RICE & BARTON'S BIG GAIETY Co. followed Peace Jubilee Week at Jermon's Lyceum, Philadelphia, and, contrary to general expectation, did not suffer from the usual reaction, for they opened to very large business, which continued throughout the week, averaging a total equal to last season's pleasurable and profitable business. A return date for this season has been effected.

GIBBONS AND BARRETT have joined Ed. F. Rush's forces.

ALFRED ANDERSON, late of Arthur Deming's Minstrels, has joined the Beach & Bowers Minstrels for the rest of the season.

JOHN R. NALON was one of the invited guests at the concert and ball given by Dewey Council, No. 1, U. S. Indemnity Society, Nov. 1, at Lowell, Mass.

TONY ASHTON with his performing dogs are booked in Heck's Wonder World, Cincinnati, O., week of Nov. 7, and at the Capital City Museum, Columbus, O., for opening week, Nov. 14.

PROF. LEVINA, on account of change of management at the Nickelodeon Museum, Boston, has closed an eight weeks' engagement, where he has filled the position of lecturer and also doing his magic acts.

YOUNG, SELLS AND HOWARD gave a farewell supper to Mulvey and Inman and Cawthorn and Forrest, of the Orpheum Co., on their departure from Los Angeles, Cal.

THE KNICKERBOCKERS have just closed a week at Scranton, Pa., where they were warmly welcomed by old friends. On Tuesday evening the entire company were guests of the Scranton Elks at a social session, and a most enjoyable affair it was. There have been several new specialties and musical numbers introduced in the burlesque, which seems to please the public, judging by the laughter and applause which greet us nightly. The coming week we will be at Waldmann's Opera House, Newark, N. J., Louis Roble's own stronghold.

BILLY HILL and Louise Edmunds, who have been playing the Western houses, have closed engagements at Trocadero Theatre, Omaha, Neb.; J. T. R. Clark's Pavilion, Kansas City; Wagner's Theatre, St. Joe, Mo., and Wirth's Theatre, Omaha, Neb.

MAY ELLSWORTH, who has been so very low, owing to a severe operation she had performed while playing at the Exposition, Omaha, Neb., is slowly recovering.

THE TWO FANTAS were at the Gaiety Theatre, Troy, N. Y., week of Oct. 31, with Ed. Rush's Gay Girls of Gotham Co., and are this week at the Star Theatre, Hamilton, Can.

BELLA DOYLE has joined hands with her sister and Mr. Herbert, and will now be known as Bella Redmond.

BRAM AND SMITH have signed for a special engagement with Schneerer's Hungarian Knabben Kappella.

THE ARMSTRONG BROS. are this week at the Bijou Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa.

BURTO is this week at Bradenburgh's, Philadelphia, with Harris', Pittsburg, and Girard's, Buffalo, to follow.

WM. LYTELL and Gertie Reynolds, the features with "Gayest Manhattan," were recently married.

HIGGINS BROS. are closing the show with Weeks' American Minstrels.

DALE AND DARE play the Avenue Theatre, Pittsburg, Pa., this week.

MONS. MATHIEU has closed eleven weeks over the Western circuits and will continue four weeks more.

MRS. EVA LA REANE, of the La Reanes, gave birth to a daughter Nov. 3, in Peoria, Ill.

WILLIAMSON AND STONE join the Bowery Burlesquers Nov. 14, for the remainder of the season. They state that they have lost but three weeks since coming East.

OSCAR DARE appeared for the first time in New York at the Third Avenue Theatre, week of Oct. 31-Nov. 5, impersonating the great actors. This week he is filling time at local houses and opens Nov. 14 at the Howard Anthenæum, Boston, Mass.

TEED AND ALLEN have closed with French's Sensation No. 1, after a three months' engagement, on account of Miss Allen having malarial fever.

JACK NORWORTH was one of forty performers who played the Tobacco Fair at Winston, N. C., Nov. 2-5.

MORELAND, THOMPSON AND ROBERTS only played two weeks of their three weeks' engagement at the Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., owing to the house closing for repairs, but receiving every cent of their salary for the three weeks. They write: "We cannot speak too highly of our treatment by the Alhambra Theatre Co. and its manager. We are now playing a four weeks' engagement at Los Angeles, Cal., and return East Dec. 5 to fill Winter engagements."

BAKER AND FONDA are playing an extended engagement on the Pacific coast.

NELLIE ELY is doing her specialty with Irwin's Venetian Burlesquers.

C. B. WATSON and Billy Wolford have joined hands and opened at the Auditorium Theatre, Peoria, Ill.

BILLY AND TILLIE DEWITT have formed a partnership with Paul La Drew, and they will work together hereafter.

JUDSON'S COMEDIANS report excellent business through New York State. The company numbers twenty people, with a band and orchestra. Will F. Judson, is proprietor; Chas. Edwards, business manager, and Fred Bosworth, treasurer.

FRED'K ESTERBROOK has joined hands with the Gardner Brothers, opening on the Keith circuit at Providence, R. I., and joining the Rice & Barton Rose Hill Company for the rest of the season, at Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 28.

HARRY N. FARREN, agent of John L. Sullivan Co., writes: "I am up in Indiana, and right ahead of me is a man named King, who represents himself as an agent of Barlow Bros.' Minstrels, and the way he is doing the towns only goes to show how a grafter can work some one night stands. He goes into a town, looks up manager and transfer company, then makes contracts. He finds a typewriter to write contract, then goes the rounds for a hurry touch. In Michigan City a hotel clerk suffered to the tune of $5 and a new umbrella; baggage man a new hat. He is still at work on the circuit."

MANAGER GEO. H. HARRIS of May Howard's Company writes THE CLIPPER: "The show is doing a good business. We have added a number of new people and features, including "The Wedding of the Chinee and the Coon," with real Chinamen, introducing the Chinese cake walk. Miss Howard is always busy putting new things in her show, and is well repaid for her energy, as the business increases at every performance. She is a hard worker, and deserves great credit for the manner in which she manages her stage, even to the slightest detail."

THE SISTERS LEVY are filling engagements in England. Their portraits are presented on the front page of a recent issue of an English music hall publication.

JOHN A. WEST is filling a season's engagement with "The Spooners," doing his musical specialty between acts.

BURT MARION has met with favor since working with his wife, Sadie Dean Marion.

THE MORELLO TROUPE

Consists of William Morello, acrobatic clown; Ida Morello, the sensational and clever swinging wire performer; Bob Morello, one of the best somersault dogs in the country, and Pete Morello, one of the best bag punchers and football players in the business. This troupe has been playing with success from Boston to California. Their act presents a striking series of sensational events. Mrs. Morello is possessed of a most attractive presence.

JAMES VALDARE, of the Valdares, expert bicyclists, writes from Paris, Fr., under date of Oct. 24, as follows: "The season of 1898-99 is in full swing in the Parisian theatres and music halls. All the Summer theatres and gardens are now closed, after a very bad season indeed. The 'war,' of course, was the cause of it—so they say here. The regular music halls now open have nothing to complain of, as their business up to the present has been something extraordinary. The Folies-Bergere has had to add another matinee, making two during each week, Thursday and Sunday, to meet the demand. Loie Fuller is the star attraction at the above house, with the American biograph and Saharet a close seconds. The pictures put on by the biograph, especially those showing views of the Spanish-American War and the wreck of the Maine, bring the house down; in fact, I doubt if they are received with any more applause in America. Saharat, the dancer, has caught the French public, and has made about the best hit that has ever fell to her lot. She has booked nearly all the leading establishments on the continent, and is also engaged for three months at the Winter Gardens, Berlin, where she goes for the months of November and December, and then comes back to Paris for three months in 1900. The Ben Dunham Troupe, who were at Ronnachers, Vienna, for the month of October, play the New Central Theatre, Dresden, during November. Among the attractions coming to the Folies-Bergere during November are: Fred Leslie and his leaping dogs, the Baggesens, and W. E. Ritchie, tramp 'cyclist, all of whom are at present at the Winter Gardens, Berlin. We are having rather warm 'times' here in Paris just at present over the East African affair 'Fashoda.' It looks as though neither France or England can step down without a stain on what they cherish so much, 'honor.' This morning it looked as though nothing would satisfy the people in the big cafes and all along the boulevards but 'fight.' I hope it will all cool off and be peaceably settled before this reaches you. The weather has been beautiful these past two months, and Paris has been at her best. Great preparations are being made for the coming Exhibition in 1900. Magnificent buildings are going up everywhere, and from what can be seen at present of the Exhibition grounds, it looks as though, when finished, it will be the grandest affair of the kind ever attempted. We sail for home on Nov. 2, from Southampton. We will have been away just two years, and I can assure you it has been two years of pleasure. We open Nov. 14 at Keith's Union Square Theatre, N. Y. City, with the Keith circuit to follow. We then go West for twelve weeks, after which we return to London for two months. Curtis and Gordon are this month in Hamburg. They were a big success here, and have repeated it in Germany. Alburtus and Bartram opened last month at the Crystal Palace, Leipsig. They are now in Frankfort-on-the-Main. Rawson and June have been on the continent for the past three months. At present they are playing in Brussels. The Gotham Comedy Quartet just closed a twelve weeks' engagement in London, and open their first continental engagement tonight at the Alcazar Theatre, Brussels. Drummond Staley and Belle Birbeck made a big hit at the Palace Theatre, London. Binns and Binns have returned from a long Provincial tour and are now playing three halls nightly in London. They continue in London until February, when they go to Berlin for two months. Morris Cronin and Ed. Sillet are the features at the Richshallen Theatre, Cologne. There are a great many other American acts now playing in Germany, and from what I've heard they are all doing well."

WM. W. DUNBAR called Nov. 7 and informed us that he has taken the management of the Elm Garden Theatre, Danbury.

KENNO AND WAYNE open Nov. 7 at the New Wonderland, Fort Wayne, Ind., with the Wonderland, St. Joseph, Mo., and the Castle and Kohl circuit to follow.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—All conditions conspired to make last week one of the best of the season so far, the aggregate receipts being above that of any previous week of the season.

RAPLEY'S NATIONAL THEATRE had the Bostonians, in "The Serenade" and "Robin Hood," the week being divided between the two. The capacity of the house was reached by the first named, while from the latter crowds were turned away, repeating the triumphs of their many former engagements in the capital of the nation. This week William Gillette's adaptation of Bisson and Le Clerq's comedy, "Because She Loved Him So," under the direction of Charles Frohman. James K. Hackett, in "The Tree of Knowledge," Nov. 14-19.

LUCKETT & DWYER'S COLUMBIA THEATRE had Tim Murphy, in his new play, "The Carpetbagger." The popularity of the star among his home people, added to the merits of his company and his play, served to attract crowds which on most occasions tested the capacity of the house. This week, Frank Daniels, in "The Wizard of the Nile" and "The Idol's Eye." Chas. B. Hanford 14-19.

NIXON & ZIMMERMAN'S LAFAYETTE SQUARE THEATRE had the Strand Comedy Co., in "A Brace of Partridges," preceded by a curtain raiser, "Good Bye." The company was an excellent one and the plays good, but the business was not up to the average, so the week could not be called even fair from a financial point of view. This week Denman Thompson, in "The Old Homestead," is putting in his annual appearance with every prospect of good returns. "The Belle of New York" 14-19.

RAPLEY'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC had West's Minstrels last week in an excellent entertainment, and the house was packed all the week. This week the Smyth & Rice Comedians, in "My Friend from India." "Town Topics" 14-19.

KENNAN'S LYCEUM THEATRE had Golden, the magician, and a half score of other excellent specialty people last week, to good business. This week: J. K. Emmett and Anna Mortland, Johnny Carroll and Addie Crawford, Carrie Scott, Comedy Three and a wrestling bout between John J. Luskey and R. Roy Mackey, and the Bijou Burlesque Co., in "Scenes on the Bowery."

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls.—The Chicago Ladies' Orchestra plays for the benefit of a local fire company Nov. 7. "The White Squadron" will be here 8, and they will be followed by "Gilhooley's Reception" 10 and "Miss Francis of Yale" 12. The Warner Comedy Co. closed a week's engagement 5.....Fred Sanford and Dot Darlington, a specialty team, which has been with the Warner Co., close with this company 13. The team opens at the Trocadero, in Omaha, for the week of 14.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia.—In the way of business the past week was entirely satisfactory to the various managers. Although the houses were not crowded, each night found them well filled, and the margin of profit was of a gratifying size. A novelty this week is an opera new to the city and introducing a new star. In the near future three new plays are to be given their first productions, this city having the distinction of the first view, as will be noted below.

BROAD STREET THEATRE.—The annual engagement of the Bostonians is always an event of interest, and this week will no doubt see large audiences assembled to witness their performance of "The Serenade." "The Conquerors" ended an engagement last Saturday night, having played for two weeks to large business. Next week Sol Smith Russell begins a fortnight's engagement, presenting the first week "Uncle Dick," and during the second week the first production on any stage of "Hon. John Grigsby," by Charles Klein, will be made.

CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—This is the last week of William H. Crane, in "A Virginia Courtship," at this house, and brings to a close a very successful engagement. The attendance last week was excellent. Next week "The Sign of the Cross" begins a fortnight's engagement.

CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—A new star in a new opera is the offering this week, Alice Nielson being the star, and "The Fortune Teller" the vehicle for the display of her abilities. The engagement is for two weeks, and should arouse considerable interest. "A Stranger in New York" closed its fortnight's engagement with the end of last week with a fair balance to the good. The next attraction will be James K. Hackett, in "Rupert of Hentzau," its first production in this country, opening Monday, 21.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—The current week is announced to end the engagement of "Way Down East," which has been drawing filled houses since the opening, last week being no exception. Next week the new Casino extravaganza, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," with Edna Wallace-Hopper, Thomas Q. Seabrooke and Walter Jones in the cast, begins an engagement.

PARK THEATRE.—The stock company this week appears in "Lady Clancarty." The well balanced performances of "Divorcons" last week attracted good sized audiences, and the stock continued to give satisfaction to the patrons. Eugenie Blair, William Bramwell and their able assistants deserve much credit for their efforts.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The production of "La Boheme" in English has been shelved, and this week the opera company appears in "Fra Diavolo" the last half of the week, and "Maritana" the first three performances in the evening and at the Wednesday matinee. The two grand operas, "Il Trovatore" and "Rigoletto," were capably rendered last week, and pleased the patrons, who kept the house well filled. Signor Del Puente was enthusiastically received in his excellent performance of the unfortunate jester in "Rigoletto." The opera announced for next week is "Rip Van Winkle."

NATIONAL THEATRE.—Augustus Pitou's production of "Cumberland '61" is the current attraction at this house. The production of "John Martin's Secret" was an entire success last week. The patrons of the house were out in force, and bestowed liberal applause on the players, and showed intense interest in the stirring situations. For the coming week "On Land and Sea" is announced.

FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE.—By arrangement with Daniel Frohman, George Learock, Carrie Radcliffe and the other members of the stock appear this week in "The Maister of Woodbarrow." "Brother for Brother" was given capital presentation last week, the play being made interesting by the cleverness of the players. Audiences of a size to crowd the house were in attendance and bestowed praise on the members of the company individually and collectively. The stock company will be off next week, and Elmer Grandin and Eva Mountford will present "The Secret Enemy."

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—The current attraction at this house is "A Spring Chicken," which was seen at a downtown house earlier in the season. "My Friend from India" had satisfactory attendance last week. Next week, "Across the Continent."

GIRARD AVENUE THEATRE.—"The Octoroon" is presented this week, with George R. Edeson as Salem Scudder, Joseph Kilgour as Wah-No-Tee, Valerie Bergere as Zoe and the other members of the stock company suitably cast. The work of the company in Hazel Kirke at last week was worthy of commendation. Each character was well sustained and there was a noticeable uniformity of effort, which showed how well the individuals worked together. Business was splendid. "Brother John" is in rehearsal for next week.

STANDARD THEATRE.—"The Fire Patrol" is the drama this week, and with the specialties introduced between the acts makes an entertainment exactly suited to the patrons.

KEITH'S.—Business last week was splendid, though it did not touch Jubilee week, which is credited with being the biggest six days in the history of the house. For the current week the bill includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ellis, in "An Artist's Dilemma." Three Macarte Sisters, Mason and Forbes, Joe Flynn, Metweef Troupe, John E. Camp, Charles G. Kilpatrick, Frey and Fields, Fred Niblo, Hill and Hill, John LeClair, Hale Sisters, the Ventinis, Armstrong Brothers, the Dwyers and the biograph.

AUDITORIUM.—Weber & Fields' "The Con Curers" is the attraction for the present week, and the list of those in the bill gives assurance of excellent entertainment. The Vaudeville Club provided plenty of amusement last week, and that the offering was appreciated was shown by the size of the houses. Next week, Weber & Fields' "The Glad Hand."

ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE.—The same bill is continued this week, and includes the three burlesques, "Bargain Store Restaurant," "Chestnut Hill Burglars" and "The Peace Jubilee Parade." These burlesques all hit off subjects of local interest at the present time, and they made an instantaneous success. The house was crowded every night last week, and the audiences were kept thoroughly amused during the entire evening.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The Australian Beauties Burlesque Co., headed by the Baroness Blanc, and presenting "The Typewriter's Wedding Day" and "The Duke of Monte Carlo," is the present week's offering at this house. Last week the patrons were amused by Rice & Barton's Big Gaiety Co., and that they appreciated the entertainment was shown by the way they crowded the house. Next week, Flynn's Big Sensation.

TROCADERO.—Manager Lannan this week offers his patrons "Zero," with the assurance that it is just the thing they want. Crowded houses greeted Fred Rider's Moulin Rouge last week, and the delight of the audiences was displayed in the liberality of applause. Next week's entertainment will be provided by Al. Reeves' Big Show.

KENSINGTON THEATRE.—For this week this house has the Merry Maidens, which has already visited the city and proved itself satisfactory. Last week the patrons were well entertained by Reilly & Wood's Big Show, and they were out in force to witness the performances. The announcement for next week is the City Sports.

NEW AND ARCH MUSEUM.—Business continues to be large at this popular museum, the people appreciating the great number of novelties they can see for a moderate sum. The features in the curio hall this week are Baby Kathleen, the child with the wonderful memory; the Harrisons, mesmerists; Del Bartineo, fire fiend; Hewes, the white Yogi; Mlle. Grace's performing cockatoos; Mme. Claire, cabinet mystery; Orlah, the new Sphinx, and Prof. Carlisle and George Carson's Wild West. In the theatre are Burto, Tony and Flo Vernon, Tegge and Daniel, Nellie Nichols, Del Rios, Boyd and Flynn, Lee Ingham, Kelly and St. Clair, and the cineograph.

NOTES.—All the theatres have made arrangements to read the election returns from the stage on Tuesday night, and the Lyceum and Trocadero Theatres will each have a special midnight performance.....Three new productions of interest are to occur in this city, as follows: James K. Hackett will present "Rupert of Hentzau" at the Chestnut Street Theatre, Nov. 21; Sol Smith Russell will appear in "Hon. Charles Grigsby" at the Broad on the same date, and E. H. Brady for a night, and afterwards by Howard Kyle, who came on from New York for the purpose.....Henry Gordon Thunder announces that the Thunder Symphony Orchestra will again be heard in a series of symphony concerts at Musical Fund Hall on Friday afternoons, beginning next week. These concerts last season were one of the features of the musical season, and though not financially profitable, they resulted in much good from a musical point of view.....The Kneisel String Quartette will give a series of concerts in the Witherspoon Building on the Monday afternoons of Nov. 14, Dec. 19, Jan. 23, Feb. 27 and March 27.

Harrisburg.—A lively political campaign, mass meetings and preparations for the removal South of the soldiers had its effect on business the past week.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Agnes Herndon Co. opened last week to big business, and closed with a fair showing. The company made a hit artistically. They struck a week when everybody seemed to be waiting for a pay day. This fact being considered the company made a good all around record here. The coming attractions include Jesse Mae Hall 7, 8, farewell concert by the second Tennessee Regiment Band 9, "Two Old Cronies" 10, Washburn's Minstrels 11 and 12.

NOTES.—Manager Nathan Appell has returned from a visit to New York, where he began negotiations for a big attraction for next Summer, which he will announce in the near future, and which will be added to the numerous enterprises controlled by Messrs. Markley & Appell. Good business is reported on the latter's circuit. Ed. Young, who controls the Mountain City Theatre, Altoona, is now in charge of the Pottsville Academy of Music, one of Markley & Appell's theatres.....The King Dramatic Co. is doing the banner business everywhere, and return dates are requested by most of the local managers. Harry De Leon, the advance representative of this organization, was here 6 and was given a royal reception, and tendered a "set out" by his friends in honor of the 18th anniversary of his career as a professional man. His company appears here Thanksgiving week.....Slayton's Jubilee Singers, of Chicago, passed through the city during the week, en route from Carlisle to Reading. Joe A. Hagerman, an old favorite here, renewed acquaintanceship. A new member is Miss Pearl Amos, who has just made her debut as an original delineator of coon songs.....De Forest Gordon and wife have joined the Chippewa Medicine Co., and are introducing a special act.....Dr. C. O. Spangler has opened his medicine show at Union Bridge, Maryland, and is enjoying his old time prosperity.....Warren Harper has joined the chorus of an Eastern opera company.....Will Nankeville writes to his friends here that he is on the top wave of success with his "Human Hearts."....Edward Barton is with the Tommy Shearer Co. at Mt. Carmel this week.....Fred Chauncey, of this city, has been made stage manager of the Burrell Comedy Co.....The dropping of the leaves brings the circus contingent back to home life again, and many of the local boys have resumed Winter occupation in this city.....Billy Westlake has shipped his museum outfit from Camp Meade to Baltimore.....Ed. Ahl will open with a minstrel show at Mill Shoals, Ill. .....Ed. Dangerfield, of the local Opera House advertising forces, is trap drummer in the orchestra, Harry Radabaugh having accepted a position in the revenue department.....W. Morrow-Tait booked his protege Chester Smith, the trick bicycle rider, with Welsh Bros.' Minstrels.....Danny Mann and George A. Tewyleton's High Class Vaudeville Stars report good business throughout the State.....Edmund Burroughs is winning new laurels with the King Dramatic Company.....Ida Henry has joined the Gay Girls of Greater New York.....F. F. Cleckner, the popular business manager of the King Dramatic Company, will be accorded a warm reception when his organization reaches this city, his home. He is looking after special scenery for the production of "The Two Orphans," by his company.....The June Reed Concert Company, under the management of Grant Helt, is on the Brockaway Lecture Bureau circuit, and is booked solid until April 1.

Pittsburg.—Business at several of our houses was very large last week.

ALVIN THEATRE.—"The Highwayman" is being sung this week by the Broadway Opera Co. for the first time here. Jas. K. Hackett, in "The Tree of Knowledge," established himself as a favorite last week. Modjeska comes 14.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"Two Little Vagrants" this week. "Lost in Siberia" closed Nov. 5. Weber & Fields' "Pousse Cafe" 14, for the first time here.

NEW GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—An elaborate production of Nat Goodwin's "Nominee" is the principal feature, and specialties are given by Maud Beall Price, Sadi Sawtelle, and Anderson and Stockton. "Alabama" turned many away last week, standing room only being announced at every performance.

DUQUESNE THEATRE.—"McFadden's Row of Flats" 7 and week. "The Prisoner of Zenda" packed the house at every performance last week. Willis Page was warmly welcomed by his many friends here. "A Hot Old Time" comes 14.

EAST END THEATRE.—"May Blossom" will bloom throughout the current week. "Nancy & Co." did an immense business up to 5.

AVENUE THEATRE.—To make up the current vaudeville bill Gus Williams, Press Eldridge, Morello Troupe, Tom Hefron, Hart Bros., Harry C. Stanley and Adele Jackson, Dan O'Brien and Nettie Collins, Drawee and Sadi put forth their best efforts.

HARRIS' MUSEE THEATRE.—The Black Charmion, in her disrobing act; the Fat Female Bicycle Riders, and Bostock's bevy lions are the principal features. Business continues very large.

HARRY WILLIAMS' ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Vanity Fair" took the stage 7 for a a six night's stay. "The Gay Masqueraders" closed a tremendous week's business 5.

NOTES.—Jim Reynolds, long a favorite here, has joined the stock company at the East End Theatre.....W. N. Wadsworth scored a big hit at the Grand last week as the Squire in "Alabama."....Cora Tanner is soon to appear in vaudeville at the Avenue.....Grayce Scott, the ingenue of the Grand Stock Co., has just recovered from a severe illness, and will be seen in "The Nominee" this week.....John T. Hanson, who is playing in "McFadden's Row of Flats" at the Duquesne this week, is a Pittsburg boy, and his many friends are giving him an ovation. Berenice Castello, a charming little lady, gave an entertainment at Carnegie Hall, Allegheny, 6, and proved herself one of the most delightful and versatile performers ever seen here. She gave the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet," personating Romeo, Juliet and the nurse, making rapid changes of costume, voice and manner.

Altoona.—At the Eleventh Avenue Opera House no theatrical attractions appeared during the week of Oct. 31. The lectures by Sam Jones 2, and Byron King 3, drew large audiences. The house was occupied 5 by a political meeting. Agnes Herndon's Co. is billed for Nov. 7 and week, "Remember the Maine" 14, Huntley Jackson's Stock Co. 15-17, Al. W. Martin's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. 18, 19.

NEW MOUNTAIN THEATRE.—Rose Sydell's London Bells packed the house at every performance 3-5. The Monte Carlo Girls are booked 7-9 and the Merry Maidens 24-26.

Scranton.—At the Lyceum Eddie C. Bald, Nov. 8, in "A Twig of Laurel;" Chas. B. Hanford 9, Frohman's Co., in "Because She Loved Him So," 4, 5, came to large and delighted houses.

ACADEMY.—The Elroy Stock Co. week of 7. The Waite Stock Co., with Annie Louise Ames, last week, came to large houses. Manager Harry Yeager was accorded a hearty welcome by his many friends at home.

GAIETY.—The City Sports Big Co., week of 7. The Knickerbockers were well received last week.

Easton.—At the Able Opera House, Oct. 31-Nov. 5, the King Dramatic Co. came to good business all week. Coming: "A Hired Girl" 8, "Town Topics" 11, "Cumberland, '61" 16, "The Heart of Maryland" 19.

WONDERLAND.—"The Gay Girls of Greater New York" played to fair business Oct. 31-Nov. 2; "Miss New York Jr." 7-9, Dave Marion's Big Extravaganza Co. 10-12.

Lancaster.—At the Fulton Opera House "Gettysburg" was presented to a good house Oct. 31. Katie Rooney, in "The Girl from Ireland," was well received Nov. 1. "His Better Half" had good business 2. "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" did well 5. Milton Aborn's New England Opera Co. will occupy the house 7-12.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—The popular price houses had a good business last week, for the weather was excellent and attractions satisfactory. Of the other two theatres the Century alone did much business, and that only fair in spite of Gillette's popularity here. The horse show, when it hurts theatrical business at all, injures the two higher houses, but this year the competition of the horse show was little felt.

OLYMPIC.—Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon were at the Olympic last week, in "The Moth and the Flame." The attendance was pretty slim. This week Roland Reed is presenting "The Voyagers" and "The Woman Hater."

CENTURY.—The business at the Century, thanks to the undoubted merits of the attraction—Wm. Gillette, in "Secret Service"—was fairly good, although not what the offering warranted. The production was identical with that of last season. This week the International Grand Opera Co. and Mme. De Vere are presenting a range of operas from "Carmen" to "Cavalleria." Next week Chas. Coghlan and "The Royal Box" will be here again.

COLUMBIA.—A right clever bill drew good houses last week, the leading attraction being Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew in the sketch, "When Two Hearts Are Won." The rest of the bill included the Casino Comedy Four (Billy Danst, Will B. Mitchell, Joe Palmer and Frank E. Mitchell), Sadi Alfarabi, gymnast; the Tow-zoon-in Arabs and Favor and Sinclair.

HAVLIN'S.—"A Guilty Mother" rehearsed her horrid crimes seven evenings and three matinees last week. The action was lively and storms and murders, assisted by extensive scenic apparatus, gave the audience their money's worth. This week, 'Chattanooga" is on.

IMPERIAL.—The Imperial kept up its lead last week and presented "Frou Frou" in a manner that pleased big houses every night. Miss Seligman, as Frou Frou, gave a magnificent production. Lawrence Hanley was cast as Sartorys, but at the last moment, on account of his illness, Frank Losee was obliged to take the part. Edmund D. Lyman appeared as Baron Cambri. This week the offering is "Carmen." Next week, "The Silver King."

GRAND.—The production of "The Private Secretary" by the stock company was very fair, the principal merit being the ludicrous work of Gus Weinburg. The stock company is not very well balanced and needs a leading man badly. The vaudeville was clever, consisting of the Carl Damman Troupe, Delaur and Debrimont, Patrice and the biograph. Attendance was good as always at the Grand. This week the bulk of the entertainment is furnished by Hydels Comedians, featuring Helene Mora. The other well known performers are McIntyre and Heath, Hayes and Lytton, Montgomery and Stone, Reno and Richards, Lafayette, Cornfield and Callahan, and the Goolmans. The stock company present "Lend Me Five Shillings."

STANDARD.—The Tammany Tigers were in operation last week, presenting a sketch famous for its wit and pathos, entitled "The Belles of the Tenderloin," and also the classic piece "Hotel Girley Girley." The vaudeville people who lent their personalities to the production were W. Williams, Silvani and Erie, Mme. Flora, Chapelle Sisters, La Belle Parsons and Hilda Hawthorne.

NEWS.—Lawrence Hanley was ill last week and withdrew from the Imperial cast. He has resumed work again.....In Gillette's Company at the Century last week was a St. Louis girl, Sara Parry.....Edward Corrigan is no longer connected with the Grand Stock Co. ..... The public voting contest of the Exposition for the most popular theatre resulted in the selection of the Imperial. The verdict, judging by their season's work, was not so very far out of the way.....Another St. Louis girl who has attained prominence on the stage is May Lambert. Her friends here wish her great success. She is connected with Frohman's "On and Off" Co..... Again rumore are agitating the town of what Col. Hopkins is going to do to regain his hold here. So far the gossips have sold every theatre in town to him at different times except the Olympic. But authentic news is not available.

Kansas City.—At the Coates Opera House Sousa and his band gave two concerts Oct. 30, to packed houses. Never have more enthusiastic audiences gathered in this theatre. Sousa responded generously, and his encores outnumbered the original programme. He played a new march, entitled "Margery," which was composed by Chas. N. Daniels, a clever local musician. It was received with tremendous applause. On Nov. 3-5 Roland Reed appeared in his new comedy, by Madeline Lucette Riley, entitled, "The Voyagers." Mr. Reed and Miss Rush both did their usual good work. On the opening night Mr. Reed made a curtain speech. This week, Kelcey and Shannon, in "The Moth and the Flame," the first three nights, and Julia Marlowe, in "The Countess Valeska," comes the last three nights. Next week, the International Company for three nights.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week the Herrmanns gave their usual good entertainment to appreciative audiences. This week "What Happened to Jones" will be with us once more, and it will probably repeat its last season's success. The week following "Tennessee's Pardner" comes.

ORPHEUM.—The same old cry of big houses is still to be heard here. Last week's bill was especially strong in musical features. Ahern and Patrick opened the show with "The Copper and the Kid," billed as an Irish rag time opera. Their turn has been much improved and goes with a rush. They were a big hit with the audiences. The Raymond Trio did a very good musical act. Howard and Bland, as "The Rube and the Kid," had a good comedy act. Hugh Emmett proved to be a versatile ventriloquist. The Tiny Paolis, in an acrobatic act; the Anglo-American Quartette, in splendid harmony; the Sankey Bros., high pedestal gymnasts; Corinne, in her songs and mandolin playing, and last, but not least, Horwits and Bowers, in their familiar travesty, made up a good bill. This week's roster is Les Freres Carpas, Cawthorn and Forrester, the Geo. H. Adams Troupe, Belle Davis, Bennetto and Ray Burton, Le Roy and Morris, and Kimball and Donavan.

GILLIS OPERA HOUSE.—"Heart of the Klondyke" opened to a big Sunday matinee turned people away Sunday night and had good business the rest of the week. It is a good melodrama. Exceptionally good work was done by Lottie Williams in the role of Olga. She received warm praise from audiences and press for her clever work. This week the Gay Rhea Co., in repertory, comes. Next week, the popular "Human Hearts."

NEWMARKET.—Tom Fey, Alice Welles, Dollie Vernon and stock.

CLIPPERINGS.—Hagenback's entire menagerie has moved here and will remain all through the Winter. The Armory has been secured and the name will be changed to the Zoo. Daily performances will be given. .....A. L. Strode, lobby director of the Orpheum, has purchased an interest in the Hasty Messenger Service Co. as a side issue.....S. Goodfriend, popularly known as "Goody," was here in the interests of the Kelcey-Shannon Co., and Bruce Edwards was in town for the Julia Marlowe Co.....The Orpheum circuit have secured the Creighton, in Omaha, and will add it to their chain.....Martin Beck, the Orpheum representative at Chicago, paid Manager Lehman a visit last week.

Springfield.—At the Baldwin Theatre "Down in Dixie," Oct. 31, did fair business. Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" gave an excellent performance Nov. 1 to packed house. "Tennessee's Pardner" pleased a well filled house 3. Newton Beers, in "Lost in London," comes 9; Jewett, magician, 10.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit.—At the Detroit Opera House Wm. Morris and company present all this week "Under the Red Robe." Last week Henry Miller and his admirable company did not receive the patronage they deserved. "A Marriage of Convenience," "The Master" and "Heartsease" were the offerings, and they were thoroughly enjoyed by those who turned out to witness them. Coming: Sousa's latest opera, "The Bride Elect," Nov. 14-19; the Bostonians 21-26, in "The Serenade" and "Robin Hood."

LYCEUM THEATRE.—This week Black Patti. Last week Rogers Bros., in "A Reign of Error" drew immense audiences, even turning 'em away. The piece is an excellent vehicle to introduce these clever comedians. They are spicy creators of fun. Others in the cast entitled to mention are Maude Raymond, Ada Lewis, Georgia Caine, La Petite Adelaide, Bud Ross and Geo. F. Marion. Next week, "At Piney Ridge."

WHITNEY'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—This week, "A Grip of Steel." Last week "Under the Dome" was not as well liked as other shows seen here lately, and only fair business resulted. Next week, "Lost in Siberia."

CAPITOL SQUARE THEATRE.—This week the Butterfly Burlesquers. Last week Nina Diva's European Sensation Co. did not catch on with the "sporty element," and their reception was rather "frosty." The next attraction will be John L. Sullivan's Co., which will play here Thanksgiving week.

WONDERLAND THEATRE AND MUSEE.—Curio hall: Sig. Giovanni's trained birds. Theatre: The biograph and the following v

NEW YORK CITY.

Last Week's Events.—The principal happenings of the past week were: The presentation of a new play by Mr. Sothern, the reappearance of Julia Arthur and the opening of the regular season of the Irving Place Theatre. Several other less important events will claim mention in their turn. The attendance was good all along the line, no one having any just reason to complain.....The continued attractions for the week ending Nov. 5 were: John Drew at the EMPIRE, E. H. Sothern at the LYCEUM, Viola Allen at the KNICKERBOCKER, Francis Wilson at the BROADWAY, Richard Mansfield at the GARDEN, Joseph Jefferson at the FIFTH AVENUE, Annie Russell at the GARRICK, "On and Off" at the MADISON SQUARE, "The Turtle" at the MANHATTAN, "Hotel Topsy Turvy" at the HERALD SQUARE, "Sporting Life" at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, the Castle Square Opera Co. at the AMERICAN, the stock companies at the MURRAY HILL, THIRD AVENUE and COLUMBUS, "Hurly Burly" at WEBER & FIELDS', "The Runaway Girl" at DALY'S, "The Belle of New York" at the CASINO, and "The Marquis of Michigan" at the BIJOU, the two last named having closed on that date.....The one week stands closing Nov. 5 were: "A Celebrated Case" at the PEOPLE'S, Marie Wainwright at the STAR, "Tempest Tossed" at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE, "Yankee Doodle Dandy" at the HARLEM OPERA HOUSE, and "A Spring Chicken" at the METROPOLIS.....Variety entertainment was furnished at TONY PASTOR'S, the UNION SQUARE, PROCTOR'S, KOSTER & BIAL'S, the PLEASURE PALACE, the LONDON, SAM T. JACK'S, the OLYMPIC, the HARLEM MUSIC HALL and MINER'S BOWERY and EIGHTH AVENUE.....Performances in German were given at the IRVING PLACE and GERMANIA, and performances in Hebrew at the THALIA and WINDSOR.....At the LYCEUM THEATRE, on Oct. 31, E. H. Sothern presented, for the first time in this city, "A Colonial Girl," a play in three acts, by Grace Livingston Furniss and Abbey Sage Richardson. This was the first production of this play under the above title, for it was called "A Shilling's Worth" when Mr. Sothern presented it for the first time on any stage on Aug. 15 of the current year at the BROAD STREET THEATRE, Philadelphia, Pa. It is somewhat too sensational, but, nevertheless, has many pleasing features.....Julia Arthur began an engagement at WALLACK'S on Oct. 31, again presenting "A Lady of Quality," which she so successfully presented at this house early last season. In spite of strong counter attractions she was greeted by a large audience, and was accorded a hearty reception.....The regular season of the stock company at the IRVING PLACE THEATRE began Oct. 31, with the first presentation in this country, in the original German, of Franz Von Schoenthan's three act comedy, "Circus Leute" ("Circus People"). The consensus of opinion was unfavorable to the play, but the performance was highly praised....."Tempest Tossed," a melodrama, in four acts, by Walter Sanford, had its first metropolitan production at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE, on Oct. 31. This play, which is presented under the management of its author, had its first production on any stage, on Oct. 3, at Jacobs' Theatre, Newark, N. J....."Cyrano de Bergerac" was produced by the stock company at the THIRD AVENUE THEATRE, on Oct. 31, with Edward R. Mawson in the title role, Terese Deagle, as Roxane; Charles E. Inslee, as Christian; Richard Lyle, as Ragueneau, and Charles Leonard Fletcher as the Compte de Guiche. A creditable performance was given.....At the KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE, on the morning of Nov. 3, a special performance of "The Christian" was given to a large number of ministers and members of their families, invited guests of Hall Caine. What good purpose was expected to be furthered by this gathering, we have failed to discover. We can only indulge in conjecture, and as the result of such indulgence can do Mr. Caine no injustice or injury, except in the domain of our own thoughts, so long as it finds no verbal expression, we will in this case do our thinking in the privacy of that little realm to which no autocrat but the one regnant may enter. At the close of the fourth act of the play Mr. Caine addressed his guests and gave them his ideas concerning the evangelical mission of the playwright. No one disputed his views, but on the contrary they were applauded, and consequently the whole affair had much the character, or at least the seeming, of a love feast.....At WEBER & FIELDS', on Nov. 3, a burlesque on "Cyrano de Bergerac," entitled "Cyranose de Bric a-Bric," was presented as a part of the current production, "Hurly Burly." Further mention of this event will be found elsewhere in this issue.

PLEASURE PALACE.—Entertainment of a high class is Manager Proctor's motto, and this week the house will undoubtedly be packed to enjoy the good things provided. Election eve, Monday, Nov. 7, seemed to exert but a slight influence upon the audience, as the house was filled at an early hour to welcome Nellie McHenry in her vaudeville debut, which was markedly successful. In "Patchwork" Miss McHenry had a most valuable vehicle for exploiting herself. It afforded the popular comedienne innumerable opportunities for the display of her vivacity, sprightliness and generally bewitching qualities, which have put the stamp of approval upon her efforts in the past. Miss McHenry made a triumphant entree into the continuous house on this occasion. She had excellent aid in her venture from John Webster, Ed. Egleton, James Horan and Jessie Welburn. The more familiar vaudeville features were supplied by clever Al. Leach and the Three Rosebuds, a tuneful and jolly combination of entertainers; Lydia Dreams, a ventriloquist, reappeared and started on another tour of the Proctor circuit; Leo Dervalto, in his spiral globe ascension act, won hearty approval, closing his turn with shooting from a handsome rifle recently presented him; Hanley and Jarvis introduced their familiar sidewalk arguments; Adelman and Lowe manipulated the xylophones in an expert manner; the Clemons Sisters proved themselves accomplished duettists; Hill and Whittaker pleased as vocalists and musicians; Juno Salmo gave an exhibition of extraordinary balancing. Derenda and Breen juggled clubs in a manner to secure approval. Knoll and McNeill pleased with their cornet duets and solos. Louise Sanford charmed all with her singing. Leavitt and Nevelio, jugglers of no mean order, won applause, and the Lenton Brothers gave an exhibition of expert acrobatism. The wargraph, as usual, presented new and interesting views, and Fred Watson secured his customary reward at the piano. Marie Jansen is heavily underlined for next week, supported by a fine array of talent. Sunday's concerts attract a continuously packed auditorium.

HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM.—The even run of prosperity which this favorite resort enjoys is well merited and easily accounted for. The entertainments are always the best for the money in town, curio hall and stage displays being always carefully selected. For Nov. 7-12, in curio hall, Manager Andersen presents a good list. Francisco Lentine, the Italian three-legged boy, who made his first appearance last week, has been re-engaged. His three perfectly formed legs, all of which can be used in the ordinary way, make him a subject of peculiar interest. Besides this marvel, the curio hall will also contains the La Noles, in their breakaway ladder act; R. A. Studell, with his electrical exhibition; Prof. Hart and Mlle. Bessie, illusionist; Gypsy Joe, the rattlesnake king, with his den of slimy serpents; Prof. Dood and his dog, and Little Lotta, the educated baboon. In the theatre there will be an exceptionally interesting bill, made up of Ryan and Ryan, the Townsends, Moncrief and Meredith, the Gilmores, Ryan and Kenwick, John Murtha, Kitty Kirkham, James Van Cook, Nellie Daly and others.

SAM T. JACK'S THEATRE.—The continuation of programmes in which burlesque, vaudeville and living pictures are intermingled still draws highly profitable patronage to both the daily afternoon and evening performances. Manager Jack has engaged Mary Kellard for this week's feature. She is a young woman who gained much notoriety in the sensational journals and the courts a few years ago, both through her success in extracting $750,000 from an aged millionaire and her disposal of the same in works of charity. The burlesque, "A Warm Reception," is retained, the variety features including Hazel Terry, Fatima, Spencer and Anderson, and the Borani Brothers.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—E. H. Sothern entered on Nov. 7 upon the eleventh week and the last fortnight of his engagement. "A Colonial Girl," which he presented last week, and which will be his offering during the remainder of his stay, is likely to draw well and furnish satisfactory entertainment during the short time he will be with us. It has many pleasant features, and is worth seeing, although it does not rank among his best plays. On Tuesday, 22, the stock company of the house will begin its season with the presentation of "Trelawney of the Wells."

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—With the crush for admission noted at this favorite house afternoon and evening of Monday, Nov. 7, and the extra day of always big business which election annually brings forth, the current days have an excellent start towards great financial gains for the genial actor-manager who holds the reins and is guiding the house so successfully over the sea of continuous vaudeville. The topping feature of the bill is Harry Watson and Alice Hutchings, who, assisted by Comedian Ed. Edwards, give their ludicrous German comedy act its accustomed side splitting inning, the resulting applause telling a plain story of unfailing popularity. The patrons of this house invariably cordially welcome Cora Routt, and her present visit seems to add further to her standing. The line of songs which she presents suit her style admirably, and her success is complete and well deserved. Cook and Clinton's improved and always popular sharp shooting act rounds out for them their accustomed hit. If all the "new women" were equal to as many Spaniards as are these young ladies, the men of America would have no fear as to the outcome of the final session of the Paris Commission. The Pantzer Trio, with their clever contortion act, won their accustomed success. The Countess von Hatzfeldt offered a specialty which, although not quite as long as her name, was quite entertaining withal, and Clement, Marshall and Little Sunshine met applause in full accord with their efforts. Kilroy and Britton were applauded for their songs, Cyr and Hill won a renewal of favor by their vocalisms, and Letto and Della, the Fields, Marie Sousa, Barry and Bannon, and Silbor and Emerson contributed considerably to the entertainment. Will C. Mathews and Nellie Harris were welcomed as old friends, and scored their accustomed well deserved success, gracing a bill of much excellence. Their new act is an improvement.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.—The usual good business prevailed here afternoon and evening of Nov. 7, when an excellent programme was presented. Marie Jansen, so long and favorably known in comic opera and farce comedy, made her local debut on the continuous stage. She was as piquant and vivacious as of yore, and her songs were heartily received. Anne Sutherland and company, including Helma Hornmann, a fencing expert, presented the comedietta entitled "The Duel of Love," and found instant favor. James Thornton, in a pleasing monologue, was, as usual, a prime favorite. Willard Simms, assisted by Jennie Graham, were well liked in a sketch. The five Cornallas, a troupe of very clever acrobats, executed a number of difficult feats and won loud applause for their work. Hall and Staley proved to be entertaining comedians. Charles J. Stine and Ollie Evans were well liked in their sketch. Frencelli and Lewis, in operatic duets, found favor. Lewis and Daly danced themselves into the good graces of the audience. Others who pleased were: Gertie Cochran, mental prodigy; Florence Moore, soprano singer; Stirk and Anita, aerialists; the musical Ravens, with instrumental novelties; Harry Steel, burlesque roller skater, and Mlle. Stickney, on the slack wire. The bill was well rounded up by the wargraph with new views. The usual Sunday concert was given 6, when the following bill was offered: Maggie Cline, John W. Ransone, Francesca Redding, Foy and Clark, Stine and Evans, A. C. Lawrence, Nestor and Bennett, John H. Shepley, Deets and Don, Charlotte Ray, Fields and Salina, Cross and Holden, and the wargraph.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—"The Wheel of Fortune" is the title of another new production introduced to a downtown audience by Manager Sheldon Nov. 7. It is in four acts, and had its first production at Reading, Pa., Oct. 6, and its initial New York appearance was at the Metropolis Theatre. The plot is interesting, with the usual villain, who, in order to further his own ends, is kept busy getting his enemies out of the way, appearing as a murderer, a tyrant over workingmen, and a would be murderer on several occasions, only to be defeated in the end. The full story of the piece, which deals with an invention willed to a niece by a mechanic, appropriated by the villain, principally with several side issues, will appear in a later issue in detail. It kept up the interest, and there is comedy in plenty to vary the monotony of villainy pursuing innocence. Specialties are introduced also to good advantage. H. H. Horton appeared to good advantage as Emmet Dale, a typical farmer, and, later, as Tom Scott; Wm. L. Buchanan, in the villain's role as Harold Merriman, took good care of the same, and L. E. Corsness gained favor by his acting as Walter Lewis. W. J. Sully was a breezy Irishman as Patrick Murphy, and Gracie Beebe occasioned much merriment by her pranks as Willie Green, a mischievous boy. Adelia Ellerson played Ruth Dale; Hortense Dean, Grace Elliott; Mrs. J. Gough, Mrs. Wilson; Dora Ashton, Melinda Dale; Chas. Cooper, Joe S. Palding; Al. Allen, Swipsey; J. T. McEnary, Hans Dinkelspiel. The production is under the management of the Dittmar Brothers. W. L. Buchanan is stage director. The house was well filled Monday evening. Next week, "Tom Edson, the Electrician."

GARRICK THEATRE.—Annie Russell, in "Catherine," is now in the third week of her first metropolitan stellar engagement. She has much reason to be proud of her success, for the attendance has been uniformly large, and her engagement has been extended beyond the four weeks first allotted to her. Her supporting company is rendering her valuable aid. Three matinees will be given this week.

KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE.—Viola Allen began on Nov. 7 the fifth week of her engagement in "The Christian." She is still playing to record breaking receipts, but nevertheless will remain at this house but one more fortnight, as other engagements made by the house compel her abdication. She will then play one week in Brooklyn, and on Nov. 28 will come to the Garden Theatre, where she will remain indefinitely.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—John Drew is now in the seventh week of his successful engagement in Henry Arthur Jones' pleasing comedy, "The Liars," which in his hands is winning as much favor as it has gained in London through Charles Wyndham's production. An extra matinee on election day will give nine performances this week, as the Wednesday matinee will also be given.

GARDEN THEATRE.—Richard Mansfield is now in the sixth week of his engagement at this house. His splendid production of Rostand's fine poetical drama, "Cyrano de Bergerac," will make this visit memorable. Mr. Mansfield has but three more weeks to stay here, including the current week, and those who have not seen this play should lose no time in securing seats.

WALLACK'S.—Julia Arthur began on Nov. 7 the second week of her engagement, retaining as her offering "A Lady of Quality." The performances were well attended last week, but we fear that Miss Arthur is making a mistake in continuing her presentation of this play, and we will be glad to hear the announcement of a change of bill.

MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.—That very entertaining farce, "On and Off," now in the fourth week of its run at this house, is meeting with success proportionate to its merits. It is a clever play, which furnishes some pleasant surprises and which is thoroughly well acted by the local favorites who compose the company.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Jacob Litt's fine production, "Sporting Life," is now in its seventh week. It is still drawing well and is attracting many of that class of theatregoers that usually shun melodrama. This play appeals to them by reason of intrinsic merit, good acting and handsome mounting.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Francis Wilson, in "The Little Corporal," began on Nov. 7 the eighth and last week of his engagement. His new opera has proven a success and his stay has been very profitable. He will be followed 14 by Jefferson De Angelis, in "The Jolly Musketeer."

HERALD SQUARE THEATRE.—"Hotel Topsy Turvy" started on Nov. 7 upon the sixth week of its run. It has evidently found favor, for it seems to be reaping a satisfactory harvest.

FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE.—Chauncey Olcott began the second and last week of his engagement Nov. 7, continuing "Sweet Inniscara." On 14 there will be a revival of "The Village Postmaster."

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Bryant & Wilson's American Burlesquers, headed by Watson and Dupre, moved over from the Bowery Nov. 7 for a week's engagement, opening to a good house, and evidently pleasing all beholders.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Joseph Jefferson is suffering from a cold, which has prevented him from appearing since night of Nov. 3. He was to have put on "Rip Van Winkle" 7, but he was not sufficiently recovered; consequently, the house will be dark this week, and the revival of the old play will be made 14. Mr. Jefferson's illness is not serious.

CASINO.—This house was dark 7, and will so remain until night of Saturday, 12, when the new production, "A Dangerous Maid," will be seen.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE.—Election week is always counted on by the Keith management for extra good business, and the current term started off Monday afternoon and evening, Nov. 7, in a manner to warrant high hopes for a repetition of previous financial accomplishments. For the benefit of the citizen who voted early—and but once—the doors were opened Tuesday, 8, at 9 30 A. M., and the performance continued until the usual hour at night. Minnie Dupree, presenting a dramatic sketch, entitled "Too Happy by Half," is the advertising feature of the bill. Her reception was cordial, and her abilities as an entertainer, backed by her clever sketch, plainly proven. The American biograph continues the even tenor of its popular way, the coronation of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland being still the feature pictures. Kate Davis gave an original monologue entertainingly. Ray L. Royce won his usual hit through the medium of his clever monologue, and by virtue of his pronounced artistic ability. Falke and Semon gave their clever musical act to appreciative applause, and Giacinta Della Rocca continued into her second week still strong in popularity. Mlle. Cheater's dog act, the Three Schrode Brothers, acrobats, and Welby, Pearl, Keys and Neills, dancers, presented acts of more than ordinary merit, and received applause in full measure. Max Cincinnati, a European juggler, and the Crisandos, smoke and sand picturers, were strangers who proved their ability, and received merited applause. The Nondescript Trio, in black face comedy; Morell and Evans, in a comedy act, and Whitley and Bell, Dutch comedians, provoked laughter and applause with acts which rounded out a bill of excellent entertaining qualities. McBride and Goodrich, in a new act, won much applause.

WEBER & FIELDS' MUSIC HALL.—On Thursday, Nov. 3, the original second act of "Hurly Burly" was replaced by "Cyranose de Bric-a-Brac," which is described as "a prominent feature, amputated from the French, and disfigured without permission," by Harry B. Smith and Edgar Smith, the music of which is by John Stromberg. Of course it is taken from Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac," and is "another one of those things" which have served to make this house popular. It is in two scenes, and is the most pretentious work that has yet been presented on these boards. The scenery, costumes and general appointments are magnificent, and the new choruses by Mr. Stromberg are written in his usual happy style. The moonlight serenade is particularly worthy of praise, being one of the most attractive choruses heard on the local stage for many a day. The book has been fairly well handled by the Messrs. Smith, but was too long on the opening night, and was greatly lacking in the "snap" that is so characteristic of the productions at this house. The new work suffered in this respect in comparison with the bright first act of "Hurly Burly." The authors have woefully neglected comedy and wit in their zeal to faithfully caricature the characters in Rostand's play. The latter they have succeeded in doing, and the members of this clever company may succeed in infusing into the work sufficient brightness to bring it up to the standard of the merry productions at this resort. Lou Fields was excellent in the role of Cyranose de Bric-a-Brac, but his fun making opportunities were very limited. Joseph Weber, as Ragamuffin, fared better at the hands of the authors, and his work caused considerable laughter. Charles J. Ross, as Christmas de Newcadet; David Warfield, as Le Fret; Peter F. Dailey, as Count de Peach; John T. Kelly, as Captain Carbonic de Gossycon; Lee Harrison, as Sellrows; Fay Templeton, as Roxy, and Rose Beaumont, as Liz Ragamuffin, all made the most of their opportunities, which were not of the best. A travesty on "The Christian," entitled "The Heathen," was introduced, and proved to be entertaining. Mabel Fenton, as Gloria Hallelujah, gave an exaggerated imitation of Viola Allen's performance in Hall Caine's play, and won well deserved applause for her efforts. Mr. Ross, as John Sloppyweather, was also excellent, and John T. Kelly was very funny as Horatio Steak. "Hurly Burly" began its tenth merry week Nov. 7 with the usual full house. The "Cyranose" part of the burlesque has been considerably cut and brightened, and the performance is greatly improved. The olio included the Van Aukens, now in their third week and still popular, and Mlle. Olive, a dainty and clever juggler, who met with favor.

LONDON THEATRE.—Al. Reeves brought his mixed entertainment of white and colored performers to the Bowery for the first time this season Nov. 7, and their opening was marked by fairly well filled houses at the evening performance and matinee. A pretty first part has been arranged, entitled "Mr. Stubbs' Anniversary," in which the white folks entertain for a while in various disguises, to be replaced later by the darkey contingent, with happy results. Harry Emerson, John Jess, Ethel Cope, John B. Barton, Steve Mitchell, Omeaga and Susie Thatcher were in the white cast, augmented by Mattie Cope, Julia Ellwood, Miss Dixie, Clara Caldwell, Hattie Dixie, Bessie Boja and Birdie Ehard, and the colored portion was furnished by the Ben Hunn Quartette (Moore, Settle, Baker and De Lyons, Billy Wilson, King Sisters, Alice Gray, Beatrice Coates, Etta Settle and Grace Sissemore. The specialties are supplied by Dixie, rag time delineator; Mitchell and Jess, the Cope Sisters, singers; Barton and Ashley, cake walkers and sketchists, and Al. Reeves, with a batch of new songs and jokes. "Amer ca Hawaii" is the title of the spectacular burlesque which allows the entire company to disport themselves in a series of comical instances and pretty gatherings. "The Rag Time Boys in Blue," "The Henee Menee Dance," "The Nurse Girls," "The Toast," "The Rough Riders" and "Off to Cuba" were applauded and helped to bring the performance to a lively finish. Al. Reeves is sole proprietor; Harry Emerson is stage manager; Frank E. Freeman, representative; Oscar Liebernamm, leader; and Harry Rosseau, master of properties. Next week, Roeber & Crane Brothers' Co.

MURRAY HILL THEATRE.—The stock presented, on Nov. 7, "Camille," with Hannah May Ingham in the title role, and Robert Drouet as Armand. Miss Ingham found in this character a capital scope for her emotional powers, and the reception accorded her proved unmistakably that her rendering of the part gave entire satisfaction to her auditors. Armand received at Mr. Drouet's hands a careful interpretation, and the others of the cast contributed a large share toward the success of the production. Next week, "The Ironmaster." The cast: Armand Duval, Robert Drouet; Mons. Duval, E. T. Stetson; Gaston Rieux, Walter Allen; Count de Varville, Emmett C. King; Gustave, Charles D. Waldon; Messenger, Herbert O'Connor; Arthur, Edwin Nicander; Camille, Hannah May Ingham; Madame Prudence, Mrs. Thos. Barry; Nichette, Sandol Milliken; Nanine, Dorothy Donnelly; Olympe, Rose Beaudet.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—Sam Devere brought his aggregation to the Bowery and had a rousing reception from a big house Monday evening, Nov. 7. His songs and stories were effective as ever. The other specialties contributed by his excellent company, which was fully described in last week's issue, also received due recognition. The Brownings joined the show here, and their act proved an enjoyable addition to the show. Next week, the Moulin Rouge Co.

THIRD AVENUE THEATRE.—"The Streets of New York" is this week's offering, and it was well played by the stock company, Monday evening, Nov. 7. The Carrolls, black face performers; Ethel Vane, singer and dancer, and Allen and West, musical comedians, entertained between the acts.

JAMES VANCOOK, a cinematographe operator, was burned about the hands in a blaze which ruined the machine at Huber's Museum, Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6. The machine stood under the balcony, and the flames shot up, setting fire to the woodwork. A fair audience was in the theatre, and instantly there was a rush for the exits. Women screamed, and confusion reigned for a few minutes. Engine 13 is housed almost directly opposite the building in Thirteenth street, and the firemen were quickly on the scene. They broke down the doors on the Thirteenth street side, and the crowd was soon safe in the street.

MANAGER CONRIED, of the Irving Place Theatre, on Nov. 5 received from the Consul General of Austria-Hungary, in this city, the insignia and patent of the Order of Francis Joseph, conferred upon him by the Emperor in recognition of meritorious services in the German theatrical field. The cross is of gold, beautifully enameled, with the arms of the Austrian Empire. Surmounting the cross is a royal crown, and the whole is hung on a red ribbon. Mr. Conried received many congratulatory messages by telegraph and cable from managers of theatres throughout this country and Europe.

MANHATTAN THEATRE.—"The Turtle" is still an attractive magnet at this house, and large audiences rule. It began Nov. 7 the tenth week of its run.

STAR THEATRE.—"The Finish of Mr. Fresh" is a variety show. The first rendition of the olio was given at Butler's Grand Opera House, Washington, D. C., Oct. 25, the first local introduction being made Monday, Nov. 7, before a crowded house. Mr. Fresh gets married and tries to gain possession of his mother-in-law's property. Whether he does so or not is still a profound secret. That's the story of the play. Meantime specialties galore are presented, the leaders in the fun and the favorites with the audience being Al. Wilson and Geo. W. Day. Each made tremendous hits. Fanny Bloodgood did not make a hit with her specialty, but Chas. B. Ward was vigorously applauded. The Stewart Sisters giggled and smirked at their own jokes far more than did the audience. Their "walk around" specialty was much applauded, nevertheless. John T. Tierney made a hit with his Irish song and answered an encore with a very original conceit with the orchestra. John and Nellie McCarthy do not do their specialty. The audience was well entertained throughout, but the seeker after plot or problem will be disappointed in "The Finish of Mr. Fresh." The cast: Judge E. Z. Mark, Al. H. Wilson; U. R. Fresh, John T. Tierney; Major Minor and Morse Wire, Geo. W. Day; I. Tooker Sniffen, Frank Glenn; Pike Gish and Young Dock Weed, Harry Earle; Lawyer Hummelhowe, Thos. Ripley; Con. McCann, Tom Fiyn; Chuck, Chas. B. Ward; Musty Miller, John McCarthy; Mrs. Hawke, Anna Barclay; Cherry Pye, Belle Stewart; Ruby Hawke, Fanny Bloodgood; Mrs. E. Z. Mark, Nellie McCarthy; Phyllis Bloom, May Stewart; May June, Mabel Williams; Meta Mann, Kathryn Klare; Pearl Knott, May Montford. Next week, "My Friend from India."

AMERICAN THEATRE.—The Castle Square Opera Co., after four weeks of grand opera, returned Nov. 7 to lighter work for a week, Gilbert and Sullivan's two act comic opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," being the offering. The production was given in the usual excellent style of this able organization, and the large audience present made the house ring with plaudits as evidence of hearty approval. Frank Moulan, a new comer to this company here, sang the role of the Major General and acquitted himself with credit. Wm. G. Stewart was entrusted with the role of Richard, the pirate chief, and his work could not have been improved upon. Joseph F. Sheehan, as Frederic, sang with his usual excellence and won new friends by his efforts. Harry L. Chase once more proved his cleverness as Edward, sergeant of police. Adelaide Norwood filled the role of Mabel, and further endeared herself to the patrons of this house by her excellent singing. Lizzie Macnichol, as Ruth, was in high favor, as usual. The chorus and ensemble work was capital, and the opera was handsomely staged. The cast in full: Major-General Stanley, Frank Moulan; Richard, Wm. G. Stewart; Samuel, John Carrington; Frederic, Jos. F. Sheehan; Edward, Harry L. Chase; Mabel, Adelaide Norwood; Kate, Gertrude Quinlan; Edith, Zetti Kennedy; Isabel, Lorie Eddinger; Ruth, Lizzie Macnichol. "Carmen" is announced to follow.

KOSTER & BIAL'S.—A good sized audience was present Nov. 7, and gave evidence of approval of the bill offered. There were three new numbers presented and they gave good satisfaction. Williams and Walker made their reappearance at this house and scored one of their old time successes. They presented a musical novelty, in which they introduced their songs and dances and a cake walk. The sketch lasted about forty minutes and was thus cast: Archibald Getup, George W. Walker; Phenias Burnall, Bert A. Williams; Wise Ike, Joseph Hodges; Mose Puffs, Ed. Mallory; George Toots, Frank Mallory; the Purser, Ed. Goggin; the Pilot, Charles Davis; Policeman, Graball, Ed. Harris; Uncle Dan, Ed. Johnson; Elder Wayback, Charles L. Moore; Lazy Josephus, Henry Williams; Miss Marie Belford, Mamie Emerson; Aunt Luclida, Lola Launchmere; Miss Susanna, Mazie Brooks; Mlle. Prim, Lottie Thompson. The Fredericks Trio of comedy demon equilibrists made their American reappearance, and met with immediate favor. They do a ladder perch act which differs materially from most acts of its class, and their clever work won full recognition. Monroe and Mack, black face comedians, made their reappearance in their native country, and were prime favorites, as of yore. They appeared in a new act and kept their audience in a merry mood. Kelly and Ashby, acrobatic grotesques; the Hawthorne Sisters, singers; the Brothers Avolo, xylophone experts, and the Six Sennets, grotesque comedians, were popular holdovers. "Sir Andy de Bootjack" is retained. Jane Delorme, a French chanteuse, was announced to appear, but owing to indisposition, caused by an ocean voyage, her appearance was postponed until next week.

THE ACTORS' FUND BENEFIT is set for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10, at the Broadway Theatre. Among the features of the bill will be Joseph Jefferson in "Lend Me Five Shillings," Francis Wilson in the first act of "The Little Corporal," the second act of "Hotel Topsy Turvy" and the murder scene from "Sporting Life." Chauncey Olcott, Dan Daly and other popular actors have also promised to appear.

CHARLES FROHMAN has made an offer to the New York Life Insurance Company for the lease of the Lyric Theatre—the theatre end of the Olympia. If his offer is accepted Annie Russell and the "Catherine" company will move up there directly from the Garrick Theatre on Nov. 28, and settle down for a steady engagement until next March, when they are to go to London.

Harlem.—At the Harlem Opera House the Liliputians came for a week's stay Nov. 7, and are sure of doing well all week, as this is the company's only Harlem engagement this season. The opening was good, considering the time of the season. Next week, Hoyt's "A Day and a Night."

COLUMBUS.—Manager Jack Kahn has decided to play only the best road attractions for the rest of the season, the stock company having closed 5. "A Brace of Partridges" opened 7, to the best Monday evening audience in some time, and received a royal welcome, and will have no cause to complain with the week's engagement, as the performance was satisfactory in every respect. Next week, Carl A. Haswin, in "A Lion's Heart."

METROPOLIS.—Business continues to improve under present management, leaving little doubt of success when things are a little more settled. Walter Sanford's new play, "Tempest Tossed," moved up from a down town house, and gave every evidence of proving a box office winner, the house being well filled, and the prospect looks bright for big houses the latter part of the week. Next week, "A Beginning."

OLYMPIC.—Flynn's Big Sensation opened well 7, and as the evening performance is somewhat different from the usual run of burlesque companies they may do well all week, as the company was well received, and most of the people received several encores. Next week, Rice & Barton's Gaiety Co.

HARLEM MUSIC HALL.—The firemen were compelled to interfere and stop the sale of seats, hundreds being turned away at every performance during the past week. The usual Monday night audience turned out to witness one of the best vaudeville bills of the present, including Ben Harney and co., Lawrence and Harrington, O. K. Sato, Bennett and Rich, the Musical, the Goldens, the Aherns and Kline Gotthold.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—The cool weather sent the business away up during the past few weeks. The Houdinis, Prof. Newman, the Osbornes, Nellie A. Edwards, James Walker, Bay State Frank, Melrose and Elmer, Atkinson and Davenport, and Alburta.

Brooklyn.—The local public has nothing to complain of in the way of novelties this week, and the quality is equal to the quantity. It is plainly evident that the enterprising theatrical managers are not going to be outdone by the political hustlers in the way of attractions, and a fine lot of bills are offered to the theatregoers. An extra matinee will be given, making nine performances at all the legitimate houses. On the evening of election day the returns will be read between the acts. This has become a regular feature at the local playhouses, and the patrons look for it with each city, State or national election. Probably the most noticeable of the four new offerings is "The Conquerors," by Paul Potter, which has come to the Montauk Theatre for a fortnight's stay. It opened here Nov. 7, before a large audience, when it was seen for the first time in this borough. Jessie Milward, as leading lady, acquitted herself in a very creditable manner. William Faversham was also in favor for his clever acting. Others in the cast who were well received were: Joseph Wheelock Jr., Guy Standing, W. H. Compton, E. T. Backus, May Robson, Lillian Thurgate and Clara Bloodgood.

COLUMBIA.—Hoyt's farce, "A Day and a Night," opened here 7, and was seen for the first time in this borough by a large audience. The piece is full of many funny incidents, but bears a strong resemblance to some of the author's earlier productions. The principal scene is laid out in New York, upon the stage of a theatre, and introduces a retired naval officer and his son. The latter is impersonated by Otis Harlan, in his unctuous style, which has so highly pleased lovers of Hoyt's plays in the past. The father is taken by William Devere, and among the others who have good roles are: Will H. Currie, Grace Rutter, Clairisse Agnew, Hattie Wells, Hattie Williams, Jules Jordan and Alma Kramer. There are numerous specialties and many new songs, with music by Wilfred Waters and Richard Stahl. The piece is well mounted. Next week, "A Brace of Partridges."

BIJOU.—Manager Harry C. Kennedy's new offering is "On Land and Sea," which opened here 7, when it was seen for the first time in this borough by a large audience. It is a melodrama of the scenic sort. Its two strongest situations, from a realistic and spectacular point, at least, are those introducing a shipwreck and a threshing machine in full operation. Among the features is a goat, which, it is stated, was a mascot of one of our war vessels during our recent strife with Spain. The shipwreck scene is one of the genuine triumphs of marine reality, and was liberally applauded. During the performance the audience is given as much fun and as many thrills as can be crowded into the three hours. The action starts in the home of a rich South Carolinian, shifts to an outward bound merchantman, which a piratical mate tries to blow up, and then returns to shore. The play is handsomely staged, some of the scenes being very realistic. Chauncey Olcott, in "Sweet Inniscarra," comes 14, for a two weeks' engagement.

GRAND.—"Devil's Island," the new melodrama presented here this week, was seen for the first time in this borough 7, by a large audience. The play deals with the celebrated Dreyfus case, and those who believed in his innocence make a desperate effort to secure his release from his prison cage on Devil's Island. The story is told with dramatic effect and with one boat scene, which is notable for its naturalness. A great deal of the success of the piece is largely due to the excellent manner in which it is presented by the members of the company. The scenery is very elaborate and handsome. The cast includes Emily Rigl, Ralph Delmore, William Harcourt, Dorothy Rossmore, Tony West, Vera De Nole, Charlton West and Warren Conlon. Next week, Haverly's Great Minstrels.

PARK.—Another old comedy has been revived for the patrons of this house for the current week. It is "Everybody's Friend," and to many in the big audience it proved a novelty. It has probably been played in every large city in the world, but withal it proved a great mirth provoker when presented here 7. Leonard Grover Jr., as Major Wellington De Boots, made a decided hit. May Noble is seen to much advantage in the part of Mrs. Swansdown, in which she has the opportunity to display her excellent comedy work. Francis Powers was capital in the role of Felix Featherby, and Margaret Hayward takes the part of Mrs. Wellington De Boots.

HYDE & BEHMAN'S.—Hopkins' Trans-Oceanic Star Co. opened here 7, with an afternoon and evening performance, before two large audiences. It is strictly a vaudeville performance. At the end of the bill is Kara, a very clever juggler, who does many interesting tricks. Other performers are Caron and Herbert, the acrobatic clowns, in a clever act; the Nawns, in a new Irish sketch; Polk and Colins, banjoists; Foy and Clark, in an eccentric sketch; Nester and Bennett, in illustrated songs; Charlotte Ray, soubrette, and Earl and Wilson, in a musical act.

STAR.—The Rentz-Santley Burlesque Co. furnishes a highly satisfactory entertainment here this week, opening 7 with an afternoon and evening performance, before two large audiences. There are two burlesques and an olio on the bills. The show begins with the burlesque called "Yankee Dewey Dandy," and has many allusions to the late war with Spain. Then follows the olio. The company includes Lottie Elliott, the Engstrom Sisters, Barth and Fleming, the Walker Sisters, Johnson and Gorman, Charles Robinson, Van Leer and Barton, Dick Ward, Minnie Sheldon, Lilly Holly, May Holly, William Johnson, Edward Oliver and P. H. Brock. The performance ends with a burlesque called "A Night's Frolic," and has many sensational features.

AMPHION.—Harry Connor, who is well known and appreciated in this part of town, opened night of 7 to a big audience in Hoyt's lively farce, "A Stranger in New York." As the mysterious gentleman who finds himself surrounded by a gay crowd of New Yorkers Mr. Connor has many opportunities to display his comedy abilities to their best advantage. The supporting company is good. The engagement of Melbourne McDowell and Blanche Walsh last week was an artistic as well as financial success. "The Old Homestead" is the attraction for the week of 14.

GAYETY.—Andrew Mack, the singing comedian, in "An Irish Gentleman," began a week's stay 7. At the opening performance Mr. Mack gave a good account of himself; he has a batch of new songs, which found much favor with his audience. The attendance was to the capacity of the house. The S. R. O. sign was hung out at several performances last week. Coming week of 14, "Devil's Island."

EMPIRE.—The house was crowded night of 7, when the Night Owls Burlesque Co. began a week's engagement. The burlesque, which runs all through the performance, has for its title "Mum, or a Strange Story." It affords opportunities for a number of specialties, which are contributed by Violet St. Claire and Mazie Yale, Eva Allen, Falk and Lillian, in illustrated songs; Frey and Allen, Swift and Chase, Charles H. Duncan, in comic songs; Wiley Hamilton and Ruth Wiley, in a musical act, and Bob Robinson, eccentric Dutchman. Big business last week. Bryant & Watson's Australian Beauties are billed for week of 14.

UNIQUE.—The Gay Girls of New York is here this week. In addition to a good specialty bill they present a laughable burletta, by Louie Le Clede, called "Gay Girls of Greater New York." The olio: Le Clede and Raymond, in an original creation, entitled "A Florida Enchantment;" Sisters Goldsmith, artistic dancers, acrobats and contortionists; Frankie Emmett, a contralto singer; O'Connell and Mack, Irish comedians; Mlle. Latoska, contortionist; Dan Regan, in a musical comedy act; Havens and Andrews, in a sketch; Perry Sisters, in songs and dances, and Brown, Harrison and Brown. The opening performance was to a crowded house. Good business last week. The following attraction is Harry Morris' Little Lambs.

5, and gave an excellent performance. J. H. Haverly's Minstrels comes 8, 9. Hall Caine will lecture 12.

LELAND OPERA HOUSE.—This house made frequent use of the S. R. O. sign during the past week, and all were immensely pleased with the bill presented. Felix Morris, in "A Game of Cards," was first, closely followed by Frank Bush, Gertie Cockran, Rice and Elmer, Hal Merrill, Mascot, the educated horse; Hall and Stahley, Derenda and Breen, Dave Meiers M Cadieux, Lix and Gedney, and the Ventinis. For 7 and week: Clara Morris, Geo. Fuller, Golden, Jane Whitbeck, Mazur and Mazett, Review Comedy Four, Gallando, Four Columbians Deets and Don, Edward Estus, Collins and Brien, and George Austin.

THE ALBANY THEATRE gave one solid week of melodrama, "The World Against Her," in which Agnes Wallace Villa gave a strong impersonation of the heroine. Good sized audiences were seen afternoon and evening during the engagement. "Cuba's Vow" is billed 7-9 and "Gettysburg" 10-12. Katherine Rober's Co. 14 and week.

THE GAIETY THEATRE gave two attractions during the week, starting with Rush's French Folly Burlesquers, Oct. 31-Nov. 2. The bill included Lucier and Bell, Richmond and Clements, Minnie Kline, La Moyne Bros., John Cain and the Urline Sisters, and the burlesque, "The Bombardment of Vanilla," was a successful effort. Bryant and Watson's Australian Beauties followed 3-5, and in two burlesques, "A Typewriter's Wedding Day" and "Duke De Monte Carlo," the following people appeared: Winifred Stewart, Baroness Blanc, Higgins and Leslie, Hazleton and Vedder, Smith and O'Brien, and Williams and Adams. All performances of the week were well attended. Rice & Barton's Gaiety Co. comes here Nov. 7-9, and Rider's "Moulin Rouge" 10-12.

ALL THEATRES announce a special matinee for Election Day.

Buffalo.—At the Star Theatre "A Misfit Marriage" appears Nov. 7-9, Jefferson De Angelis' Opera Co. 10-12, "The Highwayman" 14-16, the Bostonians 17-19. "The Bride Elect" pleased good sized audiences.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—There are several changes this week, and playgoers have a good list from which to select. The Grau grand opera season of three weeks begins at the Auditorium. Mrs. Fiske takes the place of Mme. Modjeska at the Grand, in repertory. Rogers Bros., in "A Reign of Error," supplant "The Telephone Girl" at the Columbia. "A Contented Woman" follows after "A Female Drummer" at McVicker's. The stock companies make their usual changes, and there are shifts in the vaudeville and outlying circuits. Business has been very satisfactory, taken as a whole.

AUDITORIUM.—Maurice Grau opens his three weeks' season of grand opera. Van Dyck, Emma Eames, Bispham, Plancon, Saleza and Suzanne Adams are some of the stars of the first week.

GRAND.—Mme. Modjeska has closed three weeks in repertory, in which she has done a highly profitable business, in spite of some vicissitudes of weather. The last week saw crowded houses regularly. Minnie Maddern Fiske is here for two weeks with a number of plays. The first week will be devoted to "Love Finds the Way," preceded by "A Bit of Old Chelsea." The second week the offering will be "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," "Little Italy," and "Divorcons."

COLUMBIA.—"The Telephone Girl" leaves without causing many pangs of regret, although it went through the second week with fair houses. The Rogers Bros., as stars in "A Reign of Error," John J. McNally's latest creation, are now the attraction.

MCVICKER'S.—"A Contented Woman" comes along after that other representative of the fair sex, "A Female Drummer." If she does as good a business as her predecessor she will have no cause to complain. Belle Archer takes the role in which the late Mrs. Caroline Miskel Hoyt was last seen here. Manager Jacob Litt's production of "Shenandoah" returns next week.

POWERS'.—Nat. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, in "Nathan Hale," have put in one good week, and are starting in on another. The piece has been touched up and improved since it was produced here last season at this house, and should do well the rest of its run. "Galcotto," Jose Echegaray's sensational play, is put on for Sunday by Webb and Wachsner's German Dramatic Company.

DEARBORN.—Following "Lord Chumley," which the stock put on with good success, to well filled houses, is "Never Again." The vaudeville features are the biograph, Fred Hallen and Molly Fuller, Harris and Fields, and P. C. Shortis.

HOPKINS'.—"Master and Man" is the drama following "The War of Wealth," which formed part of the successful bill of last week. Papinta, in her dances, heads the vaudeville bill which includes Imogene Comer and the Three Lukens

LINCOLN.—"Under Sealed Orders," James A. Harkins' new sensational play, succeeds George W. Monroe, in "Her Majesty, the Cook" Next week it will be Bob Fitzsimmons and Edward Harrigan, in "Mulligan Guard Ball."

ALHAMBRA.—Following John Griffiths, in "An Enemy to the King," which played to good houses, are Edward Harrigan and Bob Fitzsimmons, combined under the sign of "Mulligan Guard Ball." Next week, Joseph Murphy.

ADELPHI.—"Down in Dixie" follows Weber & Fields' "Pousse Cafe" Co. Next week there will be a jump from the Sunny South to the frozen North, "Heart of the Klondyke" being the booking.

BIJOU.—Coming after John L. Sullivan and company is Daniel A. Kelly, in "After Seven Years."

ACADEMY.—Tony Farrell and company, in "The Hearthstone," did quite well and are succeeded by John Griffiths in "An Enemy to the King." Black Patti's Troubadours come next

HOWARD'S THEATRE (Formerly Lyceum).—The theatre has taken Lorin J. Howard's name, as well as the stock, which offered "Bulls and Bears" last week and is now playing "Jim the Penman." The prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents, with 10 cent matinees, four of which will be given a week. Howard & Doyle have secured the lease, and they deemed it advisable to change the name

MASONIC TEMPLE ROOF GARDEN.—The bill is changed completely, Manager Earl now offering George Thatcher, Frank E. McNish, Ed Marble, McMahon and Swor, Century Quartet, Foster Bros., Chas. A. Loder, Musical Johnstones, the Fremonts, Mamie Gebrue, Rosie Albro and Professor Mapes.

It includes Harry Atkinson and Dick and Maud Garnella, Felix, riding baboon; O'Brien and Buckley, Brothers Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Budworth, Lorenz and Allen, Four Winslow Sisters, Leo and Chapman, Cushing and Merrill, Mons. Guilbert, Chas. and May Morrell, Sisters Levigne, Mullally Trio Harry and May Howard and the Ellslers.

SAM T. JACK'S.—Clark Bros.' Royal Burlesquers put in a good week, and is followed by the Tammany Tigers Burlesque Company. "The Belles of the Tenderloin" and "Hotel Girley Girley" are the burlesques. Carlin and Clarke and the Chappelle Sisters head the olio. The Federal Amusement Company has gained control of the house, and it is closed for repairs.

CLARK STREET MUSEUM.—Belle Carter, a girl with a horse's mane, is the feature among the curios. The Midway dancers remain.

WHITE'S LONDON MUSEE.—The following are booked at this house: Sanderson's Marionettes, Eldora, strong man; Mexican Bob, Boswell's war views and the Midway.

GOSSIP.—Weber and Fields' "Pousse Cafe" Co is laying off for a week. Hallen and Fuller and Harris and Fields are appearing in the Dearborn for a week.....Brooke's band concerts commenced Sunday afternoon at the Grand at 25 and 50 cents.....For the first time in his life Joseph Jefferson will appear this season in Power's Theatre, instead of McVicker's. The engagement is for one week only—an unusually short time for Mr. Jefferson—and begins 28, with "The Rivals."..... "The Bride Elect" opens at the Columbia 21.....Richard Mansfield's Chicago engagement in "Cyrano de Bergerac" begins at the Grand Dec. 5.

Quincy.—At the Empire Davis & Keogh "Down in Dixie" played to good business Nov. 4 "A Milk White Flag" is as popular as ever, judging from the large audience that assembled Oct. 31. Mary Marble, Jno. Dunne and Jno Marble being favorites here received a cordial welcome Sousa and his band played to S. R. O. Nov. 2 "Uncle Josh Spruceby" comes 10, "A Female Drummer" 11, Geo. W. Monroe's comedy, "Her Majesty, the Cook," 12; Anderson Theatre Co. 14-18, "An Enemy to the King" 19, Chas. Coghlan 21.

Decatur.—It reminded one of old times to see the business at the Powers' Grand last week. "Uncle Josh Spruceby," Nov. 3, playing to standing room, and a full house for "A Contented Woman," 4 Coming: "A Female Drummer" Nov 9 The Hoosier Doctor" 11, "Have You Seen Smith" 12, Oliver Sco t's Minstrels 15, "Gay Masqueraders" 17, "A Modern Woodman" 19.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee.—At the Pabst Theatre the treat of the season to date was the production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Nov. 4 by Mrs. Fiske and her excellent company. A more fashionable or enthusiastic audience never assembled at a theatre in Milwaukee than the one which greeted the star on her opening night Saturday evening "A Bit of Old Chelsea" and "Love Finds the Way" was presented to the same excellent audience. Mrs. Fiske's reception was very flattering indeed. The German Stock Co. gave German performances to good houses Nov. 2, Burton Holmes' lecture was well patronized. The German Stock will per duce "At the White Horse Tavern" 6 and 9. Burton Holmes 8, gives his fourth lecture on 'Grecian Journey.' 'The Bride of Messina" 11.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Strong vaudeville did fine business last week Harry Williams' co. including the Four Cohans, was the attraction. Week of 6, another vaudeville bill will include Nilson's Aerial Ballet, Dolly Mestayer and her little coons, Gracie Emmett, Harry Allister, Gazonette Sisters, Jess Dandy, Mlle. Ada'e, Lazelle and Montrose Sisters and the biograph

DAVIDSON THEATRE.—"Diplomacy" proved to be one of the largest drawing cards of the stock company. Frederick Paulding Barj. Howard, Lilie Leigh and Anna Charles were the favorites. Week of 6 the Salisbury Stock Co will present "East Lynne."

BIJOU THEATRE.—"Why Smith Left Home" proved to be a good card. Week of 6 Paul Gilmore in "The Dawn of Freedom." Mr. Gilmore was born and raised here, and started his theatrical life here.

ACADEMY.—Seats for the opening of the Tanhauser-Hatch Stock Co. will be on sale 7. The District Attorney" will be the opening bill

— The La Portes, Addie, Mae and Sam, have joined Hobson & Co.'s "U. T. C." Co.

— Madison Square Theatre Co. Notes: The members of the company were treated to a little surprise after the performance on the night of Nov. 3, on which occasion (the birthday of the manager, Geo W. Lowe) a supper was served, which cemented the good feeling which has always existed between the company and management. At about 3 A. M. the party broke up, with the best wishes of future prosperity and long life to Mr. Lowe.

— The mysterious disappearance of Richard Kirch, the German actor, on Oct. 26, who was under contract to appear with Manager Conried's Company at the Irving Place Theatre, has been solved by the receipt of a dispatch yesterday from Hamburg announcing that Herr Kirch had arrived there last Saturday. Mr. Conried immediately cabled to his representative abroad to intercept the actor and have him arrested. He is determined to punish him to the full extent of the law for breaking his contract.

—At the annual election of the Treasurers' Club of America at the Metropolitan Opera House, Nov. 6, the following officers were selected to serve for the ensuing year: President, Max Hirsch, Metropolitan Opera House; vice president, James H. Scullion, Wallack's Theatre; secretary, Frederick Munster, Empire Theatre; financial secretary, John H. Hughes; treasurer, Earl King, Madison Square Theatre; board of governors, David Mayer, Knickerbocker Theatre; David I. Thompson, Metropolitan Opera House, and C. B. Prell, Academy of Music.

— Dan Darleigh writes THE CLIPPER: "I have an item for you today that I think is without parallel in the annals of the show business, viz: Last Thursday, at Salisbury, N. C., while on parade, a small white pig came into our Rube band. The boys blew horns at him and chased him, but it 'never touched him.' He stayed right there and up into the Opera House. The owner was found at once and his highness purchased. He has his little traveling crate, and each day does the full parade with us, keeping entirely with the band both on the march and in the concert. He certainly is comical, having a few playful tricks of his own and rapidly learning new ones. Enroll in the roster of 'Back on the Farm' Co. 'Sam,' regular trooper and actor. Business is still good and a prosperous season very much in evidence. The show is receiving great praise in each town."

— Sanford and Darlington have closed with the Warner Comedy Co.

— Ed. R. Hutchison has joined Jas. R. Waite's Comic Opera Co. as advance representative.

— The Nat Reiss Company is making a production of Oliver Byron's "Inside Track" for their Southern tour. J. H. Alliger is with the company directing the production.

— Jas. B. Mackie's "Grimes' Cellar Door" has been rewritten up to date by George F. McCann, and the company goes out stronger and better than ever. The cast will include, as heretofore, the original Grimesey, Jas. B. Mackie, Louise Sanford, J. E. Gardner and Kitty Gilmore and others.

— Mrs. Thomas Jefferson was painfully bruised, but not seriously injured, by being thrown from a carriage in Montclair, N. J., Nov. 7.

— "The Telephone Girl" scenery was attached in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 5, on a writ sworn out by A. W. Marks, a lawyer. The goods were replevined and shipped to Indianapolis, Ind., but not in time to give the performance Monday evening, Nov. 7.

— Ella May Watson, an actress, was awarded $1,000 damages, Nov. 7, in this city, in her suit against Mrs. Antoinette Page arising from the loss of her husband's affections.

— On Nov. 15 J. H. Malford's mammoth original "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company will leave Canada and begin a tour of the States, opening in Northern New York. The company numbers thirty-two persons, carries a silver challenge band and solo orchestra, a corps of specialists, a pack of bloodhounds, special scenery and mechanical effects, donkeys, ponies and puts up paper like a circus. We will travel in our own special car, "The Malford," which is a coach of beauty outside and in, as well as a haven of comfort. We have few open dates, and these are being filled rapidly. Our band and parade draw the people, our stage performance and specialties please them, and the box office statements gladden the hearts of managers. Our ad. in last week's CLIPPER brought more replies than we could answer, and every mail brings new ones.

— C. Bradley Price has closed with Reil and Ally Co. at Middletown, O., Nov. 3.

— Frank P. Germain has been engaged by Andy Waldron, manager of the Jennie Calef Co., for leads and heavies.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark.—Manager Ottolengui is giving the patrons of the Newark Theatre the best that the theatrical market affords, and his efforts are being appreciated. "The Belle of New York" opened Monday night, Nov. 7, to a house entirely sold out. Dan Daly's work won much applause, and the good company, courled with the handsome costumes and pretty music, will doubtless attract big houses for the week. The advance sale is already assuming large proportions. An extra matinee occurs Tuesday, 8. Denman Thompson and "The Old Homestead" drew fairly good houses last week. Della Fox, in "The Little Host," will be presented 14 and week.

JACOBS'.—Marie Wainwright, in "Shall We Forgive Her?" occupies the stage here this week. Miss Wainwright's strong emotional work has been appreciated before in Newark, and should do so again. A good house witnessed the performance Monday night, 7. On Wednesday matinee and Friday night, she will present "East Lynne." An extra matinee occurs on Election Day. Mildred Holland, in "Two Little Vagrants," played a fair week ending 5. "John Martin's Secret" is booked for the week of 14

COLUMBIA.—The stock company have put forth more effort and conscientious work in the production of "The Charity Ball" this week than anything else this season, and they are reaping corresponding rewards The performance 7, brought out a large audience. Catherine Cook has been engaged especially for this piece. Next week "Blue Jeans" will be given.

WALDMANN'S NEW THEATRE.—An excellent variety company is appearing here this week, Joe Hart's Specialty Co headed by Joe Hart and Carrie De Mar. The show is clean and will appeal to lovers of a good variety show. Mr. Hart and Miss De Mar made a hit with their charming little sketch, "The Quiet Mr. Gay." Rudinoff gave an artistic performance with his shadowgraphs and bird imitations, and Lavender and Fomson's comedy work was clever. Stinson and Merton's well known act received good attention. Ethel Levey and Valmore furnished the musical part of the performance with good effect, and Chas. T. Aldrich the tramp cyclist, won approval. The Bros. Damm closed the show with their clever act which created a sensation. An excellent house saw the show Monday night, 7, and it should play a good week. Sheridan's City Sports drew fairly good business last week. Reilly & Wood's Big Show will be here 14 and week.

WALDMANN'S OPERA HOUSE.—Manager Robie's own show, "The Knickerbockers," pay their respects to Newark here this week The show opened to a good house Monday night, 7, and will probable play a lively week. The burlesque went with much spirit, and individual work in the olio was well appreciated. (Coogan, Rand and Tafe) the California Trio, joined the show 7, and their act was a feature. Cessy Grant, Rita Durant, the Three Gardners, Shayne and Worden, Raymond and West, and Mike Whallen made up a long and interesting olio The skit "Mixed Ale," brought out the entire company, and served to display some pretty costumes and shapely women, and Mae Taylor was the central figure. "Miss New York Jr." played to a fairly good week, ending 5. The Night Owls are booked for 14 and week.

EGBERT'S MUSIC HALL.—Manager Egbert's current entertainers are Kitty Rose, Smythe Sisters, Nellie Berwick Amy Santley, May Allen, Jere Mahoney and Treville Sisters.

AUDITORIUM.—Manager Healey's offering Sunday, 6, was Three Riel Bros., Melroy Bros and Miss Brooks, Nellie Lynton, Morrell and Evans, Barrett and Learned, Forster and Lewis, Geo. Leslie and Bartilous. Business was good

NOTES.—Manager Jacobs has engaged Una Abele for the part of June in "Blue Jeans" next week.....Manager Robie's employes gave him a pleasant expression of their regard on Monday night in the form of a supper, which was enjoyed by the members of the "Knickerbocker" company and many friends. Tables were spread in the cafe of the theatre after the show, and without ceremony, all present joined in having a sociable time. Mr. Whallen made a few appropriate remarks, voicing the company's well wishes for their manager. Refreshments were plentiful, and, combined with some music by the orchestra, made the occasion a pleasant one.

Jersey City.—Bijou.—This new house, situated at the junction of Newark Avenue and Bay Street, will throw open its doors week of Nov. 14, with Burr McIntosh, in "A War Correspondent." The house has a most imposing lobby opening on the principal thoroughfare, 25ft. wide and 60ft. deep, with a large and easy staircase to the balcony and gallery. The theatre proper is 75ft. by 100ft., and the stage and gallery entrances are on First Street. The exits, in case of fire, are numerous. The stage opening is 26ft. by 40ft., and to the grid iron 70ft. The depth, 40ft. The house will seat 2,000 people. The interior is still in chaotic confusion, but what has already been finished by the decorators, and is visible to the eye, denotes a quiet and refined taste in the decorative line. Retiring and toilet rooms and spacious and cozy nooks are plentiful. The lighting throughout will be electricity. The dressing rooms, which are large and comfortable, are underneath the stage. It will be the only theatre in the city where the inflowing tide will not give the performers an involuntary bath. Manager Holmes has spent money lavishly and without stint, and today this city boasts as fine a theatre as can be found in the State. The sale of seats begins Nov. 7

ACADEMY.—Fanny Rice is the attraction for week of 7, when she will appear as Nancy Patch in "At the French Ball." Her opening night was well attended. Next week, Marie Wainwright, in "East Lynn" and "Shall We Forgive Her?" "Going to the Races" had an immense week, ending 5.

ON TON.—Reilly & Wood's Big Show is the magnet at this popular resort. The opening matinee, 7, brought a large and well satisfied concourse of people who never fail to give Pat Reilly a most hearty welcome. The offering is, as usual, of the best. With Mr. Reilly are the Three Mortons, Cyclonic Six, Two De Filippis, Weston Sisters, Three Dunbar Sisters, Bessie Lamb, Three Brothers Melrose, Stokes' Pickaninnies, Baker and Reynolds, Six Yankee Doodle Girls and Frank D. Bryan. Next week, Hopkins' Trans-Oceanics. Weber & Fields' "Con-Curers" closed a solid week 5.

NOTES.—Manager John W. Holmes states that the Bijou was built after his own ideas, and no architect had a hand in it.....Charles Gudgeon, the first stage machinist at the Opera House now the Bon Ton, will have charge of the stage at the new house.....The election returns will be a feature at the several amusement resorts 8.....De Mont Perry and Alice Clemetus, of Camden, N. J., claiming to be theatrical people were married by Justice Maes, afternoon of 4.....Marie Schmidt (Mrs. John P. Colligan), who has been living in retirement the past two years, will shortly return to the concert stage. She owns a very handsome cottage in the old and aristocratic Bergen section, where she made her home. Mr. Colligan is interested in a substantial liquor business.....Frank Williams is about to open a Nickelodeon at 575 Newark Avenue.

Elizabeth.—At the Star Theatre "Shore Acres" came to a good sized audience, who, as usual, were deeply interested in the pathetic story and the excellent interpolation. "The Electrician" came Nov. 3, to only medium business, at standard prices. "A Sleeping City" came 5 to fair house, which was pleased. To arrive: Byron's Stock Co. in repertory, 7-12; "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler," 14; Rogers' Comedy Co. 18-19, Seymour Stratton Repertory Co 21-26

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Pittman's Players, in repertory, came Oct. 31-Nov. 2, to light business, with the exception of when "The Electrician" was played to excellent business, Pittman's Comedians came 4, to very light business and lack of enthusiasm on the part of the audience. "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley" arrived 5, to good business and general satisfaction. To arrive: Brothers Byrne, in "Going to the Races," 9; "The Girl From Frisco" 12, "The Old Homestead" 28, "Remember the Maine" 30.

TIPS.—W. H. Winchell, formerly of the Star Theatre, New York, but now manager of "The Electrician" Co., stated, 5, that the booking

OUR LONDON LETTER.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 26.

A new comedy, by Anthony Hope and Edward Rose, another by Leo Trevor, an equine melodrama, and another link in the long chain of events binding "The Three Musketeers" to the public's notice, have been the leading factors in London's theatrical week ending today. Business at most of the theatres and a majority of the halls continues brisk and satisfactory, although "Macbeth" at the Lyceum has had to call in the aid of his friend from across the North Sea, prince "Hamlet," of Denmark, and the latter is to share the week's work with the famous Scotchman, each appearing on three evenings. "The Greek Slave" at Daly's (?) Theatre has also found it necessary to brighten herself up a bit, and as one critic puts it, "add a little Greek fire" to her performance which now goes with a good deal more snap than at first. From the provinces the most important news is that Sir Henry Irving is out of danger, but that in view of the weakened condition in which his illness has left him, the company's tour will be abandoned after the Manchester engagement instead of continuing until Christmas week at Brighton. The date for his reappearance at the Lyceum is about the middle of January.

COURT THEATRE.—"When a Man's in Love," a comedy, in three acts, by Anthony Hope and Edward Rose, produced Oct. 19. A decidedly attenuated thing is this joint effort of two clever men, and one not destined to long survive in London, admirably staged and acted as it undoubtedly is. The story has to do with an American army officer in love with an English girl, who, in order to teach her young cousin a lesson, wins his money at cards by cheating him, first telling another man what he is going to do and why he is going to do it. The other man loves the same girl, and when the American is detected in the supposed swindle and denounced, his appeal to the man he has confided in results in a denial of any such confidence. It is a clever situation, neatly worked up and strongly acted, and it is the only praiseworthy item of the play, so far as the authors are concerned. The hero is extricated by the expedient of the villain having had a snap shot photograph taken of him by another person, as he was burning the memorandum given him by the American, telling of his plan to cure the young man who was too fond of cards, and the girl who believed in him "all along," snuggles into his arms. A good deal of the dialogue is bright, but a good many of the clever lines are arranged in the obvious way common to repartee in a minstrel "first part" semi circle. Paul Arthur gives a manly portrayal of the American, and displays many of the nice touches of which he (Mr. Arthur) is the master. The heroine was charmingly acted by Marion Terry, while Ferdinand Gottschalk, as an old professor, was very amusing. Arthur Vezin, a son of the old Shakespearean actor, Hermann Vezin, made his London debut in a small part, and was pleasantly received. After the opening night the comedy was preceded by a one act comedy, called "A Mugwump," in which Mr. Gottschalk scored a hit, as he had previously done in the United States, where the piece was, I think, called "When a Man's Married."

GARRICK THEATRE.—"Brother Officers," a comedy in three acts, by Leo Trevor, produced Oct. 20. Mr. Trevor's previous experience as a dramatist consists of but a single play—a one act piece called "Dr. Johnson," which was successful at the Strand Theatre last year. In "Brother Officers" he shows evidence of becoming a valued contributor to the stage, and the play is likely to enjoy a measure of success, not so much on account of its intrinsic worth as because it affords some interesting and realistic pictures of life in the officers' mess of a crack cavalry regiment, and also because it is very well acted. The story is that of John Hinds, V. C., who has been raised from the ranks to a lieutenancy for bravery, and put into a "smart" regiment of Lancers. He is very ill at ease, so far as his "deportment" is concerned, and asks advice from another officer, Lieut. Pleydell, whose life he once saved from a tiger in India. Pleydell is devoted to him, and aids him in every way to overcome his lack of polish. "Above all things be genial" is a part of his advice, and the innocent Hinds makes some awkward mistakes by considering that geniality and invitations to drink are synonomous terms. One of these unintentional "breaks" is his ordering champagne for some ladies who have been lunching at the mess and gone into an ante room for coffee afterwards. He is abashed at the anger of his colonel, but a young peeress in her own right, the Baroness Roydon, who comprehends the situation, comes to his rescue by saying she has changed her mind and will have a glass of champagne, and she asks the Colonel to let her propose a toast. He smilingly assents, and all glasses being charged, she makes a pretty little speech and calls for the health of "Lieut. Hinds, a brave gentleman." It is a pretty little situation and ends the first act very effectively. The rest of the play is not so clever nor so well thought out. Hinds has fallen deeply in love with the Baroness, who loves his friend Pleydell. Pleydell is in the toils of a swindler, who has won £9,000 from him at cards, which he cannot pay. He is about to sell out and change into a cheap infantry regiment abroad, when Hinds hears of his troubles, and also overhears that the Baroness loves Pleydell, and is loved by him. There is a brief struggle in his mind as to what to do, for he has learned all about the swindler's antecedents, but he plays the part which might have been expected, turns the rascal down, and goes away himself on foreign service, leaving the lovers to get married. The part is very well handled by Arthur Bourchier, who knows a good deal about soldiering in active life, and as the heroine, Violet Vanbrugh handles the not very trying part with her usual delicacy and skill. The cast is good throughout, the Earl of Rosslyn (Mr. James Erskine) playing the part of a young officer with less of the amateur than he showed at the outset of his dramatic career a few months ago.

GLOBE THEATRE.—The Henry Hamilton version of "The Three Musketeers" was at last produced here 22, with Lewis Waller as D'Artagnan, and a strong company, arrayed in new and very handsome costumes, backed him up with a spirited and good all 'round performance. The injunction asked for by a suburban manager to prevent Mr. Waller playing the part anywhere during the week except at the suburban theatre controlled by the manager, was heard at a minor court, the judge of which declined to give a decision, and passed it along to the Lord Chancellor, who on the morning of 24, the beginning of the week in dispute, refused an injunction and told the suburban manager that his remedy lay in a claim for damages and not in an injunction. Mr. Waller is due at Her Majesty's Theatre as Buckingham, in Sydney Grundy's version of the play, Nov. 3, on which date his place in the cast at the Globe will be taken by Mr. Esmond.

PAVILION THEATRE.—"Going the Pace," a sensational domestic and equestrian melodrama, by Ben Landeck and Arthur Shirley, produced Oct. 24. The Pavilion is down Whitechapel way, and is popularly known as the Drury Lane of the East End. It has one of the few remaining old fashioned stock companies of London, and enjoys a large patronage from a class that are thoroughly loyal to their favorites. It is also a large house, with plenty of stage room, and the manager, Isaac Cohen, is always ready to generously mount a good thing in melodrama. The new piece well deserves the success it has met with, for it has several clever sensations and a full and varied assortment of the old yet ever popular thrills so dear to the heart of both the gallery and the stalls when melodrama is to the fore. The chief scenes are a meet of foxhounds, where the spendthrift hero mounts his favorite hunter for the last time, and gallops off for a final spin after reynard, and a scene in a circus with a real ring and real circus acts, both acrobatic and equestrian. "Going the Pace" is sure to score well on the East End, and later on in the provinces.

Another melodrama new to London is "A Fast Life," by Hubert O'Grady, who is likewise its proprietor, general manager and stage manager, and it was produced 24 at the Imperial Theatre, adjoining the Aquarium at Westminster. "A Fast Life" fairly whizzes, so rapid is its action, and from start to finish there is a veritable riot of tangled tragedy, melodrama and farce with bankers, burglars, injured wives, cruel husbands, pistols, poisons, card swindles, blackmail, foils, murders and sudden deaths galore. It will stupify the West End for a week and then go on its way into the provinces.

George Alexander has joined the select band of English histrions, who are known as the "actor-manager-lecturers," and he has been addressing a Manchester audience at the Athenæum Hall on the subject of "Practical Hints on Adopting the Stage as a Profession." He began by saying that to those who thought of becoming actors or actresses his advice was "don't," unless they felt they could face "disappointment, delays, weariness, travel and travail, opposition, malice, neglect, the heartache and the thousand natural shocks that stage flesh is heir to." The optomistic side of his discourse was, however, very pleasant and eloquent.

Two law cases of importance to the variety profession have recently been settled in the London courts. In the first an agent got a verdict in his suit for commission on an engagement which he had not secured for a performer whom he had ceased to represent, but with whom he had a contract as to renewals of engagements. In the second it was held by the court that the sale of a music hall does not relieve the person who parts with it from any of his agreements with performers As a professional paper puts it: "Of course he can arrange for the purchaser to take over his engagements, but where he does not do so, and the new proprietors decline to accept them, the performer has the power to recover the salary he would have earned had the hall not changed hands. Turns are booked so far ahead nowadays that it is most difficult to fill at short notice any engagement that may fall out, and a performer would be seriously injured if a turn that he relied on could be canceled without his consent, simply because the other party to the contract had for some reason or other retired from business."

Circus people will be interested in some prices received here recently for some trained horses sold by auction from a small show. The guinea may be computed at $5 10. Molly, a bay act mare, for 30gs., and Miss Stoodley, a noted bareback rider, purchased Robin, a horse warranted to act in any part of the business. The price was 41gs. Gog, a noted jumper, brought 33gs. A beautiful white horse, Sultan, said to be the best jockey horse in the business, was started at 40gs., and was knocked down after brisk competion for 74gs. Cigarette and Freddie, two trick animals, which play "Blind Man's Buff," were started at 30gs., and bought for 60gs. "The greatest novelty of the show," a talking horse, three years old, by Galliard, and of blood pedigree, was started at 10gs., and bought in for 10½gs. Four black trick ponies were started at 100gs., and the price rose to 145gs. Prof. Bristol's ten trained horses, ponies and mules were also disposed of at fairly good prices.

Wood and Shepard continue to be great favorites at the Palace, and the former has been talking in an interesting way of their English visit. He says that their first venture in London did not win success, and that their second was brought about by some wealthy American sportsmen who were coming over to back Cathal for the Grand National last Spring and asked them to come along and try their luck again, also offering to guarantee them against any loss if they would back the jumper in question for a bit. Cathal ran third, but that did not break them, and soon after they got an offer to go to South Africa, where they made a big hit. On returning they met Charles Wilson, once at Koster & Bial's and now stage manager at the Alhambra, and he secured them an engagement there, which was a success from the start, as it was a one week's contract extended to two months. They have now signed with Mr. Slater, the Alhambra manager, for three years, at an increase each year, and it is by his permission they are at present showing at the Palace.

NOTES.—Sir Arthur Sullivan has joined the board of directors of the Crystal Palace, but he will not usurp the musical directorship of his old friend, August Manns. .....The French boxers at the Alhambra give a very curious exhibition, and it will be a draw for some time. .....Miss Fortescue has returned from South Africa, where she was made much of by President Kruger, of the Transvaal. She starts a provincial tour in repertory at once.....Jolly John Nash, the veteran songster, is doing well in the provinces.....John Higgens, the American jumper, goes to a circus at Lyons, France, at Christmas, and will be in Paris for two months in the Spring, remaining in France until October.....A "strong man," named Carl Marks, was fined £30 and costs, at Liverpool, last week, for cruelly beating an apprentice, named Wallit, and a little girl, said to be his own daughter. The court also cancelled Wallit's apprenticeship, and placed the girl in the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.....There seems to be no end to the new suburban theatres of London. In addition to the Tower Theatre, near the Tower Bridge, reported last week, there are soon to be two new playhouses near the East India Docks, at Holloway and at Stoke, Newington.....Lang's American Troubadours, eight colored performers in the singing and cake walk line (four men and four women), are soon to have an opportunity of pleasing London audiences. They are under the management of Ed. Lang.....Will H. Fox ("Phunny Paddywiski") is back at the Pavilion and Oxford. He has a six months' contract with "the syndicate halls."....Prince Nicholas of Greece has requested permission to translate "Charley's Aunt" into Greek for production in that classic country.....An afternoon tea for the "ladies of the ballet, chorus ladies and dressers," was given with great success by the clergyman in charge of the Orange Street Chapel, Leicester Square, one day last week.....Beerbohm Tree and Sir Henry Irving are both credited with a desire to produce "Timon of Athens" and play the title role.....Paderewski will not go the United States this season, his tour having been canceled.....Edward Lloyd, the English tenor, who retires next year, received the largest fees of his career at the Cincinnati music festival, getting £270 each for five performances.....Harriet Vernon, the staturesque, has a new song, "The Life Guards Gay," in which she will figure as an officer of the crack cavalary regiment, the First Life Guards.....Julia Neilson will probably be the Glory Quale when "The Christian" is given a London hearing.....The War of Wealth," well known in the States, is being adapted for English audiences by Sutton Vane, and will follow the run of "Serving the Queen" at the Surrey.....Lona Barrison's undressing equestrian act, which is new to Paris, has created quite a ripple of excitement there.....Miss Arthur Jones, a daughter of Henry Arthur Jones, the dramatist, has been playing the leading female role in her father's play, "The Liars," on tour, owing to the illness of Muriel Johnstone, and has won critical approval in the role..... Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," which has not been seen for about fifty years in London, will be revived by the Royal Dutch Co. at Amsterdam, Holland, next month .....Spessardi's tigers and dogs will be one of next season's attractions at the Earle's Court exhibition..... Mary Gellatly, the jilted sweetheart of Piper Findlater, V. C., bills herself as "The Piper's Lass," in spite of that fact.....It is said that Justin Huntly McCarthy will go on a lecture, tour in the United States, while his wife, Cissie Loftus, is fulfilling her coming engagement at Koster & Bial's. She has largely augmented her series of imitations since her last visit.....The "Bon Ton Burlesque Co. of Chorus Girls" has arrived from the United States, and is looking around for a good provincial route.... The Schaffer Family remain for another three weeks at the Crystal Palace, and then proceed to Manchester.....The Gotham City Quartet are said to have declined an offer for the Drury Lane Pantomime. They are now in Ireland on a four weeks' provincial tour.....A statement that English actors have to pay a tax to the English Government on the salaries they earn in America is denied by the officials at the Tax Office.....The permanent circus in Leicester Square will soon be ready, and will give an opening to a number of vaudeville turns not of an equestrian nature.....Manning and Prevost, American acrobats, have been scoring a big hit in Johannesburg, South Africa.....Harry Friedman, a well known circus man in South Africa, and also connected with theatricals there, is in London, arranging to take a first class equestrian show and other popular attractions to South Africa and Australia, opening at the Grahamstown, S. A., Exhibition in December. Another circus man, Frank Graham, an American, who has been touring Mexico, is expected in London in December with a music hall turn of a trick monkey and donkey..... Julie Mackey, the deep voiced songstress, is doing well in the provincial halls.....E. H. Vanderfelt is going to produce an adaptation of Jessie Fothergill's story, "The First Violin," at the Brixton Theatre.....The "two performances a night" plan is likely to spread in the cheaper music halls of London. Two which have adopted it having succeeded in doing well.....Walter Stanton, the "Cock of the Walk of all Bird Impersonators," has a new sketch, called "The Cockatoo," for pantomimes, which takes five characters and runs fifteen minutes. His make up is said to be remarkable..... About seventy of the best known variety performers in London have received special invitations to be present as the managers' guests at the first of the Covent Garden fancy dress ball of the season Nov. 4.....An enterprising manager is said to be trying to arrange for a tour of Piper Findlater and the girl he jilted, who are rival music hall stars now, to play a tour of towns with two halls, each appearing at a different hall at the same time.....A small riot took place 19, outside of Olympia, the huge building where the Barnum & Bailey show exhibits in London. A number of laborers were advertised for, but those who arrived numbered over 1,200, and the great majority had to be refused. The disappointed ones refused to allow the doors to be closed, and some one inside foolishly turned a fire hose on the crowd which responded by breaking many windows with stones. The police came and induced the men to disperse.....The cruise of H. R. H., the Duke of York, on the "Crescent," illustrated by a series of specially taken moving photographs, is being shown with great success throughout England.....Sarah Bernhardt has written to Sir Henry Irving to ask his friendly offices toward the famous Spanish actress, Signora Guerrero, who intends to visit London with her company..... The French rights to Dr. Conan Doyle's splendid dramatic sketch, "A Story of Waterloo," are being negotiated. Presumably the French adaptation will have the battle changed so that the old soldier can relate his experiences at a French victory.....Glasgow, Aberdeen and Dundee have been the cities in which Sir Henry Irving has thus far had to cancel his own appearances, owing to illness. He will probably be out of the cast until Nov. 10, during which period the company will play "Madame Sans-Gene," with Fuller Mellish as Napoleon; "The Merchant of Venice," with Norman Forbes as Shylock, and "Nance Oldfield," all these giving Miss Terry her popular successes. "The Bells," "Waterloo" and "The Lyon's Mail," will be dropped until Sir Henry's return.....There is a possibility of Wilson Barrett's making a foreign tour, extending to about three years, via the United States, Yokohama, Shanghi, Hong Kong, Calcutta, the Australian cities—where he is due in a year in any event—and South Africa..... London's next popular price theatre will be close to the Surrey end of the Tower Bridge, and will probably be called the Tower Theatre. It will be built by a gentleman with the fine Irish name of Charles O'Malley..... Fanny Ward, once conspicuous in New York, is again in the cast of "Lord and Lady Algy," as Mrs. Tudway..... The English theatrical papers speak sympathetically of the deaths of the late Mrs. Charles H. Hoyt and Dr. Thomas Seaton Robertson. A death here of interest to the theatrical profession has been that of Mrs. Reeves Smith, mother of H. Reeves Smith, now in the States with "A Brace of Partridges." Her daughter, Kate Tyndal (Mrs. Albert Gilmer), was with her at her death, which is said to have been hastened by grief for her late husband.....Max O'Rell's three act comedy, "A Bunch of Pansies," was read to Olga Nethersole's co. on the stage of Her Majesty's, 22. The name will probably be changed.....Mrs. Kendal will lay the corner stone of a new theatre at Southampton about Nov. 11.....Jimmie Shields, the one legged dancer, is going to Australia Nov. 11.....Arthur Balcombe (the original Zebra, of Ara, Zebra and Vora), was married, 15, to Jennie Parr.... There will be a variety hall and many sideshows in connection with the "big wheel" in Paris, which is now ready and is an English speculation. It is larger than the Chicago or the London big wheels.....Mrs. Lancaster Wallis is going to return to the stage next Spring. She is a rich woman, with a rich husband, and he built her the Shaftesbury Theatre, where many plays and companies have failed and where "The Belle of New York" has done so well. Mrs. Wallis played Rosalind there, in "As You Like It," without creating much of a sensation.

MAINE.

Portland.—At the Jefferson Theatre the attendance at all of the attractions last week was very satisfactory. Sol. Smith Russell, in "Uncle Dick," came Oct. 31; May Irwin, in "Kate Kip, Buyer," Nov. 1-2; Chas. H. Yales, "Devil's Auction," 3-5, with matinee. The Colby and Portland Athletic Club football teams occupied boxes Wednesday night, 2, at the invitation of May Irwin and Manager Goss, the company having attended the game in the afternoon. The bookings for week of 7 are: Joe Ott, in "Looking for Trouble," 8, 9; "In Old Kentucky," 11, 12 and matinee.

PORTLAND THEATRE.—The Miles Ideal Stock Co. opened last week in repertory, and had fair attendance. Among the plays produced was "An American Hero," "A Heart of Gold," "Our Cousin Fritz" and "Damon and Pythias." Pleasing specialties were introduced by members of the company. Coming: Henry Chanfrau, in "Kit the Arkansas Traveller," Nov. 7, 8 and matinee.

THE RUBENSTEIN STRING QUARTET and Louise Callahan O'Neil, elocutionist, will hold a series of recitals Wednesday afternoons of each week, at Kotzschmar Hall.

AUDITORIUM.—Albert Armstrong gave illustrated readings in the Boston Star Course. The Fadette Ladies' Orchestra are booked for 10, 11.

UTAH.

Salt Lake City.—At the Salt Lake City Theatre "Sowing the Wind" played to well filled houses Oct. 28, 29. Charles Dickson and Henrietta Crosman, in "Mistakes Will Happen," opened to good house Nov. 1. The engagement closes 3. "By the Sad Sea Waves" comes 15-17.

NEW GRAND.—Mahara's Minstrels did poor business Oct. 24-26. "The Heart of Chicago" packed the house at each performance 27-29. "Under the Dome" opens, 3 for four nights. "The Air Ship" week of Nov. 7.

—Daniels and Lewis have closed with Fitz & Webster's "A Breezy Time" Co. (Southern).

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—At the Tremont Theatre, Monday evening, we will have in this city the first presentation of John Phillip Sousa's new opera, "The Charlatan," with De Wolf Hopper in the leading role. The engagement will run two weeks. Last week "Cyrano de Bergerac" closed to business that packed the house at every performance.

BOSTON THEATRE.—"The White Heather," which has played to the capacity of this big house, enters 7 upon its fifth and last week here, and will be followed 14 by James A. Herne in "Shore Acres."

BOSTON MUSEUM.—We have just six nights and two matinees more in which to enjoy Barnet & Sloane's very delightful extravaganza, "Jack and the Beanstalk," in so much as Saturday evening, 12, will see its last presentation, and then—well, farewell, "Jack;" you have afforded us heaps of enjoyment and we wish you well. Meantime the management of the Museum have looked with a vigilant eye that patrons of the house shall not lack for enjoyment, in that they have provided as a successor to "Jack" a sterling attraction in the person of Andrew Mack, who will appear (under the management of Rich & Harris) in the poetic production yclept "The Ragged Earl," and in which Mr. Mack will be seen at his best as a singing comedian. The engagement is for two weeks.

PARK THEATRE.—Were this house double the size it is, it is no exaggeration to say that its seating capacity would be none too great to accommodate the crowds who flock there at each performance of "The French Maid," in which Anna Held, supported by Chas. A. Bigelow and the original company, have made such a pronounced success. Its stay is drawing to a close, however, and it will shortly be shelved to make room for a fresh attraction.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Maude Adams, as Babbie, in "The Little Minister," has made one of the greatest successes of her life, and she may well revert with pleasure to her career in this quiet, beautiful and intensely interesting play. Monday, 7, begins its last week but one, and at the end of week of 14 we must bid Miss Adams and "The Little Minister" farewell.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Manager Henry's announcement for the current week is the farce-comedy entitled "A Highborn Lady," a pen production of Herbert Hall Winslow. Clifford and Huth are the stars of the organization, and they are ably supported by a competent company. Next week, Robert Mantell in repertoire. Last week "In Old Kentucky."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager Magee can be congratulated upon the selection of "The Girl From Paris" as an attraction for his patrons during the present week. It is the strongest card he has played at his house for some time, and it is bound to draw big business thereto. Next week, the Russell Bros., in "Maids to Order." Last week "Natural Gas."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—Such was the favor with which "Cyrano de Bergerac" was received here two weeks ago that the management—by special request—announce its revival for one week only. The reproduction of this play, after such a brief shelving, is a somewhat unusual move, but only serves to show the popularity of the work. Next week, "The Solicitor." Last week, "The Fatal Card."

KEITH'S THEATRE.—The programme for week of 7 is one of the strongest presented here for months, and unquestionably will afford an abundance of pleasure to the patrons of the theatre. The leading feature is Juan Caicedo, "king of the bounding wire," who is followed by the Knaben-Kapelle (Hungarian Boys' Band), views by the American biograph, Bert Coote, Frank Bush, the Behrwell Trio, James Harrigan, Raymond and Kurkamp, Maxwell and Simpson, Doherty's Trained Poodles, the Harbecks, Leonard and Fulton, Conway and Staats, Ramza and Arno, John J. O'Donnell, Lewis and Dally, and Prof. Gies, with his timely topic pictures.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—"In the Name of the Czar," the well known powerful Russian melodrama, is the offering at this house week of 7, and will be staged with all the effective and realistic scenic and mechanical effects that such a play requires. The cast, selected from the house stock, will include: Fanny McIntyre, Florence Hale, Helen Byron, Mamie Gilroy, Gertrude Hill, Henrietta Rich, E. L. Snader, Frederick Murray, Edwin R. Phillips, Mark Kent, Maurice Darow, Jas. Levering, Carl Fey, D. L. Gaylord, Wm. J. Geary and Walker Dale. Next week, "Trilby." Last week "The Galley Slave."

HOWARD ATHENÆUM.—"The Glad Hand," a snappy concoction of mirth and melody, fun and frolic, will open the show here, presented by Weber & Fields' "Glad Hand" organization, and in which Joe Fields, Mark Wooley, and Al. Curtis enact the leading roles. In the well selected olio are Post and Clinton, Fields and Wooley, Manning and Weston, Halliday and Ward, Douglass and Ford, the beautiful Valesca, Ike Johnson, Scott and Cole, Fredo and Forrest, Bonnie Goodwin, McLean and Hall, Tom Crowley, and Ned West, character comedian.

PALACE THEATRE.—Last week's business was big and another big week is expected, beginning 7, when Ernest Rober, of the Rober & Crane Bros.' Vaudeville Combination, will be seen in a series of wrestling contests during the afternoons with Frael, the American bull killer, and in the evening with James Cleary. Other attractions during the week include Al. Grant, comedian; the Crane Bros., in their sketch, "Mudtown Rubes;" Rosalie, singer and dancer; the Misses Maxwell and Dixon, transformation dancers; Ford and Dot West. Daly and Devere, and John West and John B. Williams, comedians.

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—In the lecture hall there will be seen the Royal Yeddo wrestlers, skilled athletes from Japan, by special favor of the Mikado, whose contests are said to be of a most thrilling nature. Other sensational features will likewise be found in the hall, and on the stage the attractions will include the bioscope, Christine's Minstrels, Al. and Mamie Anderson, the Patnaudes, Hogan and Glenroy, Labelle Wistana, Hughes and Anderson, Marvelous Hornmann, Clark and Daly, the Fillmores, Monsulla and Russell, Madame Perkins, the Great Danola and Maxie Howard.

NICKELODEON.—L. B. Walker has just assumed the management of this house, and hereafter it will be conducted under his personal supervision. This cosy house has always been a popular resort, and it is the intention of Manager Walker to make it still more so in the future. His policy will be to secure the rarest freaks and novelties obtainable, for the curio halls, and on the stage of the theatre proper he will present snappy burlesque and vaudeville shows. He will be aided by assistant manager Genin, late the lessee of the house. For week of 7 in the curio halls will be found a half dozen young female sparrers; Joe Mullen, the champion bag-puncher and all 'round athlete; Balbroma and Olga, the famed Grecian beauty, the celebrated Fire King, and Tek-el-dhor, Arabian magician. On the stage will be presented the usual vaudeville and burlesque show.

GRAND THEATRE.—The opening card played here will be "The Working Girls," a farce comedy, after which Managers Thomas and Watson will present a good olio, in which appear: Dutton and Dracut, Morgan and West, the Nason Sisters, Lewis and Elliott, Gladys Van, Gracy and Burnett, Truly Shattuck, the World's Trio of Character Singers and Dancers, and Loney Haskell. The entertainment ends with the four scene burlesque called "Slumming."

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The High Rollers Burlesque Company is billed here, opening with a laughable skit, entitled "The Paresis Club," and winding up the show with the burlesque, "A Lady of Quantity." In the interesting olio a number of well known and popular Bostonians will take part and present a strong list of novel specialties.

ROMANY CAMP.—Manager Nat Burgess reports a week of very good business here, closing Saturday evening with a very handsome balance ahead. There always is current of humanity coming and going, the novelty of the attractions presented serving to draw them in, male and female. La Belle Zitta is the latest accession to the ranks of the Romanys.

NOTES.—Richard Mansfield is booked for an early appearance at the Hollis Street Theatre, where he will present "Cyrano de Bergerac."....Annie Russell, formerly of the Boston Museum Co., will soon come to Boston and bring "Catherine" with her.....The Finish of Mr. Fresh" will be the attraction at the Columbia Theatre Thanksgiving week.....A series of military pictures anent the Porto Rico and Santiago campaign, and the review of the Eighteenth Penn. Volunteers by the Secretary of War at Camp Meade, have been added to the display on the bioscope at Keith's Theatre.....The November bookings at the Columbia Theatre are Robert Mantell, in "A Secret Warrant," "The Face in the Moonlight" and "Monbars," to be followed by a farce comedy and the melodrama, "When London Sleeps."....Manager Eugene Tompkins has arranged with Ed. E. Rice for a Boston production of "Hotel Topsy Turvy." It will open 28, at the close of "The French Maid" engagement at the Park. Leading the cast are Henry E. Dixey, Alice Atherton, David Lythgoe, Augustus Bruno, Marion Singers, Chris. Bruno, and Kitty Mitchell. Mr. Rice will direct the production in person. Lillian Perry, a very clever comedienne, will be seen in vaudeville at the Howard next week.....Some of the attractions booked at Keith's Theatre for November are John E. Camp, an English comic singer; the Grisantos, modelers in sand; a Russian troupe of acrobats; Hilda Thomas, soubrette; Roy L. Royce, mimic and impersonator, and Falke and Semon, musical comedians..... Election returns will be "curtained" at almost all our amusement houses on Tuesday evening.....The White Heather" will close at the Boston Theatre next Saturday evening, after a five weeks' run. It will then go on the New England circuit, opening at Providence, R. I. ....."Billy" Clifford and Maude Huth will give a special matinee at the Columbia next Tuesday 8.....The Con-Curers" Burlesque Co., one of the Weber & Fields' organizations, is booked for the Howard next week..... When Maude Adams closes her date at the Hollis she will go to New York, where she will appear as Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet."....Hallett Thompson, a talented leading juvenile man, has joined the Bowdoin Square Theatre stock His first appearance will be as Taffy, in "Trilby," week of 14.....Gertie Reynolds will be seen in Boston soon as the special feature in Koster & Bial's production of "Gayest Manhattan."

Fall River.—At the Academy of Music Maude Hillman, in repertory, made her initial appearance in the Spindle City last week, to fair business. Mme. Scalchi's Grand Opera and Concert Co. comes 8, the Harry Bower Concert Co. (Star course) 9, "Peck's Bad Boy" 12, "Devil's Auction" 16, Bon Ton Burlesquers 17-19, Y. M. C. A. course 21, "Cuba's Vow" 22. "Secret Enemy" 24.

CASTO THEATRE.—A succession of large houses greet the players at this popular family theatre, and Manager Haynes is doing a business not excelled since the house opened more than a year ago. Week of 7: Rose Eytinge, Maud Haslam and Clement Bainbridge, in "That Overcoat;" Master Tony, the Ravel Trio, Mlle. Kamechi, Forrester and Floyd, Edw. E. Boyle and Charlie Frey. For the following week: Bert Coote and Julia Kingsley, in "A Supper for Two," is the leading feature.

RICH'S THEATRE.—This cosy playhouse was dark the first half of the week. Charles (Kid) McCoy's Vaudeville Gathering opened the last half of the week to good business. The olio consisted of Josie Howard, Millard and Filmore, Killeen and Murphy, Frankie Daly, Fox and Ward and Pool and Parker. Killeen and Murphy made a decided hit and are worthy of special mention. Weber's Parisian Widows appear 7-9. Peter Maher's Athletic and Specialty Co. 10-12. Gay Girls of Greater New York 14-16, Cuban Belles 17-19.

NICKELODEON MUSEE.—Business continued good at Manager Sheedy's amusement resort. This week: Joyce and Strand, Ed. Marvelle, Briggs and Payne, James Gaylor, Morton and Slater, Miss Tiny Burt and Prof. Jimines, assisted by Ella Clayton. Russell and Rounds carried off the honors last week.

FLINT MUSEUM.—The entertainers at Manager Pollock's resort week of 7 are: Cummings and Knight, Winfield, Nettie Mansfield, Cora Harris, Mamie Lewis, Wadsworth Sisters, Frank Williams and James and Harris. Business good.

NOTES.—John Phillips closed his engagement in the Casto Stock Company, 5, to go South to resume the management of the Casino at Tampa Bay, and is succeeded by Charlie Frey.....Wm. Harbeck and wife were laying off at their home in this city last week.....George Manchester, late of Chas. H. Yale's forces, joined Edward Girard's "Natural Gas" Co. the past week..... Kelly and Phalen (local favorites) make their debut in the vaudeville this week with Peter Maher's company, which appears at Rich's Theatre 10-12.....'Kid" McCoy, who is very popular and well known in this city, was the recipient of a gold headed cane and many floral tributes during his stay at Rich's Theatre 3-5. .....Prof. Thomas (Fatty) Langtry, last season connected with the Flint Museum and the Bijou, opens a new amusement resort 14, called the Gaiety Musee. There will be three shows daily and price of admission five cents.

Lowell.—At the Opera House May Irwin played "Kate Kip, Buyer," Oct. 31, to a good house. Sol Smith Russell came Nov. 1 to good business. Scalchi Concert Co gave an excellent concert, 2, to a small house. "The Girl From Paris" came 4, to good business. De Wolf Hopper, in 'The Charlatan," 5, had a large house at advanced prices. Bookings: Yale's "Devil's Auction" 9, James Whitcomb Riley 10, Joe Ott, in "Looking for Trouble" 12.

MUSIC HALL.—"A Turkish Bath" pleased large houses Oct. 31-Nov. 2. "My Sweetheart' met with much success 3-5. Booked: Blondell and Fennessy's "A Cheerful Idiot" 7-9, "Cuba's Vow" 10-12.

BIJOU THEATRE.—The houses last week were very good, and for week opening 7 Robinson and Sheldon, Reed and Tremaine, Musical Conroy, Joe and Jennie McKenna, Sherman and Brewer, and Clara Granger are billed.

NICKELODEON.—The management reports the banner week of season last week. Billed for 7 and week: The Four Burtons, Tina Davis, Joe Morgan, Billy Wright, Living pictures will be shown.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Prof. Blanchard's moving pictures, Dale Armstrong, Little Sunbeam, Geo. Spedden and Cecil Herson are billed to appear 7, for week.

Lynn.—At the Lynn Theatre Corse Payton and his comedy company last week did a big business, the capacity of the house being taxed at every performance. On the evening of Sunday, 6, Mr. Payton and his company gave a concert for the benefit of Gen. Lander Post, 2, Grand Army, of this city. Booked: Star course Nov 3, Tracy's operetta, "A Spring Pastoral," by local musicians, for the benefit of the Lynn Musical Association. 9, 10; "Devil's Auction" 12, the Shea-McAuliffe Co. 14-19.

OXFORD GEM MUSEE.—Business for the week just closed has been good at this house. The attractions this week are: Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wright, Hamlin and Hamlin, Tom Devene and Minnie Shurtz, Flora Scott, Chris Vonderblinder Hullstoffin and Happy Dick Turner.

FREDERICK'S MUSEUM.—This house was opened to the public Oct. 31. It is under the management of Prof. C. Frederick, who for five seasons was lecturer of the Lynn Musee. It is located at 189 and 191 Market Street. There is a curio hall and theatre, the latter having a seating capacity of nearly three hundred. The attractions this week are: Museum—Virginia Knapp, Mlle Carretta, bird educator; Prof Rodney, smoke artist. Stage—Willis and Barron, Mardo, Three Wright Sisters, Magee and Crimens and Frank Kennedy.

GRACE KINBALL, a soprano of this city, has recently joined the Anna Held Co.

Lawrence.—At the Opera House the Mme. Scalchi Operatic Co., composed of the following people: W. Pick, Signor Canzio, Mlle. Noidi, Signor Alberti and Mme. Scalchi, pleased a select audience Oct. 31. De Wolf Hopper, in "The Charlatan," played to big business Nov. 1. "The Isles of Fantasy" was the subject of the discourse delivered by Dr. J. C. Bowker 2. "The Girl from Paris" played to fair business 3. May Irwin and company, in "Kate Kipp, Buyer," pleased a big house 5. Miss Irwin is a decided favorite here, and was recalled many times during the play.

NEW THEATRE.—Webber's All Star Specialty Co. held the boards last week, playing to fair business. The house will be dark 7-12, owing to a mistake in booking. Woodhall's High Rollers are due 14-16.

CASINO.—Business at this house only fair.

THE MANY FRIENDS of Mark M. Price greeted him here 1, with the De Wolf Hopper Co. Mr. Price's early days in this city were spent in the factory, and his early training was in amateur theatricals back in the sixties.

Worcester.—At the Worcester Theatre the Bennett-Moulton Dramatic Company, in repertory, packed the house afternoon and evening last week. Coming: Edward Girard, in "Natural Gas," Nov. 7; Sol Smith Russell, in "Uncle Dick," for the benefit of local lodge of Elks, 9; Haverly's Minstrels 10, New York Casino Company, in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," 11, 12.

LOTHROP OPERA HOUSE.—Katherine Rober had crowded houses last week. Coming: "A Turkish Bath" 7-12, "Cuba's Vow" 14-19.

Taunton.—At the New Theatre Alma Chester Company came last week to fair business. "Peck's Bad Boy" comes Nov. 8, Robert Mantell 12.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—Disciples of Blackstone broke into the theatrical cast during the past week. In the first place Gus Hill asked for an injunction against the Walnut Street Theatre, claiming that the week of Nov. 14 at that house was pre-empted by "McFadden's Flats." When Hill refused to change the date of his coming the Walnut Street canceled. Hence the legal flare up. George B. McClelland came into town on another mission of legal import. His trip was a sequel to the Royal Italian Opera Co.'s disastrous stay at the Casino. He wanted to see if he could hold Herrman E. Blair, the reputed backer of the ill fated organization, for the rent. Still another legal angel of the theatrical business was displayed when McKee Rankin, Nance O'Neill and Robert McVicker asked the United States Court to dismiss the injunction suit which Emanuel Lederer filed against them for an alleged infringement of "Magda."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—After an absence of several years Modjeska is to return 7, opening in "Mary Stuart." During the week she will be seen in "Macbeth," "Antony and Cleopatra" and "Magda." Last week the Broadway Opera Co. enjoyed a blended artistic and financial triumph. Musical Cincinnati liked "The Highwayman," and laughed over Jerome Sykes' interpretation of "Foxy Quiller." Audiences were large, fashionable and enthusiastic. "The Telephone Girl" 14.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—Hanlon's newest "Superba" will come 6. Last week Russell Brothers, in "Maids to Order," played to splendid business. Primrose &

QUERIES ANSWERED.

NO REPLIES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

ADDRESSES OR WHEREABOUTS NOT GIVEN. ALL IN QUEST OF SUCH SHOULD WRITE TO THOSE WHOM THEY SEEK, IN CARE OF THE CLIPPER POST OFFICE. ALL LETTERS WILL BE ADVERTISED ONE WEEK ONLY. IF THE ROUTE OF ANY THEATRICAL COMPANY IS SOUGHT, REFER TO OUR LIST OF ROUTES ON ANOTHER PAGE. WE CANNOT SEND ROUTES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

THEATRICAL.

TEXAS, Toledo.—So long as you use the play you are under legal obligation to pay the royalty according to your agreement. If you have secured the sole right, through that agreement, to present the play, or if you have the right for certain clearly defined territory, and the owner of the play infringes upon your rights, you can restrain him by injunction. The copyright of the title of a play has no value apart from the play itself, so you have no redress in that direction.

C. S., Hartford.—"M'liss" is owned by Robert Fulford. You may obtain some other plays by addressing T. H. Winnett, 1,402 Broadway, this city.

L. M A., Chicago.—We can furnish no information concerning the party.

H. E. M, Pittsburg.—We have no means of knowing how many toe dancers there are in this country, nor can we tell how many use other than the usual dancing slipper.

C. E., Detroit.—Address the party in care of THE CLIPPER.

C. D. H., Jeffersonville.—Donaldson's Guide will probably answer your purpose. Address C. S. Lawrence, 88 and 90 Centre Street, New York City.

A. P.—The party to whom you refer is Josephine Hall.

J. L. R., Waterbury.—We have no knowledge of the concern of which you write.

R. L., Benning.—The whereabouts of the party is unknown to us. Address letter in our care and we will advertise it.

C. B P., Hartford.—The party is not playing at present. Address him in care of THE CLIPPER.

B. P., Chicago.—We never, in answer to queries, furnish information concerning the domestic affairs of professionals.

P. E., Chicago.—We never indulge in comparisons of that sort, nor do we know the party whose name you mention.

G. E. W., St. Louis.—You will have to seek engagements in museums, and we are unable to quote salary.

E. D.—The party you name is not in our employ, nor do we know him.

E. B., Sloansville.—1. Robert Gair, 156 Chambers Street. 2. Whitball, Tatum & Co., both New York City.

E. D., Omaha.—Your best plan will be to advertise in THE CLIPPER. See rates at head of this column.

A. T., Ottawa.—As beginners you would probably not receive more than fifty dollars per week, but if your act proved to be a good feature you might soon be in fair demand at better salary.

W. C. W., Le Roy.—You had better write the party again, as your letter evidently miscarried.

W. H., Pueblo.—There is a fair demand for such an act, but salary will depend much upon merit.

M. W., Montreal.—Watch our route list.

A. W., Hartford.—Address the party in care of THE CLIPPER.

W. R., Conyngham.—We have no personal knowledge of any party in that line.

A. E. R., Fair Mount.—Address L. Blum, 1180 Broadway, this city.

W. G. AND P. F.—1. C. A. Hawkins, 118 East Thirteenth Street. 2. E. Walker, 1607 Broadway, both in this city.

C. R. W., Madisonville.—The party is unknown to us.

P. H. MCI., Racine.—The party has not yet opened her season, and we have not been advised of her route. Watch our route list.

E. D., Omaha.—Address Emanuel Lederer, 13 West Forty-second Street, New York City.

E. S., Fairmount.—Address G. Schindhelm, 118 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, and the Eames' Costume Co., 63 East Twelfth Street, both of this city.

I. B. D. & Co., Montreal.—Address letter in care of THE CLIPPER.

C. F. R., Hartford.—We have no record of the death of the party. Address the company you name en route. See route list in this issue.

A. M. H., Memphis. Address the party in care of THE CLIPPER.

F. D. G., Smethport.—The only company presenting the play you name is now in Texas, and although it will come North later in the season, we do not know its Northern dates.

A FRIEND, Lynn.—The party has but recently closed the season of his own company. Address letter in our care.

J. M. S., New Haven.—You will be obliged to pay a war tax of one hundred dollars per annum. Payment must be made to Collector of Internal Revenue before you open.

T. B., Preston.—We cannot assist you in obtaining employment.

S. H., Mason.—Address the parties in care of THE CLIPPER.

W. P. C., Mt. Vernon.—Five per cent. A personal visit is the better plan.

W. A. N., Dallas.—Autographs written with lead pencil are not highly valued and we know of no one who would be likely to purchase the one you have.

C. & S., Los Angeles.—Address the party in care of THE CLIPPER.

READER, Cincinnati.—Address Geo. M. Cohan in our care.

C. O., Gunnison.—You seem to have got your titles mixed. "The Private Secretary" and "My Friend from India" are separate and distinct plays. You may congratulate yourself that the manuscript copy you had of the last named play was stolen, for that was not the first time it had been stolen, and if you had produced it you would have made a harvest of trouble. "The Private Secretary" belongs to Charles Frohman and "My Friend from India" is owned by Smyth & Rice, and you have no right to present either without the owner's consent.

G. W. S., Chester.—The railroad companies should be applied to for all information concerning transportation

CARDS.

J. E. D., Chicago.—At seven up, when there is a tie for game, or when there is nothing out for game, the non-dealer, or elder hand, scores the point.

KEYSTONE CLUB, Chester.—The points rank in the following order at all times: High, low, jack, game. Although your side, needing two, made in play the three you bid, your opponents, who had but one to go, won the game with high.

J. H. G., Sioux Falls.—In such case as you mention the player having nine points, and needing but one to go, wins the game with high, which outranks all other points, of course. The fact that his opponent (A) made in play the two he bid, was not thereby given any precedence in the count; if he had not made the two, however, he would have been set back.

F. H., Philadelphia.—According to the general rule of play of the game of pinochle, if the second card of the first trick had not been boarded the player would have been permitted to meld; if otherwise, he would not.

M. J. A., Jackson.—As we have stated many times, any straight flush, whether containing in part face cards or not, constitutes what some persons choose to designate as a "royal" or "tiger" flush. Consequently B looses.

C. H., Battle Creek.—Here are the exact words contained in "American Hoyle" regarding the matter: "Each jack turned up by the dealer counts one point for him in the game, unless a misdeal should occur before the jack is turned." Your opponent is correct.

ATHLETIC.

J. B., West New Brighton.—1. Charley Rowell, Daniel O'Leary, Charles Harriman and John Ennis started in a six days' go as you please race, for the Astley belt and gate money, in this city, March 10-15, 1879, O'Leary dropping out and Rowell winning. 2. Some years after the foregoing contest a four cornered competition took place between O'Leary and James Albert, on one side, and Rowell and Vaughn, on the other, six days, Rowell and Albert to go as they pleased and O'Leary and Vaughn to walk fair heel and toe. The Englishman won.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

R. W. B., Providence.—The championship of the National League has been won eight times by the Boston Club.

C. H. F., San Jose.—A is right. Base hits are used for making up a player's averages. Total base hits can be ignored entirely without affecting his standing.

F. B. J., Brooklyn.—He was an umpire on the staff of the National League and American Association in 1897.

TURF.

J. G., New York.—Bookmakers' rules are arbitrary, and those who have dealings with them must abide thereby.

P. J. D., New York.—Bend Or won the English Derby of 1880, Robert the Devil finishing second. On Oct. 14, same year, Robert the Devil won the Champion Stakes, Bend Or finishing second and Reveler third.

TROTTING HORSE, Elizabeth.—Write to Walter T. Chester, 42-52 Times Building, Park Row, New York City.

J. B., Southbridge.—Address S. Lubin, 21 South Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

DICE, DOMINOES, ETC.

P. C. K., Winona.—B loses the money, as he wagered that he would beat A's throw and failed to do so, only tieing it, which does not make it a draw. The wording of the wager must be considered.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MCE. AND C., Fort Benton.—If there was such a word in existence it would not be pronounced "oblige."

E. S., 25.—1. Write to Dick & Fitzgerald, 18 Ann Street, New York City, for a slang dictionary. 2. The word "beau" is not a slang word, but means a fop, a gallant, a man of dress.

M. R., Philadelphia.—The matter on your card can be changed each week without extra charge.

MRS. M., Bayonne.—The letter referred to has not been claimed.

Chess.

To Correspondents.

CHESS ED. Santiam News.—Thanks for the attention. We read with pleasure the proofs of the spread of chess in Oregon, and praise the platform on which you stand. Our over full list compels us to decline the courteous offer of exchange.

L. A. GOULDIE.—"Thinking it to our liking," eh? You know of old time that such problems are our delight. Say, we look at it as smacking of impudence to say: "A problem must not open with a +." H. F. L. Meyer carries a similar idea to its culmination when he says: "I do not allow of two Qs, three Rs, Bs or Kts." Who cares whether he does or not? So, too, of capturing keys. The composer alone takes the chances of the rank his work may attain. By all means send us the problem you describe.

BRO. HELMS.—Thanks seems but a poor return for your many renewed courtesies and large citations with compliments.

BRO. ROGERS.—The same sentiments to you.

BRO. HAMILTON.—Can any date be set for the probable renewal of your cheery column?

CHESS ED. Orillia Packet.—Please tell us what ails your game between the Revs Ross and Grant. It can't be played; and, if it could, why didn't white just crumple up his afterward victor by 18.. or 19.., B × Kt +? We wish to copy the game if it can be straightened out.

TO OUR SOLVERS.—We wish you to turn to our problem 2,122, by J. A. Carson, undoutedly the one masterpiece 7 mover of '97, and refresh your memories with its beauties. To insure convenience of reference we repeat.

White mates in seven! No less a problematist than Mr. F. R. Gittins required three hours to unravel it, as he himself informed us. Then take our present problemistic gem and compare the two on all points—pictorial effect of original position, beauty and surprise of key, depth, subtlety and originality of strategy, difficulty of solution and artistic finish—and give us your opinion of their relative rank in problem art. Remember, these are stratagems worthy of critical analysis.

TO OUR COMPOSERS.—Have any of our problemistic brethren a twenty-two move of some sort (we don't care what) on the stocks, which they would like to launch on THE CLIPPER'S ocean for a special purpose?

NOTES—Letters, Mr. Mills; (a) For the express purpose of bringing on the subsequent variation.

(*) Kieseritzky's move; authorities differ upon its soundness. White, however, gets an attack.

(b) If 7..P to B 3 the sacrifice of R was intended.

(†) Kt to B 3 was probably preferable, as they cannot Castle on K's side for some time, if at all; then Kt to Q sq, and K 3, or B to K 3.

(c) Is this necessary? Why not P to B 3 at once?

(‡) Now decidedly inferior, as the Q P becomes weak.

(d) The choice was this or Q to Kt 3. [Herr Hoffer would prefer the latter.]

(§) They might have played 14..P to Q R 3, intending 15..P to Q B 4, shutting out White Q B. If so, Mr. Mills points out the following continuation:

14..	P to Q R 3	17..K R × B	Q × K R
15..B P × P	B P × P	18..R–K B sq	Q × R +, fol-
16..R–K B sq	K B–his 3	lowed by P × Kt, with two Rooks for Queen. The text move is unsatisfactory, because White can get the exchange back immediately with Kt to K 6 +. We have therefore examined
14..	P to K B 4	16..K Kt to B 3	P to Q B 4
15..B P × P	K B × P	17..Kt × B(.)	Q P × Kt[?]

(.) If 17..Q B × P, Q P × B, etc.; and Black should get over the immediate difficulties with the loss of a Pawn. [Bro. Hoffer gives a diagram after Black's text 15.., but we prefer one a little later.]

(‖) A threatening move, difficult to be met.

(¶) The alternative would be 18..B home, probably continued 19..B P × P, B P × P; 20..K R to Q sq(2), P to K B 5, and Black may eventually give up his Q for two Rooks. (2) If 20..K R × P, K P × R; 21..Q × P +, K to Kt 3, etc.

(e) [We present a diagram of the decisive coup.

BLACK (Glasgow.)

WHITE (Edinburgh).

Move made—20..K R × P!] A perfectly sound and winning sacrifice.

(f) If 21..K to B sq; 22..K B to Q 3.

(g) Kt to B 3 gives a better chance of resistance. The text move at once loses the exchange gained, and leaves Black with a hopeless ending.

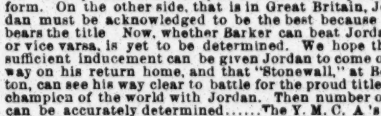
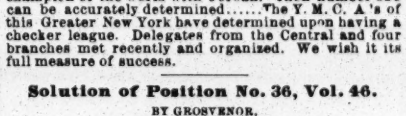
Some More Leaves.

We recently had the pleasure of a visit to the Boston C. C. and a two hours' lively interchange of views on current chess topics with as amiable a coterie of choice spirits as one could wish to meet. The time "flew on wings of light." "Call again!" We could wish it were not only "again," but frequently.....Janowski the brilliant is with us. The match with Mr. Showalter will go right along. Seven games up, draws not to count, stakes, $750—as we are informed.....Mr. Steinitz has returned to the city, and has opened an office, where he is prepared to give lessons in the higher walks of the game and contest matches by correspondence at home and abroad. The greater the antagonist, or more powerful the club, the better.....We surely need not hesitate to report Bro. Galbreath's explanation of why he frequently quotes us in Sunday States, when he says: "When we want something extra good we always turn to the columns of THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, and for more than thirty years have not been disappointed in finding what we required."..... With all its assured energy and prosperity for the coming season, the Brooklyn C. C. has met with a loss it will feel. Mr. Wm. E. Napier has left to take up his residence and enter into business in Chicago. Brooklyn's loss will be Chicago's great gain.....Our Manhattans are bestirring themselves to make the coming season a lively one, though we know this only through roundabout channels. We wish some good chess brother there would write up for us their plans and prospects; also, of the city, Harlem, Ladies, Metropolitan and the rest.....Likewise the Southern clubs, one and all. Now is the propitious time to extend a brotherly ☞, and get in touch with our universal commonwealth of chess.....This brings us to the following contribution from Atlanta, with an apology for the delay; it slipped our attention in the multitude of papers. Our contributor, D. P. Waites, (Black), came into the following position:



at Q R, K 2, K B, Q B3, K R2, Kt2, Q Kt4, R3.



at K Kt, Q Kt3, K B, K3, K Kt4, K R2, Kt2, B 2, Kt2, Q R3.

In which Mr. Waites gave mate (not forced) in four moves.....We have said that this is pre-eminently the age of young men in chess. Germany's new master, Herr Pavelky, is a Hungarian of only twenty years, and his closest competitor is but little older; Mr. Watson, the new champion at Melbourne, is only nineteen, and Mr. W. E. Napier is less than that. Then look at the numbers of young men who have within five years made for themselves a name and established for themselves a position among the best, and no country has a monopoly of these examples. These rising flights have frequently been at the expense of the olden giants.....When they technically finish a tournament in Adelaide they have only fairly begun to play. The last cup tourney called for nine games each. After his ninth game, Bro. Charlick had won three, no loss or draw, adjourned six, and his was the only clean score. It is a unique feature of this tourney that when half the games had been finished not a single draw had been recorded.....Eight new chess columns have been established in Italy, at Rome, Turin, Milan, Spezzia and Naples. This fine showing is due no doubt to the genial influence of the new and prosperous National Chess Association.

Paradise for Sportsmen.

According to the opinion of Dr. William Austin Whiting, the noted sportsman and naturalist, of Boston, Mass., Long Point Bay, Lake Erie, is the ideal duck hunting region of the North American continent. An exchange has the following to say about the region:

This triangular expanse of water is well known to nearly every person in Elgin County, and to many persons in other counties. Its area is about thirty square miles, and for the most part is bounded by marshy shores. The bay is remarkable in many ways, particularly for its safety. But far more it is known as one of the best duck shooting grounds in the world. The excellence of the hunting facilities of the place attracts people from various parts of Ontario, as well as from many cities in the United States. Port Rowan is the headquarters of the hunters, and reaps considerable benefit from the sport, financially and otherwise. Dark, cloudy weather, a strong wind blowing and a good sea running, is the ideal of the wild duck hunter. Ever since the first of September, when the season for this sport opened, the weather has been too fine and warm. But for the last two weeks it has been more satisfactory, and a number of the lovers of the gun have gone out and tried their luck at the fleet winged fowl.

News of the Game.

Joe Maize, of The Pittsburg Dispatch, has started a movement whereby the opinions of the players of this country can be ascertained relative to having Jordan return from Australia by the way of San Francisco, and stop and give exhibitions on his way East, and when he reaches Pittsburg, Pa., J. P. Reed will play him an exhibition match for a purse. The opinion of C. F. Barker will be received early in the negotiations regarding a match for the championship. We hope Bro. Maize will meet with success, we know that New York will contribute her share towards the necessary.....We note that some of our brother editors are grasping around in the unknown field of conjecture regarding the naming of the four best checker players. Cross board play, in personal contest for supremacy, and the title is the only true test of superiority. We contend that Barker is at the present time the best player that we have in America. Our opinion is based upon his record and present form. On the other side, that is in Great Britain, Jordan must be acknowledged to be the best because he bears the title. Now, whether Barker can beat Jordan, or vice versa, is yet to be determined. We hope that sufficient inducement can be given Jordan to come our way on his return home, and that "Stonewall," at Boston, can see his way clear to battle for the proud title of champion of the world with Jordan. Then number one can be accurately determined.....The Y. M. C. A.'s of this Greater New York have determined upon having a checker league. Delegates from the Central and four branches met recently and organized. We wish it its full measure of success.

THE AQUEDUCT MEETING.

The last fortnight of the racing for the local season began Oct. 31, at Aqueduct, L. I., when the Queens County Jockey Club offered a card of six events, which served to well amuse a good crowd. The racing is sufficiently described in the summary:

Selling, for maiden two year olds, $400 added, of which $70 to second and $30 to third, allowances, five furlongs.
R. W. Walden & Son's b. f. Village Pride, by Galore—Pride of the Village, 107; 2 to 1.....Maher 1

New England League Meeting.

Representatives of the New England League clubs met Nov. 1, at Boston, Mass., and discussed plans for next season's campaign. Messrs. Finn and Anthony represented Newport, Moy, Pawtucket and Rice, Worcester. The other protected cities were represented by proxy. Those in attendance are hopeful of success in 1899, and a strong circuit will be arranged. The sense of the meeting was favorable to a conference with the Connecticut League people, and a meeting will be held at Providence in about a month, wherein an amalgamation with the Nutmeg League may be effected. This would evolve one large New England league, with good outlook of success, to be made up of such fine cities as Brockton, Newport, Taunton, New Bedford, Fall River, Worcester or Springfield, in Massachusetts, and New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport and Waterbury, in Connecticut.

Charles J. Foley, at one time well known as a professional pitcher, died Oct. 20 at his residence in Boston, Mass., after a long illness. He first played professionally in 1875, with the Lowell Club, which he continued until the close of the season of 1878, leading the team in batting during two seasons. He was one of the pitchers for the Boston Club in 1879 and 1880, leading the team in batting in the latter season. Foley's last professional engagement was with the Buffalo Club, being one of its pitchers from 1881 to 1883 inclusive.

CONNECTICUT STATE LEAGUE.

Official Averages of the Players for the Season of 1898.

The official averages of the players of the Connecticut State League who took part in ten championship games or more, as compiled by Secretary James H. O'Rourke, show good work on the part of the men of that organization. Campbell, of New Britain, led in batting, with an average of .356 in twenty-four games. The other high averages are: Wiley, New Haven, .337; Johnston, New Haven, .335; Parent, New Haven, .326; Roger Connor, Waterbury, .319; Duffy, New Haven, .309; Hickey, New Haven, 309. In fielding Connor, of Waterbury, first base, leads, with an average of .980 in forty-six games, and Hendrick, of Derby, is next, with an average of .977. Theisen, Meriden, leads the catchers with .977; Arlie Latham, New Britain, the third basemen, with .962; Vickery, New Britain, the pitchers, with .956; Derwin, Waterbury, the outfielders, with .957; Niland, of New Britain, the second basemen, with .942, and Hatfield, the short stop, with .910. The figures follow:

The Athletes of Lafayette.

The annual field meeting of the students of Lafayette College, to decide the class honors, was held at Lafayette Field on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 2, the track being in poor condition and, in consequence, few good records were accomplished during the afternoon. A summary follows:

Shot put.—Ely first, Chalmers second, Hellman third. Distance, 36ft. 4in.

One hundred yards dash.—Ely first, Hagney second, Salmon third. Time, 11s.

Hammer throw.—Hellman first, Ely second, Chalmers third. Distance, 87ft. 1in.

Half mile run.—Reed first, Andress second, McCommon third. Time, 2m. 30⅘s.

Two hundred and twenty yards hurdle.—First, Childsey; second, Alexander; third, Carey. Time, 21⅗s.

Pole vault.—Larkin first, Ely second. Height, 9ft. 10in.

One mile relay, class.—First, '99; second, 1900; third, 1901; fourth, 1902. Time, 3m. 57⅗s.

High jump.—First, Ely and Childsey (tie); second, Alexander. Height, 5ft.

Running broad jump.—Ely first, Currier second, Felver third. Distance, 18ft. 9in.

Two hundred and twenty yards dash.—Nevins first, Ely second, Reed third. Time, 25s.

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle.—Childsey first, Felver second, Alexander third. Time, 20⅗s.

Four hundred and forty yards dash.—Bixler first, Salmon second, Greene third. Time, 59⅖s.

One mile run.—Reed first, Bryan second, McCommon third. Time, 6m. 27s.

THE MORRIS HEIGHTS FIELD CLUB, of Greater New York, held an open cross country handicap on Sunday, Nov. 6, over a six miles course in the upper part of the city, starting and finishing at the Jerome Hotel. The going was heavy, owing to the downpour of the early morning, but the weather was clear and the air sharp enough to make running in the open air a pleasure to an athlete. Starters were numerous in consequence of these favorable conditions, and a most enjoyable run was had by those participating, only two of whom failed to cover the full distance. The first man to reach home was J. H. Kelly, St. B. A. C., 3m. 40s. handicap, in 36m. 46s.; M. J. McGarry, P. A. C., 2m. 30s., second, in 35m. 38s.; J. McLean, N. W. S. A. C., 3m., third, in 36m. 13s. The time prize was captured by R. Kennedy, Star A. C., 1m. 10s., in 34m. 28s. The team prize was carried off by the representatives of the Pastime Athletic Club.

A. R. DOWNER AND T. KEANE met in a race over a distance of two hundred yards on the Rochdale (Eng.) Athletic Grounds, Oct. 22, the stakes at issue being $500. Keane was the favorite, odds of three to one being offered against Downer. However, after the first fifty yards Downer gained, was on even terms at the half distance, and after they had run level for a short distance he forged ahead, remained there, and eventually won by a good yard.

J. W. B. TEWKSBURY, '99, scratch, proved the winner of the quarter mile run postponed from the Fall meeting of the University of Pennsylvania, the race being decided on Nov. 2, and the victor's time being 57⅗s., very much poorer than it would have been had the track been in better condition. M. V. Little, 1900, 12yds. start, finished second; E. S. Mechling, '99, 12yds., third.

PETER W. LATHAM, of Manchester, Eng., the world's court tennis champion, and his quondam unsuccessful opponent for the title, Thomas Pettit, marker for the Boston Athletic Association, met at Manchester Nov. 1, Latham conceding the odds of half of fifteen for a bisque, and defeating the American player by 3 to 2.

ELSIE F. CASSATT won the championship of the Woman's Golf Association at Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4, defeating Mrs. Caleb Fox, of the Huntington Valley Country Club, by a single hole in the final contest. Score, 113 to 116. The winner is a member of the Merion Cricket Club.

Wheeling.

Taylor After the Records.

"Major" Taylor, the speedy dusky professional rider, commenced his attempted onslaught upon the existing bicycle records, at Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4, unmindful of the fact that Friday is universally regarded as a specially unlucky day. The trials were made at the fast Woodside Park track, a third of a mile in circumference, and he failed in his effort to reduce the one mile record, but he succeeded in lowering the one kilometre performance of Edouard Taylore, the young Frenchman, 58⅗s. Taylor was paced by two quints for the short distance trial, called for more pace constantly, and finished by the side of the pacing machine in 57⅘s. But three of the four quint teams were available for the mile trial. Taylor finished the mile in 1m. 34⅛s., the record being 1m. 32⅗s., by Edouard Taylor, made at the Willow Grove track.

On Saturday, 5, the flying darkey again got among the records, capturing one of them with ease. The quarter mile figures came tumbling by ⅗s. and the two mile record by 13⅗s. It was blowing quite hard when Taylor made his trials, between three and four o'clock. The air was not chilly, however. Taylor started back of the Crooks team for a warm up. Then he got away for the quarter, and he finished in 22⅗s. With no rest, he started again, this time for the two miles, with three quintet teams to pull him each two-thirds of a mile. The Crooks team was followed by the Sager team with a slow pickup, and the Callahan team finished. To the third he went in 30⅗s., to the two-thirds in 1m. 3s., and the mile was finished in 1m. 34⅗s., only two seconds back of the record. The two miles were made in 3m. 13⅗s., record. Taylor finished fresh, and his pacemakers and the spectators, as well, expressed themselves as most surprised. Seven watches caught the time, three of them official. The only variation was in favor of Taylor by a fifth of a second.

Contending for the Wilson Trophy.

Fourteen riders started in the third twenty-five miles race for the Wilson Trophy, confined to members of the Kings County Wheelmen, which took place on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5, over the usual course, between Milburn and Hempstead, L. I., surveyed to measure ten miles for the round trip, and as the start of the race was in the middle each leg covered a distance of two and a half miles. The struggle from end to end was close, and the race consequently very interesting, the winner turning up in H. H. Fuller, who finished one length ahead of the second rider. The time prize was won by G. Schofield, one length ahead of the second scratch man. Summary:

Name.	Handicap.	Time.
H. H. Fuller	5m. 00s.	1h. 08m. 46s.
W. Force Jr.	5 00	1 08 47
W. H. Wells	4 30	1 08 19

To Prohibit Six Days' Races.

With the object of preventing the holding of the proposed six days' bicycle tournament at Madison Square Garden, this city, during the month of December, an ordinance was introduced in the Board of Aldermen, in New York, at the meeting on Nov. 1, to prohibit the promotion of any contests of the character named in which the riders shall remain on the wheel over twelve hours; also providing that every rider participating be compelled to rest twelve hours during every twenty-four. This ordinance, which is fostered by the L. A. W. consulate of this city, was introduced by Alderman J. F. McCall, and was referred to the Law Committee.

Not Opposed to 'Cycling Shows.

The Brooklyn (N. Y.) 'Cycle Board of Trade last week passed the appended resolution:

Resolved, That this board repudiate in their entirety the statements recently made in a Brooklyn paper purporting to show animated opposition on the part of the board to the 'cycle show to be given by the Associated 'Cycling Clubs of Long Island, and characterizes such statements as being without foundation and untrue in every particular. That this board, while of the opinion that a 'cycle show is neither necessary nor advisable, so far as the welfare of its members is concerned, will not object to nor oppose in any manner an exhibition held by any other responsible body or association.

President George W. Bennett, of the board, has also issued an open letter stating that while the board as a body will not support shows, it will not oppose the one being promoted by the Associated 'Cycling Clubs of Long Island.

Alleged Record on the Road.

According to a dispatch from Washington, D. C., dated Nov. 4, Harry Park, of the Century 'Cycle Club, of that city, on that date finished a record ride from New York to that place, unpaced, in time that surpassed the performance of Lieut. H. D. Wise, U. S. A., using pacemakers, by 1h. 52m. Park left the City Hall, New York, at 6.50 A. M., 3, and covered the distance, 243 miles, in 25h. 45m., which, if correct, is certainly a grand performance.

Across the Australian Continent.

Macdonald, the Australian rider, recently accomplished the greatest feat in the road riding line ever done in that country, he having crossed the continent in twenty-eight days. He started from Glenelg on Aug. 22 last, and did so well that he arrived in Adelaide, S. A., on Sept. 19, a most wonderful performance. The stated distance is 2,060 miles. The first 'cyclist to make this journey was Murif, who wrote a book detailing his experiences. He started from Glenelg, after first immersing his wheel in the sea, on March 11, 1897, and it took him two months, one week and three and a half days to accomplish the journey. Afterwards Coleman and Mather made the journey, which occupied sixty-three days, Macdonald having thus lowered the record by thirty-five days.

BLANCHE WHITCHER, a prominent 'cycling maiden of Lowell, Mass., on Monday afternoon, Oct. 23, is stated to have ridden one-half mile, unpaced, straightaway, in 1m. 15s., on the boulevard in that city, thus lowering her former record, 1m. 23s.

The Turf.

The Horse Show.

The annual exhibition of the National Horse Show Association, an annual event and among the most fashionable and popular held in Greater New York, will be the attraction of the coming week at Madison Square Garden, and will doubtless crowd that spacious structure each afternoon and evening during its continuance. The entries for the different classes included in the extensive premium list are quite as numerous as in former years, and of course among the various exhibits of well known equine celebrities, on the track and on the road, will be found the pacing comet, Star Pointer, who this year gained added fame by equaling his former unequaled record of 1:59¼, being the only harness horse that ever covered one mile below two minutes. The committee having charge of the arrangements for the show has worked diligently, and everything is now in prime order for the exhibition, and when the doors of the Garden are thrown open on Monday evening, Nov. 14, the crowd of people who will pass through the portals will find the provisions made for their accommodation and comfort altogether adequate and the show portion of the entertainment unexcelled by those previously so liberally patronized by the elite of metropolitan society as well as by all admirers of select horseflesh.

Horse Jumping for Prizes.

The annual high jumping competitions for prizes attracted several hundred fashionable people of both sexes to the home of the Richmond County Country Club, at Garretson's, Staten Island, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5, the events being summarized below:

First event—Best performance over a hurdle 4 feet 6 inches high, owners up, for the Richmond County Country Club Cup—Won by E. Norman Nichols on Reliable. The other contestants were: Lewyn Thomas on Pilot, Beverly W. Robinson on Alexandra, H. M. Dunn on Tom. D. S. Hage on Winsome, N. Norman Nichols on Shakespeare, and W. Witherspoon on Midnight.

Second event—Best three performances over a hurdle 5ft. high, owners up, for the Master's Cup, presented by E. Norman Nicholls—Won by Charles F. Hart on Baby Boy. The other contestants were: James A. Hart on Richmond, N. Norman Nicholls on Shakespeare, Dr. James McKee on Badger, E. Norman Nicholls on Reliable, P. A. Hart on Tycoon II, James A. Hart on Sportsman, and P. A. Hart on Vulcan.

Third event—Open high jump for cup presented by Country Club—Won by James A. Hart on Richmond, with 6ft. 1in.; Cornelius Hart Jr. on Vulcan and F. A. Hart on Baby Boy cleared the same height, the owners not pushing their horses, so as to keep them fresh for the steeplechase.

J. A. SHEELEY has sold his big bay trotting stallion, Legene, 2:13¾, to Ben Tappan, of Vienna, Austria, for $1,000. Legene will be shipped to Europe soon after the National Horse Show.

Aquatic.

Vail Defeats Lynch.

The single scull match race, three miles, between Harry Vail, of St. John, N. B., and Michael Lynch, of Halifax, N. S., came off in Halifax harbor, Nov. 2, and proved a great disappointment to those who anticipated witnessing a most interesting event, this result being owing to the capsizing of Lynch's boat at the turning point. The oarsmen started at 4.13, and Vail got away with a slight lead. Two hundred yards further on he had a lead of a length. The men reached the turn in 11 minutes. Lynch then upset, Vail being a length ahead. A small boat picked up Lynch, and Vail rowed home, crossing the line in 25:30. There was little enthusiasm at the finish. The race was for $150 a side. Another race has been arranged for Nov. 14.

THE Chicago Yacht Club's challenge for the Canada Cup is stirring up the yachtsmen of Canada, and by the time the race takes place, in August or September next, the event will have assumed an importance second only to the contest for the America Cup. Already several syndicates have been formed to build a defender. The North American Yacht Racing Union has asked that the Royal Canadian Yacht Club make the race for the thirty-five foot class, and it is argued this would be in the best interests of yacht racing.

E. C. STORROW, '89, has been appointed head coach of the Harvard crew for next year. Mr. Storrow has been prominent and active in Harvard rowing interests ever since his own college days. For the two last years he has coached the freshman crews.

DEFENDER has been towed from the anchorage at New Rochelle to Bristol, R. I., where she will undergo a complete overhauling, to prepare her for test racing in the America Cup trials and perhaps to again defend the trophy.

THE Lone Star Boat Club has elected these officers: Jacob Ollesheimer, president; Louis Hess, vice-president; H. B. Bonart, secretary; R. Frank Levy, treasurer; Walter Goodkind, captain; Edward Baum, lieutenant captain.

FRANK T. ROBINSON, who joined the New York Yacht Club in 1877, died in city Oct. 31.

THE Orange Lawn Tennis Club, of Orange, N. J., last week elected the following officers: President, Walter D. Osborne; secretary, Thomas S. Kinman; treasurer, Frank E. Hagemeyer.

Theatrical.

NEBRASKA.

Omaha.—At Boyd's Theatre Julia Marlowe opened a short engagement of two nights Nov. 7, appearing in "The Countess Valeska." Herrmann comes 9, 10, Chas. H. Yale's "The Evil Eye" 13-16, the International Grand Opera Co. 17-19. "Yon Yonson" did fair business Oct. 30-Nov. 1. "Humanity" did indifferent business 2, 3. "Gayest Manhattan" 4, 5, "Ole Olson" 6.

CREIGHTON THEATRE.—The Woodward Stock Co. will present "The Ironmaster" the week of 6. It will be the closing week of the company, they leaving for Minneapolis 13, where they will play for the rest of the season. "Muldoon's Picnic" will hold the boards week of 13. "Incog" was the bill of the Woodward Stock Co. the past week, playing to large business.

TROCADERO.—Week of 6, the peerless Corinne, Howard and Bland, Stevens Sisters, Lou Rose, Clifford and O'Dell, Ella Carlington, the Del Sabos. Business the past week has been good.

WONDERLAND THEATRE.—Bert Davis, the manager of this resort, has got a good bill together for its patrons for week of 6: Prof. Sampson, Allie Barber, Millie Martinna, Haah-Haah, Milo Bates, Mme. Owens, Prof. Singer, Millie Singer, Dorothy Russell, the Two Hoffmans, Dell Leon, Allie Woods, Dick Barrett, Baby Marie, John Shannon. Business very good.

NEBRASKA MUSIC HALL.—Week of 7: Kehoe and Rainer, Jacob Hellebrand, Stella Reed, Lizzie McKeever, Ed Landon, Grace Formes, Little Norma, Leo Frazer, Mamie Gafford, Stella Raymond, Cora Rose, Laura Price, Florence Bascom and stock. Business is good.

NOTES.—A big change in theatrical affairs has taken place in Omaha the past week. The Woodward Stock, at the Creighton, has become looked upon as a permanent fixture, and when it was announced that it was to be transferred to Minneapolis it was looked upon as only temporary, but a new factor arose in the Orpheum Circuit Company, who have been negotiating for a lease of the Trocadero, and when they found that they could not secure that house they went after the Creighton, and have secured a lease of that house, and will take possession Dec. 1.....John Scott, who has been treasurer of the Creighton ever since the house was opened, goes to Minneapolis with the Woodward Stock Co. as resident manager for Messrs. Burgess & Woodward.

Fremont.—At the Love "A Night at the Circus" had a good house Nov. 1. Coming: "Muldoon's Picnic" 11, Herrmann 12, Warner Comedy Co. 14 and week, Digby Bell 28.

Music and Song.

Ford & Bratton have just completed for publication a new descriptive ballad, "At the Sound of the Sunset Gun." Among their other novelties are "The Old Folks Are Longing for You, May;" "I'm Nothing to You Now" and "My Sunday Dolly."

M. Witmark & Sons are pleased to announce an important deal. They have made arrangements to publish the new opera by Stanislaus Stange and Julian Edwards, entitled "The Jolly Musketeer," now being played by Jeff De Angelis and company. Their New York engagement commences Nov. 14. Frank M. Witmark was complimented by Richard Mansfield, who accepted the dedication of his latest suite, "Cyrano." Mr. Mansfield presented him with his autographed photograph; also granted him permission to use it for the title page.

The Hungarian Boys' Band of fifty musicians will sail for Europe on Nov. 17. Their final concerts in America will be given at the Pleasure Palace, where they will open Sunday, Nov. 13, remaining four days only. Mr. Proctor was anxious to have them play an extended engagement here, but their passages had already been secured, and it was, besides, impossible to cancel their European engagements.

"Say You're Mine, Sadie McIntyre," a ballad, by Chas. Shackford, has just been issued by Jos. W. Stern & Co. Emery and Nodine, Leona Lewis, Manning and Weston, John McVeigh, Maude McIntyre are singing it.

"The Moth and the Flame," the new drama in song, by Taggart and Witt, is being taken up by many leading singers, among whom are Helene Mora, Maude Courtney, May Mooney, Emma Carus, Bennett and Rich, Ouska Worden, Katherine Klare, Marie Lane and Margaret Rosa.

John Mayon, comedian, with the Broadway Theatre Opera Co., in "The Highwayman," and who holds up the highwayman at every performance of that opera, was recently held up in Chicago and murderously assaulted. The footpads, however, got no cash, as he was rescued in time. He was able to appear the following evening, but carries a bad scar on his head.

The Royal Italian Opera Co., which recently disbanded in this city, is preparing to again take the road.

Truly Shattuck, who is with Hurtig & Seamon's Bowery Burlesquers, is featuring Fred J. Hamell's song, "My Mary Dear."

The Olympia Music Co., of Chicago, will soon issue Fred J. Hamill's latest composition, "The Old Mill Wheel."

John G. McDowell, of Fitz & Webster's "A Breezy Time" Co., has written a new coon song.

CANADA.

Montreal.—The theatrical menu for week closing Nov. 5 was, on the whole, poor. Whether it was due to a first night's appearance Oct. 30 or not, the first part and olio of Haverly's Minstrels did not fulfill expectations. Only a fair company presented "Lost, Strayed or Stolen" at the Queen's, while The Bon Ton Burlesquers at the Royal gave an antiquated performance. The action of "The Highest Bidder" at the Francais left a rather unfavorable contrast to previous work of the stock.

ACADEMY.—Haverly's Minstrels, numbering, among others, such well known people as Billy Rice, Frank Cushman, Bogert and Brien, Chas. E. Foreman and the Nicholl Sisters, came for week of 30. The management announces the engagement of Melbourne McDowell and Blanche Walsh, in Sardou's plays, for Nov. 7-12. The Liliputians follow.

QUEEN'S.—"Lost, Strayed or Stolen," as put on by the company here last week, did not make much of a hit. The violin and 'cello solos by Leader Silverstone and Louis Charbonneau, of the house orchestra, between the acts, were well received. "Mixed, Muddled and Fixed" 7-12.

FRANCAIS.—E. H. Sothern's "The Highest Bidder," in which the character work of Harry Rich stood out prominently, together with the vaudeville acts of Clemmens and Marshall, Farrel and Taylor, A. Dashington and wargraph views, formed the bill for last week. On 10 the students of Bishop's College will hold their annual theatre night, the stock putting on for this week "The Private Secretary," with the Goldsmith Sisters topping the vaudeville bill.

ROYAL.—The Bon Ton Burlesquers came last week to uniformly good business. The Sporty Widows is here for week of 7.

SOHMER PARK.—For Sunday, 6, the programme mentioned Baker and Bunnell, Bessie Phillips, B. Johnston Woods, Barrelis, T. Totlock, Louise Verande and Bond. Rather weak.

NOTES.—An informal opening of the brand new theatre, Her Majesty's, was tendered the directors and friends on the evening of Nov. 4. The full orchestra rendered an attractive programme, and lunch was served in the parlors, where the health of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy (the managers) was toasted and drunk. Rice's "The Ballet Girl" will inaugurate the era of this house 7. The advance sale has been so great that to accommodate the public a special matinee will be given 9.....Saturday, 5, was football night at the Academy with Haverly's Minstrels. Members of the University of Vermont team, the Ogdensburg N. Y., Quebec and Britannia, of Montreal, attended in a body.....The wheelmen will have a theatre night 29, attending "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," proceeds to go towards the World's Meet Fund of 1899.

Toronto.—At the Grand Opera House last week "Devil's Island" came to fairly good business. "The Geisha" comes Nov. 7-9.

TORONTO OPERA HOUSE.—"When London Sleeps" last week had good business. Coming week of 7, "Town Topics."

PRINCESS THEATRE.—The Cummings' Stock Co. in "Peaceful Valley," did a big business last week. "Ours" will be given 7, 8, under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the commanding officers of the Royal Grenadiers. Forty eighth Highlanders and the Queen's Own. "Hazel Kirke" 9-12.

AUDITORIUM.—"Darktown Swells" continued to do a big business last week.

MASSEY MUSIC HALL.—The Trebelli concert, 1, in which also appeared Mrs. D. M. Harvey, Signor O. Campanari, Mons. Ovide Musin and M. H. Hewlett, had a very large and fashionable audience. Due: "The Brownies" 11, 12, Mme. Sofia Scalchi and her company 22.

London.—At the Grand Guy Bros.' Minstrels gave an excellent performance Nov. 2, to a large house. The Butterfly Burlesquers drew two good houses 5. Notwithstanding a terrific rainstorm in the evening the house was crowded. The members of the company all wore badges with the words, "We Walk," printed on them. This is on account of the strike of the street car employees, who have secured public sympathy in their strike, and have had printed badges and small cards, which are worn by nearly all the citizens. Booked: "McSorley's Twins" 10, "The Geisha" 11, "At Piney Ridge" 12.

AUDITORIUM.—The Pasquali Concert Co. appeared 4, to a good audience.

Winnipeg.—At the Winnipeg Theatre "The Dazzler," Oct. 28-29, received a warm welcome back again, playing to two very large houses. Clay Clement and company, in "The New Dominion," made a great hit 31, Nov. 1. Business was good and everyone present went away highly pleased. "Chon, or the Mummie's Bride," a local opera, will be sung Nov. 3, 4; "Miss Francis of Yale" 6, 7, Dan Sully 11, 12.

BUSINESS still continues good at the Grand Opera House, with the Nelson Stock Co., with a change of bill twice a week.

Hamilton.—At the Grand the Butterfly Burlesquers did fairly well Nov. 4. "In Gay Paris," booked for 5, did not put in an appearance, the company having disbanded a few days previously. "McSorley's Twins" should do well 7, 8. "At Piney Ridge" comes 11, "The Geisha" 12, "Lost, Strayed or Stolen" 14.

STAR THEATRE.—This popular resort still continues to draw good audiences. The following bill has been made up for 7 and week: The Diamonds, the Fantas, Mayo Sisters, Ozav, Barney and Russell, Frank Johnson and the vitascope pictures.

Ottawa.—"The Geisha" came to the Russell Theatre Nov. 2, 3, to splendid business. The Dan'l Ryan Co., at popular prices, will hold the boards 7-12.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Week Oct. 31, Cole and Johnson, in "A Trip to Coontown," gave their usual good performance, to very satisfactory returns. Prof. Carpenter week of Nov. 7.

GRANT'S MUSIC HALL.—The Marks Bros.' Comedy Co. will open 7, for two weeks.

Quebec.—At the Gaiety Theatre the Dayne-Fanshawe Stock Co., in repertory, played to fine houses week ending Nov. 5.

THE CASINO, under the management of Chas. Palmer, will return to vaudeville 7.

Guelph.—Royal Opera House, "The Nancy Hanks" had a slim house. Bobby Gaylor, in "McSorley's Twins," played a return date to a good house Nov. 3. "When London Sleeps" comes 7, "A Trip to Coontown" 17, "The Victorian Cross" 21.

Belleville.—At the Carman Opera House Dan McCarthy, in "True Irish Hearts," played to fair house only Oct. 31. Cole and Johnson's "A Trip to Coontown" comes Nov. 10. "The Darktown Swells" 17-19.

St. Catharines.—At the Grand Opera House "The Nancy Hanks" came Nov. 2, to a full house. Coming: "McSorley's Twins" 5, "When London Sleeps" 10, "A Trip to Coontown" 18.

Berlin.—At the Opera House "McSorley's Twins" is due Nov. 8.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Charlotte.—At the Charlotte Opera House, Nov. 4, "Down on the Farm" was the attraction. The Lees, hypnotists, are due week of 7. "Faust" 17..... Forepaugh-Sells' Show, the only circus visitor this season, did its usual enormous business here 2, giving two performances. The parade was very good, so was the performance.....Pawnee Bill's Wild West is due 15.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond.—Stuart Robson presented his new play, "The Meddler," at the Academy of Music, Oct. 31, to an audience that taxed the capacity of the house. The spectacle of a genuine negro in the cast, though in a minor role, was a decidedly displeasing feature and elicited much unfavorable comment. Mr. Robson will find before he proceeds very far on his Southern tour that this effort at realism will not be appreciated. "A Hired Girl," Nov. 1, opened to a large audience, which, owing to the broadness and racy nature of the farce, thinned out before the curtain fell on the first act. Wm. M. West's Minstrels 8, Lewis Morrison 10, "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" 11-12.

PUTNAM'S THEATRE COMIQUE.—Opening week of 7: Carrie Turner, Laura Webb, Nellie Clark and Fannie Lyndon. Business continues good.

NOTES.—Capt. Peter Jackson, after a short illness, died at his residence in this city Nov. 3, of softening of the brain. Mr. Jackson was in his seventy eighth year and for sixty-three years was identified with the theatres here, his last position being that of head doorkeeper at the Academy of Music. The funeral, 5, was largely attended and the floral offerings were many and handsome.....Capt. W. W. Putnam, of the Theatre Comique, is visiting New York City on business and pleasure.

Norfolk.—Business at the Academy of Music for the past week was very satisfactory. "A Hired Girl," the first on the boards, drew a good house Oct. 31, though the performance was rather a disappointment. Stuart Robson, who followed Nov. 1, presenting, for the first time in this city, his play, "The Meddler," did the business of the week. At advanced prices every seat in the house was sold and standing room hard to get. The performance was thoroughly enjoyed. Booked: Wm. H. West's Minstrels 7, Lewis Morrison 8, "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" 9.

BIJOU THEATRE.—There will be no change in the bill at this house for week of 7. Business good.

ATLANTIC GARDEN.—New people week of 7: Carlisle Sisters, Whitlock and Gardner and Frank Edwards. Manager Kayton's Vaudeville Co. play Soldiers' Home 7, 8.

FRANKLIN THEATRE.—The additions for week of 7 are: Prof. Fisher and John McLaughlin. Business good.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Russell Comedy Co., which opened at this house last week, did very satisfactory business and will remain for week of 7.

THE ELKS' OPERA HOUSE, Portsmouth, this State, will be opened 7-9 with vaudeville. The following people will be seen: Jack Norworth, the Nelsons, Maude Myreling, Chas. Schlesinger, Emerson and Scharf, the Harrises, and Lester and German. The opening of this house is due to the fact that a circuit has been formed including Portsmouth, Suffolk, Newport News and Soldiers' Home. The who'e is under management of J. O. Harris and H. F. Smith.

Petersburg.—At the Academy of Music "A Hired Girl" attracted a fair sized audience Nov. 2. The performance was good. The Metropolitan Concert Co. is due 9.....At baseball Park Sipe & Blake's Dog and Pony Shows gave excellent satisfaction to large patronage Oct. 31, Nov. 1.

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven.—Although in the midst of a hot political campaign, the attractions offered last week at the several local theatres did not suffer in the least. In fact, the week was one of big business all around.

HYPERION.—The James R. Waite Comic Opera Company played a week's engagement Oct. 31-Nov. 5, to very large business, the standing room only sign being brought into requisition at nearly every performance. For the current week Mr. Bunnell has secured Sol Smith Russell, who is due 7; Burr McIntosh, in "A War Correspondent," 8; Ada Rehan, with Augustin Daly's Company, 10-12.

POLI'S WONDERLAND THEATRE.—Breathing room was at a premium here all last week and several evenings people were turned away and the doors of the theatre closed, the house being packed to its utmost capacity. This week's people: Three Sisters Merkel, Crimmins and Gore, Wells and Loretto, the Seymours, Watson and Doyle, James W. Regan, the Marinellas, Sell's Marionettes, the Dorsars.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Kittie Mitchell disappointed the management last week by not appearing, but the vacancy in the bill was immediately made good, and satisfactory business is reported. This week: Richard Harlow, Jessie, the riding baboon; Lizzie Evans, Harry Mills, Lew Bloom, Jane Cooper, Nellie Burt, Baker and Randall, Dick and Alice McAvoy, Laura Comstock, Mazziotta.

Hartford.—The week ending Nov. 5 was exceptionally good at the theatres. The strong attractions offered were appreciated and the public were on hand to enjoy.

PARSON'S THEATRE.—Robert Mantell, Nov. 3-5, delighted satisfactory houses at each performance, presenting "Monbars," "Secret Warrant" and "Face in the Moonlight." "The Girl from Paris" 2, and James O'Neill in "When Greek Meets Greek," gave the best of satisfaction to pleased audience. De Wolf Hopper, in "The Charlatan," played to the capacity of the house. The bookings include: Burr McIntosh, in "A War Correspondent," 7; Sol Smith Russell, in "Uncle Dick," 8; Madame Scalchi and Concert Co., 9; Edward Girard, in "Natural Gas," 10; Haverly's Minstrels, 11; Della Fox, in "The Little Host," 12; Waite's Comedy Co. 14 and week; "Red, White and Blue" 22; Hoyt's "A Day and a Night" 24, 25, "The Chorus Girl" 26, "The Devil's Auction" 29.

OPERA HOUSE.—Lenz Santley Burlesque Co., 3-5, came to fair business. Ernest Roeber and Crane Bros., Oct. 31-Nov. 2, gave a first class vaudeville show. James B. and Fannie Donovan will present "Dewey's Reception in McFadden's Alley," 7-9; Weber & Field's "Parisienne Widows" Co. 10-12. The paper put out by Weber & Fields is far above the average.

BURTON HOLMES is to give five Tuesday matinee lectures, commencing 21, with illustrations in colors and moving pictures, at Parsons' Theatre.

Bridgeport.—At Smith's Theatre Matt Flynn's Big Sensation, Oct. 31-Nov. 2, had excellent business. Emer Grandin's business with "The Secret Enemy," 3-5, was somewhat dampened by the election activities. "For Her Sake," with Edwin G. Lawrence, 7-9; "Side Tracked" 10-12.

PARK CITY THEATRE.—"The Heart of Maryland," 2, had good business. Fanny Rice, 3, had moderate business. James O'Neill, 5, had a monster matinee of "Monte Christo" and somewhat smaller evening of "When Greek Meets Greek." Waite's Opera Co. opens 7, for eleven performances. Horizon Athletic Club boxing carnival 14; Bridgeport Star Course opens 18, "In Old Kentucky" 19.

MANAGER SMITH, of Smith's Theatre, is about to move into his new home in the West End.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis.—At the Metropolitan Opera House Salisbury's High Class Vaudeville Co. comes Nov. 6, for four nights, and will be followed 10 by Clay Clement. On 13 the Woodward Stock Co. opens for one week. Then follows the Kelcey and Shannon Co., and the Woodward Stock will open 27 for an indefinite engagement. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" drew fine business last week.

BIJOU OPERA HOUSE.—"The Evil Eye" began a week's engagement 6. "Why Smith Left Home" will come 13. "Mulloon's Picnic" was well received last week.

PALACE MUSEUM.—For 7 and week there are: McSorley and Atwood, Harry Brady, Benington and Thompson, Running Elk, Albert Rudd, Baboon Boy, the Crocodile, the Russells, Percy and West and the stock. Business is good.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—For 7 and week: The Marion Sisters, the Welma Sisters, Stewart and Evans, Adriane, Clara Lake, Ed. Le Duc, Hazel De Mar, Nellie Houlehan, Vessie Sylvester, Pearl Blondell and May Brandon. Good attendance prevails.

St. Paul.—At the Metropolitan Opera House Charles P. Salisbury's Fashionable Vaudevilles had very good business all of week of Oct. 30, with matinees Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. Mlle. Aimee, as the human fly, was a big card. Ed. Latell, in musical oddities, made a great hit. Clay Clement comes Nov. 6-9, in "The New Dominion" and "A Southern Gentlemen." "Cuba," by local people, will be given 10. The vaudevilles play a return engagement 11, 12. Kelcey and Shannon will hold the boards the first half of the week of 13 and the Woodward Stock Co. the last half.

GRAND.—Business was very good all of last week with Charles H. Yale's "Evil Eye." For week of 6, "Why Smith Left Home," and it will doubtless draw big business. For week of 13, "The Dawn of Freedom."

OLYMPIC.—Business was large last week. For week of 7: Heffer and Starr, Coleman and Mexis, Evans and Stewart, Walker and Wilson, Smith and Earle, Wilma Sisters, Adriane, Polly O'Neil, Babe Harrington, Chas. Ellsworth, Clever Conkey, Bessie Green, Laura Arnolds and Ed. La Duc.

ELSIE DE TOURNEY opened her season at Stillwater 3, with "Joan of Arc."

Duluth.—The Lyceum will have two attractions for the week. Dorothy Lewis, in "Alone in Greater New York," Nov. 1, had a fair sized audience. Dan Sully has one night, 5, when he will appear in "Uncle Bob." Dorothy Morton Opera Co. is due 9, 10, Edwin Mayo, in "Pudd'nhead Wilson," for the first time here, 11, 12; Elsie De Tourney, in "Joan of Arc," 23; New York Stars 25.

PARLOR THEATRE.—Business continues fine. The vaudeville attractions for the week of 7 are: Helene Mignon, Frank A. and Emily Young, Hattie Wade Mack, Dan and Pearl Russell, Mamie Castle, Clarence Leonard, Foster Sisters, Wm. J. Wells and stock. The new farce for the week is called "Fry in a Box."

MANAGER MARSH, of the Grand Opera House, West Superior, says the business of this house is good.

TEXAS.—[See Page 625.]

Dallas.—At the Opera House Stuart's "1492," with Ringling Bros.' Circus as a counter attraction, Oct. 31 had a big attendance. "What Happened to Jones," Nov. 1, 2, was well received. "The White Slave," 5, and matinee. The Louis James-Kathryn Kidder-Fredrick Warde Co. is due 8, 9, "A Parlor Match" 12.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—J. Murray Smith, Swor and McGreevy, Lillian McKee, Rose B. Mitchell, the Smith Bros., Mattie Carleton, Le Arnzo and Mae, Foster Hutchins, Jack McGreevy, Julia Lillard, Lettie Colton and La Verna Moore. Business is fine.

RINGLING BROS.' CIRCUS, Oct. 31, had big attendance at both performances.

Under the Tents.

BARNUM & BAILEY'S GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH has issued its route book for the season of 1897-98, a copy of which has been sent to THE CLIPPER. It consists of a folder, covered in durable cloth, printed on paper with strong canvas backing, and is in the form of a map of that portion of the United Kingdom covered by the show during its tour, showing the stopping places and tracing the route in red lines. Accompanying the folder is a sheet, which gives many interesting facts regarding the English tour. The animals, horses, cages, circus properties and working staff sailed from New York City Nov. 12, 1897; arrived Albert Docks, London, Nov. 26. The baggage wagons, canvas, additional working staff and baggage horses sailed from New York City Feb. 25, 1898; arrived at Albert Docks, London, March 10. The Winter season opened at Olympia, London, Dec. 26, 1897; closed April 2, 1898. The road tour opened in Manchester, Eng., April 11, 1898; closes at Stoke-on-Trent, Nov. 12. Total length of London season, eighty-four days; total length of road season, one hundred and eighty-six days; total number of stands road season, seventy one; total number of performances given, five hundred and thirty; total number of performances lost (owing to weather conditions), ten; total number of miles traveled road season, two thousand nine hundred and seventy-six miles; longest run, two hundred and eight miles; shortest run, five miles. The company: Eight hundred and forty people, four hundred and twenty horses and ponies, twenty five cages wild animals, twenty elephants, eighteen camels, four zebras, seventeen led and freak animals. The city of tents: One circus tent, seating fourteen thousand eight hundred and sixty four people; one menagerie tent, one dressing room tent, one side show tent, two horse tents, two blacksmith tents, one dining tent, two refreshment tents, one wardrobe tent, one wig makers' tent, one office tent, seven lavatories. PROOF!

When I say that my very best vaudeville work goes into Madison's Budget it means a whole lot. Here is the proof: "I consider you one of the very best writers of parodies that we have."—Tony Pastor. "The work you have done for us we are entirely satisfied with."—Rogers Bros. "Your parodies are excellent; your ideas bright and good."—Press Eldridge. "Songs received; they are immense."—Jas. T. Kelly. Each issue of Madison's Budget contains six of my best and latest parodies and also a funny up to date monologue and a gilt-edge assortment of original gags, jokes and stories suitable for sketch teams, sidewalk conversationalists, end men, etc. Madison's Budget costs one dollar and the second number is now ready. (The first number is getting scarce, but is still to be had). Remember, I take all the risk of the Budget pleasing you, for if you are not entirely satisfied your money will be returned at once without a single word of argument. For further proof of the value of Madison's Budget, I refer to some of the performers who have bought it: Barney Ferguson, Tom McIntosh, Dick and Alice McAvoy, Harry Shunk, Jack Symonds, Tommy Donnelly, Alf. Gibson, Dan Allman, Oscar P. Sisson, W. J. Wells, Claude Alviene, Guy Bros., Fred P. Russell, Billy B. Devere, Christie and Delston, Frank O. French, Miller and May, Willard and Ward, the Gormans, Fred Niblo, Joe Hunt, Klein and Clifton, Rochefort and May, the Rosars, Harry Sutton, Murray and Mack, and scores of others. As a matter of fact, Madison's Budget is enjoying a tremendous boom among the best professionals, and you will be wise to send for it today.

JAMES MADISON,
134 East 79th St., New York.

IT'S A HIT. I don't claim that Madison's Monologue is the best thing I ever wrote, but at the same time any performer who wants a bright monologue with a lot of brand new jokes (and a few old ones thrown in for good measure) should send for it. Price, One Dollar, and 'money back if you want it" guarantee with every copy. JAMES MADISON,
134 East 79th St., New York.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

From the THE WASHINGTON TIMES, Sunday, Nov. 6:

The real feature of William H. West's Minstrels last week at the Academy was Ezra Kendall, who ranks as the most able monologist on the stage today, with the possible exception of Lew Dockstader. Mr. Kendall is so unique in his methods, so quaint in his character delineation and so successful as a laugh provoker, that one understands after seeing him how the word "artist" came to be used in connection with vaudeville entertainers. Were there more people of his capacity in the profession, and more of his intelligence out of it, inferior specialty work would become an impossibility.—Washington Times, Nov. 6.

I wish to publicly express my thanks to the Good Friend, Managers of Vaudeville, and also to the many Agents for their generous offers.

I shall endeavor to arrange my itinery as rapidly as possible for the best interest of all concerned.

EZRA KENDALL.

I also thank Mr James H. Decker, Manager for Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels, for the following telegram:

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 3.

EZRA KENDALL, care W. H. West's Minstrels, Academy of Music, Washington, D. C.

Chicago papers publish the story of your closing with West account of forcing you to black up. . . . Can offer you week Nov. thirteenth, Cincinnati. Answer. J. H. DECKER.

My reply may be of interest to mutual friends.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.

JAMES H. DECKER, Manager of Primrose & Dockstader, Indianapolis, Ind.

I must decline with appreciation your clever offer of an opportunity to trump the ace. Hearts are trumps and the trick is mine. I leave for home to night. Regards to the streamer.

IN THEIR NEW CHARACTER ACT,

THE SECRET.

Twenty-two Minutes of Solid Laughter. This week, Chicago Opera House.

A FEW OPINIONS.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 29, 1898.

NELSON AND MILLEDGE: I consider your act A No. 1, and it possesses more good work in it than the Glass Put In act. Wishing you every success, I am, as ever, Truly yours, TOM MARTEN, Stage Manager Tony Pastor's Theatre, New York City, N. Y.

A NEW SKETCH TRIED.—Through the courtesy of Tony Pastor, Nelson and Milledge, who were filling an engagement at his theatre last week, put aside their Glass Put In skit on Friday afternoon, and tried a new sketch, which met with much favor. Mr. Nelson impersonated a man of business and an Irish man of all work, and his partner was a society lady and a stuttering rustic. The complications are funny, and the sketch is more legitimate than the old one.—NEW YORK MIRROR.

New Plays.

"Cupid's Harvest,"

A four act comedy drama, by John Woodard, was produced for the first time on any stage Sept. 30, at the Armory, in Rutherford, N. J. The story: Silas Whittaker, an obstinate old New England farmer, discards his only daughter for marrying the man of her choice. She and her husband are killed in a railroad accident, while their little child is saved. The old farmer relents and sends for the child. The play opens with the Whittaker household anxiously awaiting the arrival of the child, its sex being unknown. Chris. Liebersthokunun, the German man of all work, brings the little one from the depot. The child's arrival discloses the fact that it is a boy about seven years of age. The old farmer loved his daughter very dearly, and of course his heart yearns for sight of her child, but he wishes no one to know of his great love for the boy. The meeting between the child and his grandfather does not take place until the close of the first act, when the boy tells the old farmer that his father named him Silas Whittaker Trenchard. This causes the old man to offer a fervent supplication to heaven for the forgiveness of the one who had robbed him of his only child. Little Silas, who is exceedingly bright for his age, becomes the pet of the household. He meets a tramp on the road and brings the wanderer home with him, introducing him to Sophronia Whittaker (sister of the old farmer) and her friend, Dr. Boardman. Little Silas questions the tramp as to his knowledge of farming and finally prevails upon Aunt Sophronia to give the stranger work. During the second act there is an amateur rehearsal of the thrilling tragedy of "The False Duke," which the quaint New Englanders are to produce for a charity festival. In the midst of the rehearsal the old farmer suddenly comes upon the scene, crazed with grief, announces that little Silas has been stolen away and accuses his nephew, Frank Moreland, with the abduction. Little Silas is next discovered at the house of Mrs. Amelia Trenchard, whither he has been brought by the tramp, who proves to be Wallace Trenchard, the twin brother of the child's dead father. The boy is traced to Mrs Trenchard's by Frank and Chris, who hear that the old lady is little Silas' greatgrandmother. They take the boy back to his grandfather. There is great joy over his return, and Cupid, aided by little Silas, reaps a harvest. Dr. Boardman, Aunt Sophronia Frank, Maggie (the doctor's niece), Chris and Patty (the Irish housemaid) all falling an easy prey to the mischievous little god of love and his able confederate The cast: Mrs. Amelia Trenchard, Mrs. W. G. Jones; Miss Sophronia Whittaker, Mrs. Mary Davis; Miss Patty O'Rourke, Lizzie Davis; Little Silas, Little Hazel Kirke Clarke; Miss Maggie Boardman, Lillian Longmore; Chris Liebersthokunun, Geo. H. Whitman; Doctor Boardman, James A. Morgan; Frank Moreland, Basil West; Mr. Tramp, Wilkin Bookstaver; Farmer Whittaker, John Woodard.

"The Sleeping City,"

A four act melodrama, was given its initial production Oct. 3, at the Eden Theatre, Paterson, N. J., by A. Q. Scammon's Co. The story: Chas. Creston is responsible for the false accusation of murder against the hero, Jack Morton, who is sent to Sing Sing. Creston, who is in love with his ward, Jack's sweetheart, discovers a plan originated by Jack's friend to effect his escape, and endeavors to prevent it. By the aid of a rope thrown from the outside Jack is enabled to reach the top of the prison wall. Then a passenger train dashes past in full view of the audience, and the hero makes a leap for liberty, lands safely on a car and is carried away by the rapidly moving train. Through more of Creston's villainy Jack Morton's brother, Lou, is confined in an insane asylum, and it is deemed expedient to put him out of the world by burning the building. Jack appears in the nick of time, and rescues his brother from the flames in a thrilling manner. In the meantime Creston has also succeeded in getting Ethel Baintree, Jack's sweetheart, in his clutches, and has her confined in an East River den. The brothers go to her rescue, and in the terrific combat which follows the meeting of Lou and Creston the latter is killed. His death removes the cause of so much unpleasantness and misery, and all ends well. Jack Morton, Rogers Barker; Lou Morton, Lester A Davis; Chas. Creston, Randolph Murray; Bill Wattles, George T. Meech; Michael Mulcahey, Jas. F. Casey; Fritz Dinkewinkle, Fred Mendoza; Sam Harris, J. B. Boardman; Dr. Grubb, Frank A. Auburne; Jim, Edward Hurdy; The Whistling Comedian, Harry F. Winsman; Foxey, E. F. Tabor; Slim, Geo. Flint; Ethel Baintree, Lazette Du Brock; Cora Creston, Florence Courtney; Widow Riley, Maggie Le Clair; Maggie Riley, Belle Gold.

"The Late Mr. Early,"

A farce comedy, in three acts, by J. M. Martin, was given its first production on any stage Oct. 15, at Waukesha, Wis., by Sharp and Flatt and company. The story: A recipe for an "elixir of love" is left by the late Mr. Early to his son, but unfortunately it falls into the hands of Baron Acres and Count Three, a couple of tramps, who are taken for a couple of eccentric noblemen traveling "incog.," and immediately received into the best society. The Baron and the Count determine to profit by the fortune which the little old note book in their possession reveals, and thereupon set up a drug store, or, rather, take possession of the one left by Mr. Early to his son, but which, like the note book with the "elixir" recipe, falls into the possession of the tramps Business is run at a fast and furious pace for a time, and in the endeavor to ascertain what the wonderful "elixir" is, everything in the store is tried on the various customers. This gives ample opportunity for some lively work, and there is no disappointment, for the company is equal to the occasion. When at last the sought for find is found, there is a climax of fun that is side splitting. Along with the "elixir of love" is a companion—an "elixir of hate." The two were used on the customers with equally ludicrous results. The Count and the Baron run business for a time, but finally confess their identity and turn over to the rightful owner the drug store and the recipe, and everything ends happily.

"Because She Loved Him So,"

A comedy, in three acts, adapted by William Gillette from the French of Bisson and Leclerq, was presented for the first time on any stage Oct. 28, at the Hyperion Theatre, New Haven, Ct., by one of Chas. Frohman's companies. The story: Oliver and Gertrude West possess everything in life that could render a young couple happy. And completely happy they would be were it not that Gertrude's uncontrollable jealousy—totally unfounded, be it said—renders their existence miserable. Her husband cannot leave her for an hour but she is tormented by doubts and suspicions as to the reason of his absence, while it is her custom to search his pockets and peruse his letters surreptitiously in order to discover proofs of his supposed guilt. Her efforts prove vain, however, until one evening she finds him, on his return from an alleged visit to the club, and with two golden hairs upon his coat. These, it may be mentioned, have been placed there by an artful little maid servant to secure for herself a night out. The design succeeds only too well. Gertrude hotly declares that she will have a divorce, and that meanwhile she will seek the protection of her parents' roof. Thither Oliver goes also, determined to give his version of the tale. The two old people, who for thirty-two years have never had even an unpleasant word together, are apprised by a friend of their daughter's coming and decide that, as a means of showing how contemptible and foolish a thing jealousy is, they will pretend to have been provoked to a deadly quarrel. Success crowns their endeavors up to a certain point. After a heated assumed wrangle the loving old couple steal back through the darkened room to indulge in a surreptitious embrace. Unluckily, old Mr. Weatherby had at one moment in his career been moved to express in rather too marked a form his sympathy for a dashing Spanish lady, and the fact being revealed to his wife the comedy threatens to turn to tragedy. Satisfactory explanations are, however, forthcoming, Gertrude's eyes are at length opened, and she promises never to offend again. The cast: Oliver West, Edwin Arden; John Weatherby, J. E. Dodson; Thomas Weatherby, Arnold Daly; Edward Marsh, Wm. Smith; Rev. Lyman Langley, Tully Marshall; Albert Pritchard, W. J. Constantine; Mr. Jackson, Charles Eldridge; Mr. Breslin, Roy Fairchild; Gertrude West, Ida Conquest; Mrs. John Weatherby, Kate Meak; Donna Adelina Gonzales, Leonora Brahan; Margaret, Margaret Fielding; Susan, Margaret Mayo; Miss Julie Langley, Edythe Skewett; Mrs. Jackson, Bijou Fernandez; Mrs. Breslin, Helen Gail.

"A Twig of Laurel,"

A drama, in four acts, by Warren Fobes, received its first production on any stage Nov. 1, at Stone Opera House, Binghamton N. Y. The story: Webb Weaver, induces Susan Garner, a table girl at Greylocks Inn, to steal silver and other small articles and to charge Jack Meredith with being the thief. Meredith's aunt, Deborah Greylock, aids the scheme. Meredith's parents' money is in the Greylock Inn property, and Deborah wishes to deprive them of it. Meredith, as is Webb Weaver, is in love with Laura Leonard, daughter of Hiram Leonard, a rich bicycle manufacturer of New York, who is stopping at Graylocks Inn. Meredith goes to New York after being driven from Greylocks. Susan Garner also goes, but neither knows that the other is in the city. The latter is protected by an old admirer, Jerry Bent, who has robbed Hiram Leonard of $15,000 in bonds. Meredith eventually finds the two, and inducing Jerry to give up the bonds, returns them to Laura's father, just in time to save the latter from ruin, by Weaver, now a partner in the business. Meredith finally consents to ride the Leonard wheel at the bicycle meet, and wins, thereby winning laurels for himself, as well as Leonard. The story closes with the attempted selling out at foreclosure sale of Greylock Inn by Weaver, who is baffled by the return of Meredith, accompanied by his Yale College chum, Frank Devere, who has become engaged to Mr. Leonard's ward, Mamie De Lamarter. Greylock Inn is saved to Silas and Deborah Greylock, the latter of whom asks forgiveness of Meredith. Jack and his sweetheart, Laura, are congratulated by their friends. Weaver is made to disgorge $25,000 he owes Meridith, and the curtain falls on a happy party. The cast: Jack Meredith, Eddie C. Bald; Frank Devere, J. Lester Wallack; Webb Weaver, W. F. Canfield; Silas Graylock, Nat F Jones; Hiram Leonard, Henry R. Dalton; Jerry Bent, Laurence Merton; Schuyler Beekman, H. B. Norman; Remson Cruger, T. Fulton; Squire Waterbury, H. B. Norman; James, Lawrence Vernon; Bob Earle, Earl Kiser; Joe Marvin, F. Freeland; Jack's Trainer, Oliver Charles; Laura Leonard, Lansing Rowan; Mamie Delamater, Edith Fassett; Deborah Graylock, Reta O'Neil; Susan Garner, Alice Irving; Margaret Beekman, Olive Brisco; Dorothy Cruger, Mabel Lambert.

"Maids to Order,"

A musical comedy, in three acts, by Dumont and Carroll, was given its first production on any stage Sept. 20, at Carbondale, Pa., by the Russell Brothers and company. The story: Brace Pharo is something of a confidence man, and he is endeavoring to bunco Buckhorn Van Pelt, who comes from Arizona. Buckhorn is searching for the son of his old partner to give him a little fortune which rightfully belongs to him. Brace has fallen in love with Buckhorn's niece, Maverick Van Pelt; and, though she is also fond of him, Buckhorn insists that she shall marry his old partner's son when he is found. Brace has told Buckhorn that he is rich, and owns a fine mansion and a splendid yacht, and when Buckhorn visits him in New York he is compelled, in order to keep up a semblance to truthfulness, to rent a house and also hire a yacht, in which the entire party, including Alphonse De Montmorency and his burlesque company and the two servant girls, Bridget Moriarty and Maggie Moriarty, whom Brace has hired. Brace has considerable trouble in paying for all these things, and is compelled to borrow quite often from his friend Buckhorn. Brace and Maverick don't want Buckhorn to find his partner's son, for that would end their little romance, and they conspire with the others to disgust him with New York and send him back to Arizona, when they can elope. Consequently many tricks are played on the Westerner, and one of Alphonse's merry burlesquers persuades him to back the show. Evenually, however, when Buckhorn is about to depart, it is discovered, by means of a birthmark, that Brace is the young man for whom Buckhorn is looking, so the young couple are assured of happiness and plenty of money. The cast: Bridget Moriarty, James Russell; Maggie Moriarty, John Russell; Brace Pharo, Wm. J. Mason; Alphonse De Montmorency, Geo. Voujere; Buckhorn Van Pelt, Chas. H. Prince; Blendon Smengea, John T. Cody; Captain Cook, Thomas Wood; Officer, James Cody; the Monk, Frank Hayes; Boatswain, Edward Baker; Tillio Phone, Gertrude Mansfield; Maverick Van Pelt, Victoria Walters; Belle Weather Brandon Annie Russell; Ida Klein, Addie Prucilla; Sallie Knight, Quenna Davis; Vera Straight, Miri Ackman: Eva Day, Lillian Heckler; Susie Bent, Ella Kerwin; Inthea Bunch, Alice Cook; Pete, Joseph Pettingill, and Zeke Dobey, Nat Haines.

"The Little Host,"

An operatic comedy, in two acts, book by Edward Smith and Louis de Lange, music by W. F. Francis and Thomas Chilvers, was given its first production on any stage Oct. 8, at the Empire Theatre, Albany, N. Y., by Della Fox and company. The story: Jack Darlington, a gay young law student, is in love with a pretty actress, Margary Dazzle. Jack is afraid his father will object to his marriage with an actress, because he is strict as to the proprieties of society, a temperance advocate and a deacon in the church. Jack has also made his father believe that he was a "goody-goody" individual, and, therefore, when the deacon arrives at his son's apartments while the son is entertaining a theatrical company, the pretty actress, in the role of the "Willy Boy" of the play, conceals her lover, acts as host, convinces the deacon that he has entered the wrong apartments, and proceeds to help him unmask his real character as "a gay dog" when unobserved and away from home. In the second act there are mutual explanations on the lawn of his country home, to which he has invited his new made friends, and the deacon confronted by indisputable evidence that he too could lead a double life, besides his son, finally consents to Jack's marriage to the actress, and all ends happily. The cast: Josiah Dashington, R. E. Graham; Jack Dashington, Hugh Chilvers; William Reilly, Eugene O'Rourke; Herr Einesang, John C. Slavin; Charles Horsley, F. C. Carter; Bob Upperton, Wilford Arling; Dodge Taylor, Frank Kelly; Fuller Boozeley, Harry Rigby; Dick Hammersley, Chas. Wallace; Mink, Jack's Valet, Diggs, H D. Blakemore; Margary Dazzle, Willie Everdrop, Della Fox; Olympia Longacre Alice Johnson; Aunt Jane Hawkins, Adella Barker; Susie Jones, Mabel Bouton; Mrs. Josiah Dashington, Emily Francis.

"A Misfit Marriage,"

A farce, in three acts, by H. A. Du Souchet, was given its first production on any stage Oct. 3, at the Columbia Theatre, Washington, D. C., by Smyth & Rice's Co, The story: Jules Barton is to be married by Judge Beamish Potter in the latter's court room. On the night previous Barton, after a farewell bachelor supper, quarrels with an unknown adversary, the latter proving later to be Judge Potter. In the court room on the wedding day Barton, who is an arrant coward, recognizes in Judge Potter his adversary. The recognition, however, is not mutual, Judge Potter believing the man with whom he quarrelled to be Henry Daubigny, a celebrated French duelist, who was being lionized by society, Barton having assumed the Frenchman's name after the quarrel with the judge Previous to the coming of the bridal party to the court room the judge's drunken clerk had entered the names of the contracting parties on the record, but blunders by inserting the name of the bride's mother, Madame Augustine Dupont. In the excitement attendant upon the ceremony due to Barton's efforts to conceal his identity from the judge, the error in the record is not discovered until the judge has pronounced Jules Barton and Augustine Dupont man and wife. The tying and untying of the misfit marriage is the basis of the work. The cast: Jules Barton, Max Figman; Judge Beamish Potter, Clayton White; Dr. Peter Butler, Frank N. Kendrick; Charley Ten Eyck, A. J. Edwardes; Capt. Zebediah Dupont, Henry Herman; James Topper, Malcolm Bradley; Billy Crandall, Thomas Maguire; Madame Augustine Dupont, Ina Hammer; Viola Marquand, Meta Maynard; Georgina Potter, Katherine Mulkins; Felicia Crawford, Ann Warrington; Connie O'Leary, Millie James.

"Worth a Million,"

A comedy, in four acts, by Eugene Presbrey, was given its first production on any stage Oct. 22, at the Alvin Theatre, Pittsburg, Pa., by Wm. H. Crane and company. The story: John Gregg has been imprisoned for fifteen years for a crime committed by his brother, who, as a partial recompense, leaves a legacy of $100,000 to John's daughter Phyills, then a child. Col. Armory West, a retired millionaire, is her guardian, and places her in the family of Jasper Sharp, a New York banker, with whom he is in partnership. The Sharps try to marry her to their son Frank, a clerk in the bank aforesaid, and to marry their daughter Nina, who is in love with Stanley Howell, to Jack Thornton, who is in love with Phyllis Gregg. On the wedding day of Frank and Phyllis, it is discovered that her fortune of $100,000 in bonds has been stolen from the vaults of West & Sharp's bank, and John Gregg, who, after being released from prison, became a clerk there, is suspected of the theft. He proves privately to West, however, that Frank Sharp is the real thief. West contrives to save the reputation of both Frank and Gregg by recovering the bonds, and declaring that he took them from the bank himself to present them to Phyllis on her wedding day. The wedding of Frank and Phyllis is declared off, and that young woman takes up with Jack Thornton instead, while Nina Sharp pairs off with Stanley Howell, and Col. West with Mrs. Swift, a grass widow, whom he had loved in his youth, and all ends happily. The cast: Colonel Amory West, Mr. Crane; Jack Thorton, Walter Hale; Stanley Howell, Boyd Putnam; Jasper Sharp, George F. De Vere; Frank Sharp, Frederick Truesdell; John Gregg, William Boag; Bank Messenger, Will Dupont; Chen Yen, Chinese Boy; Nina Sharp, Percy Haswell; Phyllis Gregg, Gladys Wallis; Mrs. Sharp, Kate Lester; Mrs. Swift, Olive Oliver.

A New Playhouse.

The New Tulane Theatre, New Orleans, La., was dedicated Oct. 17 by Nat C. Goodwin and company. This new amusement resort, with its sister house, the recently opened Crescent, is located on the site of the old Tulane College property, Baronne and Common Streets, both houses having been built by the Klaw & Erlanger Company. The Crescent was finished first because that, being built for a popular priced admission theatre, was booked to be opened sooner. Both theatres are modeled on the same general plans of architecture to secure perfection in acoustics, and to arrange the lines of sight so that a good view of the stage can be had from every seat in the house, and both theatres have, in common, all the modern improvements, stage appliances and electric lighting that can be found in the newest and best theatres in the country. The Tulane is modeled after the Knickeroocker Theatre in New York. The front is of pressed cream-colored brick. Two large lamps for electric lights, hung by wrought iron fixtures, light the way up marble steps into a mosaic paved vestibule and into the green carpeted lobby, where marble pillars and bronzed posts give an idea of the strength and richness of the structure. On the left of the entrance is the ticket office and the office of the manager. On the right are smoking rooms and toilet rooms for gentlemen. On the same side, with an entrance from the auditorium, are cloak rooms and retiring rooms for ladies, furnished and finished in luxurious modern style. The house seats 1,500 people comfortably. The chairs are of dark cherry color, with olive colored leather upholstery. The general style of finish in the theatre, around the families, boxes and proscenium, is that of Louis XV. Its decorative color is light sage green, shaded with light blue, with gold colored ornaments, all beautifully blended in effect, with nowhere a loud color, or one inharmonious with the whole or offensive to good taste. The boxes, six on each side of the stage, are beautiful in design and ornamentation, and pale blue drapery hangs gracefully above the openings. The procenium arch seems to be supported by corinthian columns, about which vines are deftly twined by the painter's art, and wreathes have place. Above are chariots, driven recklessly over cloud roads freighted with fair women in negligee costumes, and angels are seen in the distance, little fellows playing on heavenly instruments, making the theatre seem like fairy land. The curtain for the Tulane is handsome. Its subject is "Psyche at the Feet of Venus." This picture occupies the centre of the curtain, as if in a frame, while on either side, standing like sentinels, are tall female figures of "Comedy" and "Tragedy." The curves of the gallery and balcony frontings are particularly graceful, with an occasional sub curve projecting to break the monotony, and making desirable loges for chairs. The house is lighted with electricity and has all of the improvements found in a modern theatre, both in front of the house and on the stage.

The Empire Theatre,

Buffalo, N. Y., was opened Oct. 24. It occupies the ground floor of the building for many years used by the Flint & Kent dry goods house, on Main Street, between Swan and Seneca. It extends back to Washington Street and has a depth of 226ft. The stage is 26ft. from wall to wall, with a proscenium opening of 19ft. The entrance proper is through a large arch extending across the whole front of the building, and this is brightly lighted by many electric lights. The woodwork of this entrance is painted in green, the walls a bright red, making a pleasing contrast. The ceiling is decorated in light colors. Over the entrance is the name, "The Empire Theatre," each of the letters being made of tiny red electric lights. The lobby is very roomy and beautiful. It is connected with both the entrance and the body of the theatre by wide doors, and the effect of its decorations is more subdued. The woodwork is in white and gold. plate glass mirrors on both sides, above the wainscotting, walls tinted in a light mauve and ceiling frescoed. A large number of framed pictures have been tastefully hung. The auditorium, which is similarly decorated to the lobby, will seat five hundred people, and is divided into sections "A," "B" and "C," representing the prices of ten, twenty and thirty cents, respectively. Continuous performances are given, and the patronage of ladies and children will be especially courted. Mitchell H. Mark, who so successfully conducted Vitascope Hall, in the Ellicott Square, is the promoter and manager of this dainty new house, and Jule Delmar, the manager of the Celoron Amusement Co., at Jamestown, N. Y. (Lake Chautauqua), is attending to the booking and press work. A generous equipment of scenery has been provided, the work of M. Armbuster, of Columbus, O. Charles Schlessinger presides at the piano. The opening bill was: The Sannacks, Maud Beall Price, Clements and Marshall, with Pickaninny Sunshine; John R. Harty, the McAvoys (Hogan Alley Kids), Judge (ladder performer), Hart Brothers, and the lifeograph pictures.

A TOUCHING STORY.

"Many a time have I faced the enemy bravely, their balls flying toward me and carrying everything before them, but I boldly held my position and returned them as good as they gave," exclaimed the veteran the other evening at the hotel bar before a host of admirers.

"That man must have fought in the Civil War," said Sim Pill to his friend, Noe Aull.

"Rather guess not," answered Noe Aull, "he sets up the ten pins in a bowling alley."

HOUSTON, TEX.,

Is the only Vaudeville Theatre in the city that keeps its doors open the whole year round (Sundays excepted). That does not close its doors and change hands six months out of the twelve and throw the performers out on the cold charity of the public; that plays nightly to crowded houses as the weekly reports to THE CLIPPER show, and that the ghost never fails to walk, as any performer who ever worked for us will truthfully tell you, and the house that is always open to good performers with good acts and at good salaries and long engagements.
No, we are not in the circuit, and you don't have to eat up your salary weekly in incessant railroad fares and jumps by working for us. It's a long stay with us if you are good.

WANTED, 20 Ballet and Extra Ladies. WANTED, Performers in All Branches.

Address BLANCHE LEA, Sole Proprietress New Palace Theatre, Houston, Tex.
